MAN AT HOUSE OF DEATH DAY WOMAN WAS SENT THERE

Woman Next Door to 2307 Locust Saw Him Examining Entrance to Cellar—Told Her He Wished to Rent Shed, Which He Hadn't Inspected.

GIVES POST-DISPATCH DESCRIPTION OF MAN

Clerk in Coliseum Drug Store Tells of Man Who Used Phone Excitedly, Saying "I Have Hired Her," Then Walked South.

Two developments in the Locust street murder mystery in which Miss Bridget Calnan was strangled to death, came to light Tuesday when a woman, located by a Post-Dispatch reporter, told about a mysterious man whom she saw prowling about the house at 2307 Locust street almost at the hour when Miss Calnan was lured there, and when a clerk in a drug store at Jefferson and Washington avenues, two blocks away, recalled that a man telephoned from there the same morning.

This message is believed by the police to have been one of the three sent to the Young Women's Christian Association employment bureau by the "Mr. Allen" who had Miss Calnan sent to the house.

Saw Prowler at House.

Miss Ethel Prather is the proprietor of the rooming house at 2309 Locust street, next door west of the house where the crime was committed. She told the reporter that she had thus far kept silent because no member of the Police Department had questioned her since the murdered woman's body was found.

Monday, the day before the Veiled Prophet's parade, she says, she saw a man prowling about the house next door. This was the day on which Miss Calnan was lured from the employment office.

Between 9 and 10 o'clock in the morning, Miss Prather says, she looked from a window and saw the man in the yard. He seemed to be closely inspecting the house at 2307.

More Than 6 Feet Tall.

Miss Prather was busy with her household duties. Three times at intervals of about ten minutes she looked through the window and saw the man. Once he seemed to be inspecting the rear cellar door. She says the man was more than six feet tall and powerfully built.

The feature that most impressed her was his large hooked nose. She thinks he had a brown mustache. He wore a dark suit and a black soft hat.

Miss Prather stepped into the yard. When the man saw her he walked to the fence separating the yards and said to her:

"I want to rent that shed."

Miss Prather says that up to that time he apparently had not looked at the shed. She told him he would have to see the agent. She then went into the house and did not see the man again.

Heard Man Telephone.

Leon W. Feldes, clerk in the Coliseum drug store, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that about three weeks ago a man hurriedly entered the drug store, which is only two blocks from the place of the murder, and asked permission to use the Bell telephone.

Feldes does not remember what number the man called, but heard him say: "She is engaged," or "I have engaged her." He recalls this distinctly, he says, because when he heard it the thought passed through his mind that somebody had got a job.

Man About 40 Years Old.

The clerk does not remember anything about the man's appearance.

"From his energy and apparent vigor when he entered the store I should judge he was about 40 years old," said Feldes. "If there had been anything unusual about his appearance I think I would have noticed it. I presume he wore dark clothing and was of medium height. If he had worn light clothing or had been unusually short or uncommonly tall I think his appearance would have made a more lasting impression on me."

Met by Man After Phoning.

Feldes at first said he did not recall which way the man walked when he left the store. Later he said that he had an indistinct recollection that after telephoning the man was met by another man on the corner, and that the two walked south on Jefferson avenue toward Locust street and in the direction a person would naturally go to reach the house where the woman was murdered.

The time when the man sent the telephone message tallies closely with the time when the Y. W. C. A. employment bureau, at about 10 a. m. on October 7, received the message from the mysterious "Mr. Allen" that he had engaged Miss Calnan to work for him.

Feldes says he is quite sure the other two telephone messages to the employment bureau earlier in the morning did not originate in the Coliseum drug store as he would have remembered it if the same man had used the telephone three times in less than two hours.

Always Used Bell Phone.

Each time the mysterious "Mr. Allen" called the employment bureau he used

All balcony and gallery seats free without reservation. Hall seats 10,000.

WASHINGTON AND JEFFERSON AVENUES, in front of Coliseum—Bulletins and moving pictures, same as within the Coliseum, for overflow crowd.

BROADWAY, BETWEEN OLIVE AND PINE STREETS, in front of Post-Dispatch office—Bulletins and moving pictures.

EAST ST. LOUIS, ARCADE BUILDING—Bulletins and moving pictures.

PUBLIC TO HEAR RESULTS OF ELECTION AT COLISEUM

Post-Dispatch Issues Invitation and Arranges to Have Moving Pictures and Program by the United States Marine Band.

The Post-Dispatch, in carrying out its plan to give the public the promptest and most complete bulletin service on election night, Nov. 5, has arranged for a grand free concert by the United States Marine Band at the Coliseum.

No tickets will be required for admission to the Coliseum, where election returns will be given throughout the evening, and where the band, one of the world's most famous musical organizations, will play for two hours and a half. Moving pictures also will be shown.

Admission to the balcony and gallery will be free, beginning at 7 p. m., at the Washington avenue main entrance. Admission to the arena, or main floor, will also be free, but preference will be given to women with escorts. This preference will not be carried to the point of holding arena seats after other parts of the house have been filled.

The boxes will be reserved for public officials, party committeemen and invited clergymen and educators.

Free Concert for Young People.

The announcement of the free concert, moving picture show and election news display, was greeted Monday by Post-Dispatch readers, and by none more enthusiastically than the thousands of high school, seventh and eighth grade pupils, for whom a free matinee concert by the Marine Band has been especially provided. This concert will begin at 4 p. m. Tuesday.

At this matinee the pupils of the St. Louis high schools, public and parochial, and of the seventh and eighth grammar grades of public and parochial schools, with their teachers, will be guests of the Post-Dispatch at the Coliseum.

It has been found necessary to limit the attendance to these higher grades, as the street cars could not carry, and the Coliseum could not contain all the city's school children.

The Post-Dispatch, seeking several weeks ago to charter the Coliseum for a display of election bulletins, learned that the United States Marine Band, now on a concert tour of the United States, had engaged the hall for an election night concert. The Post-Dispatch then decided to take over the concert for the free enjoyment of the public. It also took over the matinee performance as a treat to the higher grade school pupils.

Those who do not get into the Coliseum—for the police will not permit overcrowding—can see the same bulletins and moving pictures outdoors in front of the Coliseum. Bulletins and moving pictures also will be shown in front of the Post-Dispatch office on Broadway, and at the Arcade Building, East St. Louis.

The United States Marine Band consists of 60 pieces, and is known as the "President's Own." It plays in inaugural parades, at the most important White House functions, and on the White House lawn and the Capitol grounds on certain afternoons in summer. The band last was heard in St Louis at the "official" opening of the World's Fair in 1903, a year before the fair actually was opened to the public.

DISLIKES TO PASS UNDERTAKING SHOP; BROTHER UNBURIED

Frank McEwen Will Ask Order for Interment After Long Delay by Widow.

Because he finds it distasteful to pass daily the Olive street undertaking establishment in which his brother's body lies unburied, A. Frank McEwen of [illegible]A Waterman avenue, will probably ask the Board of Health to issue an order for the burial. His brother, E. H. McEwen of 4059 Morgan street, is in sympathy with him in his efforts to bring about the burial, which has been delayed for four months by their sister-in-law.

Mrs. Nellie Bromwell McEwen, widow of their brother, Ralph McEwen, is visiting in Buffalo. She is said to be uncertain as to her future place of residence, and to be delaying the burial for that reason, that she may have the body near her wherever she decides to locate.

It is not uncommon, undertakers say, for bodies to be held for several months in this manner.

The brothers have not been on cordial terms with Mrs. Ralph McEwen for several years. She and her husband lived in the Euclid Terrace Apartments, Euclid avenue and Suburban tracks.

Last June Ralph McEwen and his wife went to Denver, and he died there of cirrhosis of the liver. Mrs. McEwen brought the body here, and E. H. McEwen met his sister-in-law at the Marquette Hotel and asked that she notify him and his brother as to the time of the funeral. She said she would do so, but that as she had some affairs to settle, and wished to buy a cemetery lot, she might delay the burial a short time.

McEwen did not object to this at the time, but he and his brother now say they intend to see what can be done to bring about an early burial.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

BOY, 3, KILLED BY CAR AS HE HUNTS MOTHER IN DARK

East St. Louis Lad Eludes Cousin, Ventures Forth, Then Is Struck as He Turns Back.

When Mrs. Rose Laws returned to her home at 710 North Sixth street, East St. Louis, late Monday night, from a theater, she learned that her 3-year-old son, Aubrey, had been run over by a street car in her absence and had died at St. Mary's Hospital, where both legs had been amputated in an effort to save his life.

Mrs. Laws, who is separated from her husband, left the child in the care of Geneva Hendricks, his 8-year-old cousin, who lives in the same house. When it was time for him to be put to bed the boy's yearning for his mother became so strong that, when his cousin was not watching, he slipped out of the house and started out to find her.

He had crossed the street when the darkness appalled him and he started back home. An Edwardsville car was approaching. The child ran on the track. The motorman did not see him until it was too late to avoid running over him. The car knocked him down and the wheels passed over both legs.

The crew, aided by firemen of No. 2 Engine House, who had seen the accident, took the boy from under the car. As a firemen held him in his arms, the child called for his mother and then became unconscious. He was put in a Fire Department buggy and hurried to the hospital.

BOYS BURN BRIDGE, HOLD UP A TRAIN, FLEE WITH BOOTY

They Detach Cars, Take Them Across Blazing Trestle, Get Several Thousand Dollars.

PURSUED BY FOUR POSSES

Robbers Have No Trouble Stopping "Katy" Train After Setting Fire to Trestle.

By Associated Press.

MUSKOGEE, Ok., Oct. 29.—Three youthful robbers held up a southbound Missouri, Kansas & Texas train south of Eufaula today, compelled the engineer to detach the express and baggage cars, and then run them ahead, and then blew up and rifled the express safe. Company officials believe the robbers got several thousand dollars.

By setting fire to a trestle near Wirth, the bandits had no trouble in flagging the train.

Although the flames threatened to destroy the trestle before their work was accomplished, the robbers moved deliberately. Covering the engineer and fireman with their revolvers, they ordered them from the cab. J. A. Dolan, the conductor, leaped from a coach and was lined up beside the enginemen. A porter also fell a victim to his curiosity and was made to stand beside the conductor.

While one robber held the line of employes, the other two uncoupled the engine, baggage and express car from the coaches and forced the trainmen into the cab and ordered the engineer to open the throttle. The engine, pulling the two cars, shot across the burning bridge. What remained of the structure fell into the water a short time after the cars had passed.

Robbers Escape to the Woods.

Half a mile on the other side of the bridge the bandits ordered the engineer to stop. The safe in the express car was dynamited and the robbers fled to the woods with their plunder.

Posses were sent immediately from Crowder and Eufaula. Other pursuers started an hour later on special trains from McAlester and Muskogee.

According to the descriptions given, each of the bandits was less than 25 years old.

Two Armfulls of Greenbacks.

One of the trainmen says he saw one of the robbers twice make trips from the express safe, each time with his arms full of sealed packages of currency. Pursuers found the outer wrapper of one of these packages which had contained $3500, consigned by the Southwestern National Bank of Commerce of Kansas City to the National Bank of Greenville, Texas.

One of the robbers made Conductor J. A. Dolan turn over his papers and purse, which contained $10. Later the money was turned back to the conductr with the assurance: "We don't wish to harm any of you train boys."

SCARLET FEVER FOUND; SCHOOL IS FUMIGATED

Dozier Teacher Discovers Pupil With Light Case and Classes Are Dismissed for Afternoon.

Discovery of a mild case of scarlet fever at the Dozier school, Goodfellow and Maple avenues, Monday caused the school to be closed for fumigation in the afternoon. It was reopened Tuesday morning with a normal attendance.

Osborn Cutter, 10 years old, son of George F. Cutter, 6146 Kingsbury avenue, was the fever patient. The child had not been feeling well for several days, but did not appear sick enough to remain away from school. A teacher noticed a slight irruption on his face about noon and called attention to it.

He was sent home and a doctor diagnosed his illness as a light form of scarlet fever. The school was dismissed about 1:30. Dr. James Stewart, superintendent of hygiene, notified the Board of Health.

The rooms were closed tightly, all desks, closets and books were left open, and the building was filled with the fumigation gases. After five hours the windows were opened and fans started. They were kept running all night. By the time for school to reopen the building was again warm and the air was free of any taint of gases.

DETAILS MORGAN ROBBERY

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—John Bernauer, the youthful Bavarian who robbed the residences of J. P. Morgan Jr. and other wealthy persons of thousands of dollars' worth of jewelry, related in court the story of his burglaries, declaring he was under the hypnotic spell of an old "pal."

Bernauer was sentenced to from five to ten years in Sing Sing prison. He boasted in court of how he stole into the very room where Morgan was asleep, and ransacked the financier's dresser.

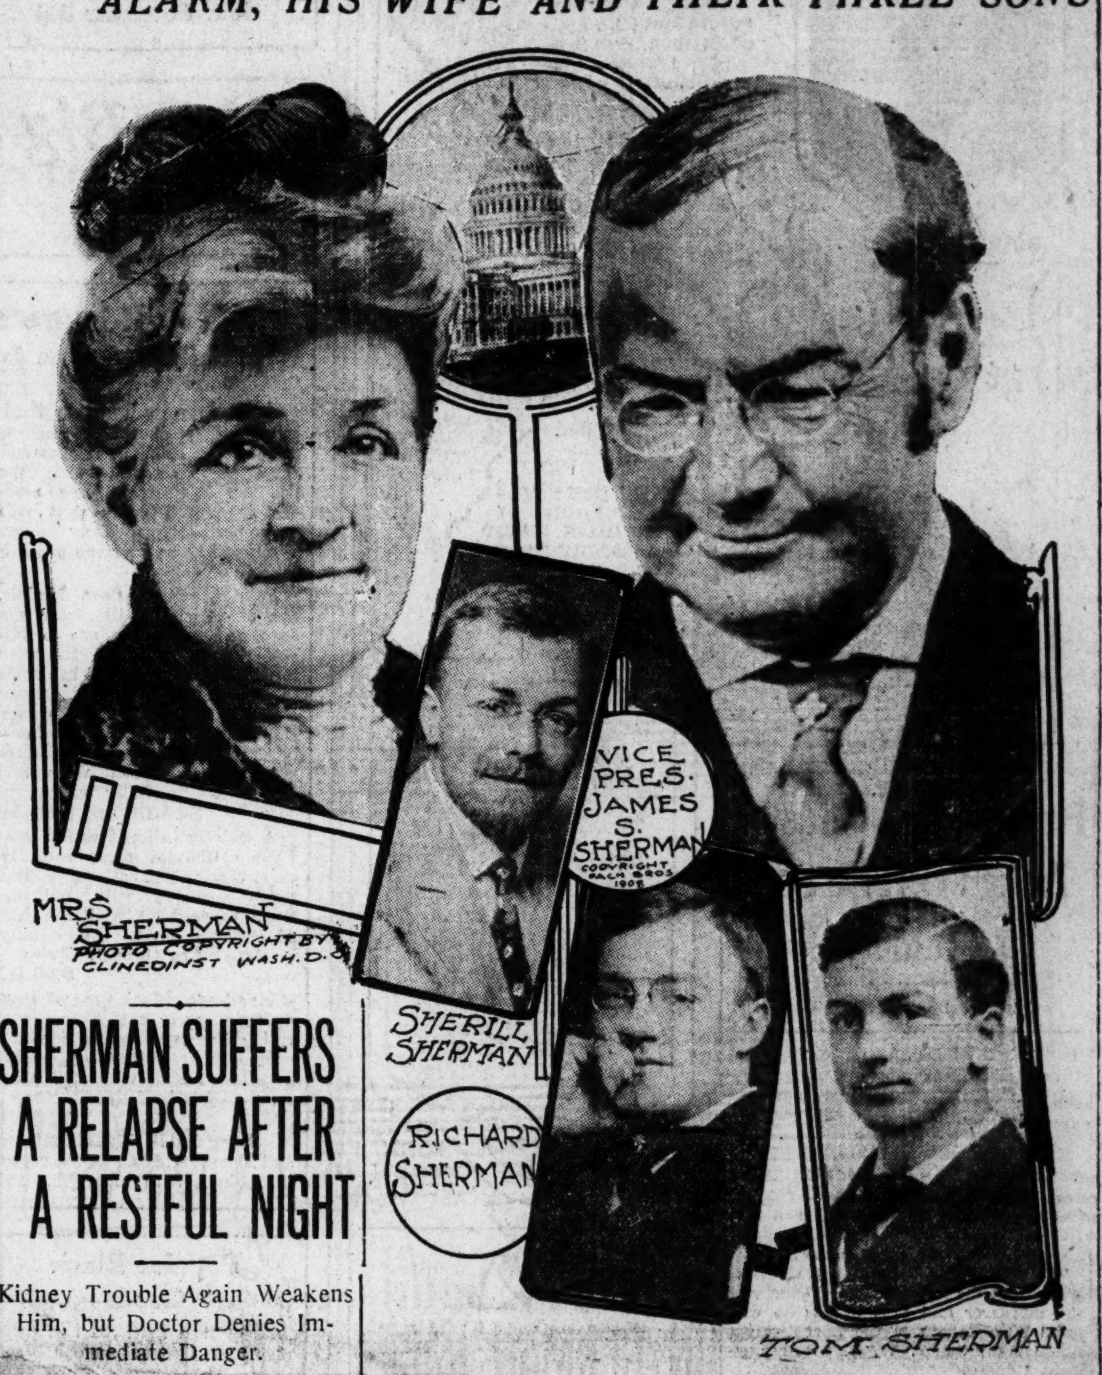
VICE-PRESIDENT WHOSE ILLNESS CAUSES ALARM, HIS WIFE AND THEIR THREE SONS



SHERMAN SUFFERS A RELAPSE AFTER A RESTFUL NIGHT

Kidney Trouble Again Weakens Him, but Doctor Denies Immediate Danger.

UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 29.—After a restful night and a generally improved condition, which continued well into the forenoon, Vice-President Sherman this afternoon suffered a recurrence of the distressing conditions which marked his case yesterday.

Dr. Peck, Mr. Sherman's attending physician, just after he had left the house today, was hurriedly recalled. He found the Vice-President again suffering from an aggravation of his kidney trouble and remained with him for two hours.

When he left he admitted the extremely critical condition of Mr. Sherman, but he gave assurance to the family that there was no danger of a serious termination in the immediate future.

The Vice-President passed a restful night, and Dr. Peck stated this morning that his patient was in better condition that he had been at any other time in the last four days. He could not say that the critical danger had passed, or give any assurance as to what might follow in the case of one so weakened by, and suffering with the complications surrounding the Vice-President. However, he felt some encouragement.

"The Vice-President may live a day, a week or a year," declared one friend, who has been in attendance at the bedside.

Dr. Peck admitted that his distinguished patient has entered the shadow, although he is now quite comfortable. He has been suffering from a heart affection, a softening of the muscles of the organ. Besides that, he has been afflicted with hardening of the arteries, a complaint of the kidneys and a severe attack of gall stones.

Must Delay Operation.

An immediate operation for the latter ailment is necessary, his physicians say, but the Vice-President's condition will not permit the using of the knife at this time.

"Mr. Sherman has been very sick all summer," Dr. Peck said, "and about four days ago he suffered a relapse. Mr. Sherman had an attack in the Adirondacks at Big Moose in June, and I expected him to die. He got out of Big Moose safely and improved steadily and very satisfactorily, until the latter part of August. Since then his condition has been aggravated and he has been steadily failing.

"For the last three weeks, since he came back from Connecticut, where he went to rest, he has been dressed only once, and that was a week ago Friday, when, against my protest, he went out to the polls to register.

"Mr. Sherman is now in the condition which that sort of trouble leads to and is very seriously ill, but there is, I believe, no immediate danger of death."

Text of Morning Bulletin.

The early morning bulletin from the Vice-President's bedside read:

"From midnight until about 5:30 o'clock Mr. Sherman had a quiet, undisturbed sleep. He is now resting quietly and feeling very much better; in fact; is physically and mentally much improved.

"The serious symptoms of the last few days have disappeared and the patient now is very comfortable."

The legitimate PAID circulation of the Post-Dispatch in St. Louis and its suburbs is greater than that of ALL other English Dailies COMBINED.

To Fill Sherman's Place Would Be a Problem

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.

THE illness of Vice-President Sherman and speculation over the possibilities of his withdrawal from the Republican ticket because of the precarious condition of his health, aroused discussion here today over the probable methods of filling his place. The general opinion expressed was that the Republican National Committee or the Executive Committee possessed power to fill a vacancy upon the ticket.

Should a vacancy occur on the Republican ticket, either before or after election, some Republican leaders here today argued the electors would have power to vote for any candidate for Vice-President they might choose. Precedents were admitted to be lacking, but it was declared that only party discipline and honor had in the past bound electors to vote for their party nominees. No one suggested, however, that a choice by the Republican National Committee or its Executive Committee would fail to receive the support of the Taft electors.

Ordinarily, should there be no Vice-President, the President pro tem of the Senate would preside over that body and the line of succession to the presidency would be to the Secretary of State. For the last several months, however, the present Senate has been unable to agree on a President pro tem and that office has been vacant.

ABDUL HAMID JUST SITS BACK AND SAYS: "I SHOULD WORRY."
OCT 29TH 12

Something appeared to go wrong in the official forecasts for Tuesday. According to earlier predictions, a rainstorm was headed this way and was scheduled to break over St. Louis Tuesday afternoon or Wednesday.

A revised prediction later sent out is that the weather for the next 36 hours will be fair, with lower temperature. Frost and fair weather are predicted for most of Missouri and Illinois.

Official forecast for St. Louis and vicinity: Fair tonight and Wednesday; cooler tonight.

Missouri—Fair tonight and Wednesday; cooler tonight, with probably frost.

Illinois—Generally fair and cooler tonight and Wednesday.

FOPPISH BURGLAR, HUNGRY, CAUGHT IN GROCERY AT 2 A. M.

Night Police Clerk at Page Station Captures Robber, Neatly Dressed and Gloved.

John J. Burke, night clerk in the Page Boulevard Police Station, was sent out to catch a burglar at 2:25 a. m. Tuesday, there being no patrolman available at the moment. He caught the burglar.

The burglar, whom Burke found crouching behind sacks of flour in Conrad's grocery at 1121 Union boulevard, was Paul Lemke, a bartender, two weeks out of work and hungry. He said, when he was fed at the station later, that it was his first meal since Sunday morning.

He said he called on Pauline Tulman, a cook, at her place of employment, 5081 Raymond avenue, Monday night, and that he sat starving near the pantry door, being too proud to tell her that he needed food.

Sergeant Takes Clerk.

A telephone message received at the station in what is usually the quietest hour of the 24, gave the information that a burglar had been seen entering the Conrad store.

Sergt. Gibbons started out, but there was no patrolman to go with him, and he drafted Night Clerk Burke, who was more than willing to go.

Gibbons took his stand at the front door of the store, and sent Burke to the rear. The clerk saw a barrel under the transom and, standing on it, found that the padlock holding the bars over the transom had been forced. He pushed the bars back, pulle[illegible]self up and slipped through the transom. Lighting on his feet inside the store, he struck a match and turned on an electric light.

There was his man, vainly trying to hide behind the flour sacks a few feet away. Burke jerked out his revolver and leveled it at the man, and a minute later had him at the front door. Opening the door from within, he turned his prisoner over to the waiting sergeant.

Lemke wore a blue suit of good quality and stylish cut, a clean collar and necktie of good quality, and had a kid glove on one hand, while its mate was in the pocket of his slip-on raincoat.

"Why didn't you pawn your good clothes?" he was asked, when he told his tale of hunger.

"These aren't my best clothes," he replied. "I have pawned my best ones."

His last place of employment, he said, was a saloon at Laclede and Ewing avenues. There, he said, he had to work 12 hours a day for $12 a week, and he quit because he felt he could not stand the work any longer, but had since been unable to get anything better. He roomed at 1422 H[illegible]kory street. He had [illegible] cents in [illegible] pocket.

HEIRESS ELOPES WITH A CONDUCTOR; ROBBED AND SLAIN

Fiance Returns to Chicago Rooming House and Finds Body in Apartment of Missing Actor and Wife Whom He Befriended.

Baltimore Girl Is Killed on Eve of Wedding With Iron Doorknob "Billy" Which Diver Had Displayed.

Vaudeville Performers, Companions of Victim, and Her Valuables Disappear After the Crime.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Miss Sophie G. Singer, Baltimore heiress, who eloped early this month with a street car conductor, was robbed and murdered early today in a rooming house at 3229 Indiana avenue. William R. Worthen, the Baltimore conductor, who says he was to have married Miss Singer tomorrow, discovered the body when he returned to the rooming house after midnight. Several hundred dollars in cash and jewelry belonging to the heiress were missing, and an actor and his wife who occupied a suite in the house with Worthen and his fiancee had disappeared.

Miss Singer had been bound and gagged and struck with terrific force with a "billy," made of an iron door knob wrapped in a handkerchief, which the actor, Charles D. Conway, often had displayed. Her body was [illegible] a blanket on the bed in the roo[illegible]cupied by Conway and his wife, [illegible] as Beatrice Riall and May Mon[illegible]

The Conways, vaudeville perfo[illegible] had been in the house during the [illegible]ing. With the discovery of the c[illegible] the police immediately began a wide search for them. Conway is a high diver, whose right leg has been amputated below the knee.

New Garments in Her Trunk.

The police searched Miss Singer's trunks and in adjoining rooms looked through the effects of Worthen. In the girl's trunks were some new garments, which, the fiance said, were to have been part of her wedding costume.

Worthen threw himself on his bed and sobbed when he was shown the garments.

"She did not want me to leave her alone last night," he said, "but I had some matters to be looked after and I wanted to have them out of the way so nothing need interrupt our honeymoon.

"I can't go back to Baltimore now. This may kill her mother and it surely will break my father's heart. He knew and admired Sophia. We were going back right after the wedding Wednesday."

Actors Got Couple to Move.

According to Worthen, Miss Singer was an acquaintance of Mrs. Conway, who was known to her as Miss Riall, and it was through the latter's invitation that he and his sweetheart went to room at the same house. The four moved into the rooms where the murder was committed only yesterday. They had previously lived a few blocks further north on the same street. Worthen told the police he had paid the expenses of the Conways as well as those of himself and Miss Singer at the rooming house since joining them.

Worthen, who was held by the police, declared that before leaving the house last night he handed his fiancee $48 in the presence of the Conways and then went down town. It was after midnight when he returned to the house and found the hallway in disorder. He aroused others in the house by reapeated pounding on the door leading to the Conway room after finding that Miss Singer was not in her apartment.

A key finally was furnished by Mrs. Julia McCarthy, keeper of the house and the door was opened. A crime was apparent. The money he had given the woman was missing as well as several articles of jewelry, revealing robbery as a probable motive for the murder.

Door Knob Used as "Billy."

A stained trail led to the kitchen which the four had the use of and there the table and floor bore evidence of crime. A door knob with the piece of iron attached for a knob on the other end, lay on the floor wrapped in a stained handkerchief and with a leather shoe string attached to it in loop fashion, making a "billy" of it. Worthen said Conway once had exhibited the bludgeon to Miss Singer with the remark: "This is what I knock 'em out with."

According to Worthen's story he met Miss Singer in Baltimore several months ago while he was employed there with a street car company. He said her mother was in comfortable circumstances and that when he decided to come to Chicago she expressed a desire to accompany him and he allowed her to do so. He told the police he had spent most of his life while in Maryland near Baltimore with his father, who still resides there. He is 38 years old. Worthen was held pending the [illegible]

BODY OF MAN IN AN AUTO PARTY IN RIVER; 4 HUNTED

Contractor, Who Started for Omaha With Two Men and Two Women, Drowned.

By Associated Press.

SIOUX CITY, Io., Oct. 29.—Positive identification today of a body found in the Missouri River Saturday near Winnebago, Neb., as that of George Miller, a contractor of this city, started an investigation by authorities here of a report that an automobile party of five had perished in the river.

Miller, with Bertha Holbrook of Sioux City; Frank Stamper of Danbury, Io.; Ida Hall of Omaha and Louis Matwig of Danbury, Io., left here for Omaha in Matwig's automobile Oct. 1. Investigation by authorities today elicited no information as to the whereabouts of the other four members of the party.

Party Missing Since Oct. 1.

The entire party had been missing since Oct. 1, officials said. Detectives in Sioux City and Omaha have been unable to find any trace of Miller's four companions. Money and valuables found on Miller's body was believed to preclude a theory of robbery.

Authorities along the Missouri River downstream from Sioux City have been asked to keep a lookout for other bodies and the automobile.

Mrs. Helen Jones, sister of the missing Hall woman, is on her way here from Omaha today. She had expected to meet the Miller party at Omaha. She came to Sioux City a week ago in search of her sister, after becoming worried when letters mailed to her sister a month previously remained unanswered. She enlisted the aid of the police in the search at that time, but no clew could be found and she returned to Omaha.

"The last letter Helen got from her sister was over a month ago," said Miss Gilmore, a friend of Mrs. Jones. "In that letter she stated that she had married Frank Stamper and to send her letters to 215 Sixth street, Sioux City. When we came here we found the letters, which had never been opened."

Thinks All Were Drowned.

W. E. Holmes of Sioux City, who identified Miller's body, said:

"My theory is that the entire party was drowned. I could not see any signs of violence on Miller's body. There was a slight wound on the right hand, which probably was caused by brush in the river. Bertha Holbrook's pocketbook was found in Miller's possession. They had about an equal amount. The money in the two pocketbooks had not been touched."

SLAIN WOMAN INHERITED $30,000

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29.—Sophia G. Singer was the daughter of the late Frank O. Singer of this city and her family is well connected here. She lived with her mother at 717 Lennox street in an attractive neighborhood in North Baltimore. Her brother, Frank O. Singer Jr., is a contractor and builder.

Miss Singer inherited $30,000 from her father's estate. When she left Baltimore early this month she had with her several thousand dollars worth of jewelry and about $1000 in cash.

William R. Worthen, the murdered woman's reputed sweetheart, was formerly a street railway conductor here. He resided with his brother and the latter's wife said that Miss Singer was a frequent visitor to their home.

Divorced 13 Years Ago.

While members of Miss Singer's family expressed ignorance of her association with Worthen and said they did nt know she was with him in Chicago or anything concerning their contemplated marriage, Mrs. Worthen said she was not surprised to hear they were together and that they intended to wed.

The story that Miss Singer was an actress was pronounced untrue by a member of her family. Court records show that Sophia Gertrude Singer was married Sept. 7, 1897, to Thomas G. Walles and obtained a divorce from him two years later on statutory grounds. Walles was a grocery clerk.

Brother Says Woman Had $1000.

Singer said that he had sent a private detective to Chicago to work on the case. His sister had fully $1000 in her possession, he declared.

"My sister left her home Oct. 6," said Singer. "It was expected she was going first to Boston on a visit, but the family heard from her later from Chicago, and understood she had gone there direct.

"She was not a stranger to Chicago. She had been there many times before, and had both friends and relatives there. Her main reason for going to Chicago was to undergo an operation for stomach trouble. She had been treated in Chicago before, and returned there to have the treatment resumed.

Knew None of Her Friends.

"Sophia was 30 years old. Of her friends and acquaintances I know practically nothing.

"In my talk with the Chicago police over the telephone this morning, I was told she had been bound and gagged and had been killed apparently by a blow on the head.

Charles D. Conway and Beatrice Riall, or May Monte, were known here as variety actors. They appeared at local [illegible] last summer.

7 BALLOONS DOWN IN GERMAN RACE; HELVETIA IN LEAD

BERLIN, Oct. 29.—Seven of the 29 balloons participating in the international race for the James Gordon Bennett cup landed yesterday.

The first five descended in Northeastern Germany. They comprised the American Million Population (John Berry), the Italian Libia (Nino Piccoli), the Swiss Helvetia (Lieut. O. Sorg) and Azurea (R. C. Mueller) and the Austrian Astarte (Edward C. von Siegmundt). The other two, the Austrian Busley (Capt. Franz Mannsbarth) and the Danish Clout (Capt. Seidelin), descended near Prague, Bohemia.

The Helvetia, which accomplished the longest flight yet recorded, made a stormy landing 26 miles to the west of Danzig, as the pilot feared to cross the Baltic Sea. The distance from the starting point was 760 kilometers (472¼ miles.)

Berry descended at Grambin, near Neckermuende, on an inlet of the Baltic Sea, 430 miles from Stuttgart, the starting point. Albert E. von Hoffmann of St. Louis was Berry's aid.

Berry descended at Grambin, near Ueckermuende, on an inlet of the Baltic Sea, 430 miles from Stuttgart, the starting point.

Nothing has been heard of John Watts, American aeronaut, or of Arthur Atherholt, his aid, in piloting the Dusseldof II, lent by the Germans as a substitute for the defective Kansas City II. The umpires have decided that Watts cannot be classed as a competitor, because the filling of the Dusseldorf II was completed after sunset, when the gas was cooler, so that this balloon should have considerably better chances than the others."

Harry E. Honeywell of St. Louis, who piloted the balloon Uncle Sam for the Kansas City Aero Club also has failed to report so far. H. F. Lang ascended with him as aid.

First Phone Calls Asked Girl Be Sent to Murder House

the Bell telephone. Mrs. Coates and Miss Benzen told a Post-Dispatch reporter that they considered his voice "repulsive," though he used good English.

There was some quality, a sort of coarseness in his voice that they did not like. Mrs. Coates, she says, got the impression that he was neither a professional nor a business man.

Note Writer Murderer?

The police now believe that the man who wrote the note to Chief Young was the murderer and that it was he who lured Miss Calnan to the Locust street house from the Y. W. C. A. Employment Bureau.

In the absence of any known motive for the crime they accept the theory that the man was moved by some degenerate impulse to commit a weird and almost unbelievable crime.

It is now known that the man twice telephoned to the employment bureau asking that a young woman be sent to him. When he first called between 8 and 9 a. m., Oct. 7, the telephone was answered by Mrs. Coates, head of the employment bureau.

The man said he was Mr. Allen, a lawyer, and that he wanted to engage a young woman stenographer to do some work for him in his apartments at 2307 Locust street.

Mrs. Coates told detectives that she replied: "I do not believe a reputable lawyer would live in that neighborhood. I will not send a young woman there. I think you are trifling with us."

She then hung up the telephone.

Second Telephone Call.

Half an hour later the telephone rang again and Miss Maude Benzen answered it

A man at the other end of the wire said he was Mr. Allen, a traveling salesman and that he wanted a young woman to take care of his invalid mother.

Miss Benzen referred the application to Mrs. Coates. They agreed that they would not send a young woman to the house. Miss Benzen then asked the man if a middle-aged woman would be satisfactory and he said she would.

Miss Calnan was sent to the house. Fifteen minutes later the man telephoned to Miss Benzen. She does not remember just what he said, but she presumes that he reported that the servant had arrived and was satisfactory. Her record index shows the word "engaged" on the blue card containing Miss Calnan's application for a position.

The inquest was begun Tuesday morning. Mrs. Margaret Justin of 2309 Dickson street told how she had identified the body as that of Miss Calnan. She recognized a waist and a hat which she had given to Miss Calnan, and she also identified the body by the false teeth, the color of the hair and the bunions on the great toes.

Miss Calnan, she said, usually wore suspended from her neck a tobacco sack containing a rosary and beads. She also had a red purse which she usually carried in the front of her dress. Mrs. Justin said she had often asked Miss Calnan what was in the purse to make her take such great care of it, but Miss Calnan would not tell her.

The witness said she always slept with the red purse under her head and, although she had broken several pairs of spectacles left in it, could not be induced to change the custom.

Whenever she walked in the street she would carry this purse under her waist, the witness added, and was in the habit of keeping her hands clasped over it as she walked.

Miss Calnan Had But 5 Cents.

Others who testified were Mrs. Kate Brockling of 2517 Baldwin avenue, first cousin of Miss Calnan; Mrs. Margaret Tierney, 3127 Easton avenue, and Mrs. Mary Copes of 1136 North Leonard avenue. Their testimony was the same as statements they had previously made for publication.

Evidence of the witnesses showed that after quitting the service of Mrs. Copes on Oct. 5 Miss Calnan visited Mrs. Tierney's home and left some of her clothing there. She told Mrs. Tierney that she had only a nickel and would have to borrow money or get employment. This was Saturday.

Planned to Go to Y. W. C. A.

She told Mrs. Tierney that she would watch the want ads in the Sunday papers and that if they did not offer any position she would care to take she would apply at the employment bureau of the Young Women's Christian Association, Monday, as it is now known she did.

All of the witnesses said Miss Calnan had a quick temper when crossed and that she would have fought if a man insulted her.

The Coroner, after hearing this testimony, decided to hold the case open pending further police investigation.

Special Officer Hunt testified that he interviewed Mrs. Mattie Allen, who went to live at 2305 Locust street two days before the body was found and that he was satisfied that she knew nothing of the mysterious "Mr. Allen."

HERRMANN HIRES TINKER

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Shortstop Joe Tinker of the Chicago National League baseball team and Gerry Herrmann, owner of the Cincinnati team, today agreed upon terms under which Tinker will manage the Reds next season if he can obtain his release from Chicago.

Copper Miners End Strike.

ELY, Nev., Oct. 29.—The strike of the copper miners, mill and smelter men has been declared off by an almost unanimous vote. The men will return to work immediately at the wage scale effective Oct. 1, which allows an increase of 25 cents a day.

Car Conductor Killed; Passengers Hurt.

SIOUX CITY, Io., Oct. 29.—Charles Kemp, a street car conductor, was killed and 15 passengers injured when a Burlington engine struck the car in the center, and turned it over on its side. Kemp was standing on the rear platform, and his neck was broken.

Indestructible Pearls Valued to $50, for $10

In the Jewelry Section we have on sale one of the finest collections of Indestructible Pearls ever brought to this city and the price instead of being from $30.00 to $50.00 for a string is but $10.00

These Pearls are formed very much as the genuine ones are—that is, layer after layer of nacreous composition which forms a solid, perfect bead that possesses the beauty of the real pearl—and they are handled with the same care as the genuine ones worth thousands of dollars, which they match in every respect, except origin and price.

We believe these to be the best imitation pearls in existence and will replace any string that proves unsatisfactory. They may be had in uniform or graduated sizes in the delicate pink or cream shades and they are mounted with a plain, solid gold clasp.

As we never expect to have any more of this particular quality at such an extraordinary low price we advise an immediate purchase.

We have a large assortment of other Pearls ranging upwards from 50c a string.

Remarkable Display of Fans

A comprehensive assortment of the finest and most artistic Fans ever shown by this store is now displayed. The line includes Real Lace, Feather, Sandalwood, etc., also clever reproductions of hand-painted antique fans, the name of the artist being on each.

THREATS CHARGED AT MURDER TRIAL OF MRS. LINDLOFF

SEERESSES VISIT COURT

Experts Testify Bodies of Woman's Son, Husband and Daughter Contained Poison.

By Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Prosecution of Mrs. Louisa Lindloff on charges of murdering her 15-year-old son Arthur Lindloff by poisoning was stopped temporarily today when Attorney George Remus, councel for the woman, asked that Police Captain Bernard Baer be cited for contempt of court for "intimidation of witnesses."

The attorney complained against the Captain's rebuke yesterday to Miss Sadie Ray, a State's witness. The police official accused her of activity on behalf of the attorneys for the defense, in improperly approaching other witnesses in the case.

Judge Windes, before whom the case is being tried, dismissed the plea for contempt citation and warned the principals that witnesses must not be approached or interfered with.

Daughter Showed Poison Symptoms.

Dr. J. W. Harrington of Milwaukee was among the witnesses examined today. He attended Frieda Graunke, a daughter of the defendant by her first husband, and whose death, under unusual circumstances, is being gone into by the prosecution as corrollary evidence of the present charge against the woman.

Dr. Harrington said he had urged that the girl be sent to a hospital, but that Mrs. Lindloff refused. He added that the child's symptoms were those of mineral poisoning of the same kind charged by the State as having appeared in the death of Mrs. Lindloff's son.

The State introduced yesterday its principal evidence against the spiritualist, clairvoyant and crystal gazer.

Dr. Walter S. Haines, testifying as an expert toxicologist, said he found between three or four grains of a mineral poison, enough to cause death, in the body of Arthur Lindloff, and that he also found the same drug in deadly quantities in the bodies of William Lindloff, one of Mrs. Lindloff's husbands, and Alma Lindloff, her daughter.

"In my opinion, all three members of the family died from poison," said Dr. Haines. He also testified that he had analyzed the contents of a box said to have been found in Mrs. Lindloff's house, and found them to contain 80 per cent mineral poison. The emblaming fluid used in the bodies, he said, contained no poisonous substance.

Testimony for Defense.

Testimony favorable to the accused woman was given by Dr. John M. Berger, who said Mrs. Lindloff was willing the body of the boy should be examined and volunteered the information that another physician had told her that he had symptoms of poisoning.

A number of fortune tellers and alleged scientific crystal gazers and spiritualistic mediums, some of whom are from distant cities, are attending the trial, and, with the defendant, profess to see spirits hovering about the courtroom and to receive spirit messages concerning the case.

'THE DIAMOND NECKLACE' HEADS COLUMBIA'S BILL

Another Girl-Criminal Spotlighted in Daniel Frohman Vaudeville Production.

"The Diamond Necklace," a dramatic playet produced by Daniel Frohman, heads the new bill at the Columbia and scored a hit Monday afternoon and evening. A woman thief is its central figure, and it tells the story of how shrewdly she stole a diamond necklace at the very moment it was being delivered by a jeweler's clerk at the office of a physician by whose wife it had been purchased the preceding day.

The feminine crook had warned the physician that the clerk was a demented kinsman of hers whose mania led to the loss of valuable jewels. Then, when the clerk appears, she represents herself as the doctor's wife and is just about to escape with the diamond necklace when she is arrested by a detective who has been shadowing her. The play is cleverly presented by Helen Robertson as the thief, Victor Benoist as the clerk and Mitchell Lewis as the physician.

Other features of the new bill are Eddie Leonard, the minstrel; the Mountain Ash Male Choir from Wales; Harry B. Lester in imitations; Joseph Herbert Jr. and Lilian Goldsmith in "The Dance of the Siren;" Libby, the cyclist, and Watson's farm yard circus.

FATHER STABS HIS SON

Said to Have Attacked Him in Row About Visiting Mother.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—John D. Thompkins, 19 years old, is lying in danger of death in a hospital today and his father John P. Thompkins, is charged with having stabbed him in the back during an altercation in the presence of five other children of the family last night.

The father's attack was precipitated, according to the police when John, the eldest, urged him to let the younger children visit the mother, who is said to have been in Virginia for several [illegible]

COL. EMERSON, PIKE COUNTY'S KING OF MULE BUYERS, DIES

Famous as Gun Man and Litigant With One to a Dozen Cases Every Term of Court.

BLUFFED BY ONE TEXAN

Offered Mules to Clark, if, as Speaker, He Would Drive Them at Capital.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOWLING GREEN, Mo., Oct. 29.—Col. Luke M. Emerson, famous as a gunman, and known as the Mule and Jack King of Pike County, is dead. Col. Emerson, who was 52 years old, died at his farm a mile from town yesterday. He will have one of the biggest funerals ever given to a Pike County celebrity.

Speaker Champ Clark, a neighbor of Emerson, has often said that he intended to write the biography of the Pike County mule and jack king as soon as he could find time. Speaker Clark has remarked that he expected this book to be his literary masterpiece, on account of the wealth of color that Col. Emerson's life afforded.

The court records show that Emerson was the most famous litigant of Pike County. There has not been a session of the Circuit Court for years in which Emerson did not appear on the dockets in from one to a dozen cases. Sometimes they were criminal cases, with Col. Emerson as the defendant, but oftentimes they were civil actions against him arising over disputes about the settlement of claims.

Lectured for Talking to Jurors.

Col. Emerson was charged a few years ago with trying to improperly influence a jury which was hearing a case in which he was fighting the efforts of the St. Louis World's Fair to collect a subscription of $2500. Col. Emerson was accused of asking the jurors to return a verdict in his favor, and offering them drinks of whisky from the famous bottle which he usually carried in an inside coat pocket. The charges were never prosecuted, but the lecture Col. Emerson got from the Judge he never forgot. He fought the case through the Court of Appeals and won it.

Col. Emerson promised to take $2500 worth of World's Fair stock, soon after he was released from an English prison for shooting a man with whom he had trouble on a steamship. Emerson made frequent visits to Spain to buy jacks, and to South Africa to sell mules. It was on one of these trips he got into trouble.

Former Gov. David R. Francis, then president of the exposition company, had used his influence to get Emerson out of jail, and Emerson, grateful for the favor, attended a World's Fair banquet in St. Louis and in the midst of the enthusiasm arose and offered to subscribe for $2500 worth of stock. He did not sign the subscription blanks, however, and the courts held that he did not have to pay. He did pay, on a compromise, a $500 subscription.

In recent years Pike County lawyers had refused to handle any litigation for Col. Emerson unless he paid their fees in advance. Nearly every lawyer in the county at some time or other has sued Col. Emerson for fees.

Tables Turned by a Texan.

Emerson is known as a man who would fight at the drop of the hat, and drop it himself. Pike County residents love to tell the story of how Emerson once had the tables turned on himself. As the story goes, Col. Emerson had sold a jack to a Texas customer. The Texan returned the animal as unsatisfactory and made a demand for his money. Luke refused to return the money, and the Texan came to Bowling Green to collect it.

The inevitable fight followed, and the Texan went home badly battered. A week later a strapping six-footer, wearing a sombrero hat and a belt of pistols, appeared on the streets of Bowling Green and inquired for Col. Emerson.

Emerson happened to be standing in the courthouse square, talking with farmer friends. He was pointed out to the stranger, a son of the purchaser of the jack.

The stranger walked to Emerson, and covered him with two revolvers. He told Emerson who he was, and added that he had come all the way from Texas to kill him.

"I'm going to do it right now," said the Texan, pressing his forefinger upon the trigger of the two weapons.

Collects at Pistol Point.

Emerson's hair stood on end, and his teeth chattered, but he made the greatest plea for his life that he had ever put up. He was so eloquent that the Texan consented to let him off upon repayment of the purchase price of the jack. He kept Emerson covered with his revolvers while the Colonel went into a bank, drew out the cash and handed it over.

"That was the closest call I ever had," Emerson remarked to his friends. "I could see shoot in that devil's eye, and knew I was up against the real thing."

Emerson handled thousands of jacks and mules every year. He shipped them to all parts of the world, and obtained great prices for some of his fancy animals.

Champ Clark, in his speeches throughout his district, had declared that if he was elected Speaker of the House of Representatives he intended to drive a span of Pike county mules down Pennsylvania avenue in Washington to the Capitol to take oath of office.

Emerson offered to give a pair of $5000 mules to Clark provided he would make good his promise to drive them down Pennsylvania avenue. Both Clark and Emerson got a good deal of advertising out of the proposition, but the Speaker, after his election, failed to make good, greatly to the apparent chargrin of the Pike County breeder.

LEWIS' TRIAL IS ON THIRD LAP; 6 PER CENT NOTES UP

Mail Fraud Case Is Being Pushed With Greater Rapidity Than Former Hearing.

SOME TESTIMONY CUT OUT

Evidence of Investor, Which Government Had Excluded, Later Is Admitted.

In the trial of E. G. Lewis, charged with using the United States mail to defraud, the Government entered Tuesday on the third "leg" of its case, the group of counts referring to the sale of 6 per cent notes of the University Heights Realty and Development Co. So much better progress has been made than in the former trial of Lewis that the Government hopes to finish its case in three weeks instead of four, as in the former case.

The two groups of counts already taken up and disposed of relate to the sale of 7 per cent notes of the Lewis Publishing Co. and the preferred stock of the Lewis Publishing Co.

Much Testimony Eliminated.

Considerable testimony was cut out by a ruling of Judge Willard that persons who had exchanged other securities for the preferred stock would not be permitted to testify, because the indictment charged that Lewis had obtained money for the preferred stock.

Francis V. Putnam, treasurer of the Lewis enterprises, testified that in March, 1909, the sale of 7 per cent Lewis Publishing Co. notes had practically ceased, and as the company was still in need of money, the plan of selling 6 per cent notes of the realty and development company was decided on.

District Attorney Houts read articles from the Woman's National Daily leading up to the issue of the 6 per cent bonds.

Prior to taking this up, Judge Willard admitted testimony that was protested Monday by Houts. It bore on correspondence between Postoffice Inspector Swenson and J. C. Bertsch. Bertsch had invested $4000 in Lewis enterprises. Swenson sent him a form of statement to be signed by him. Bertsch made changes in it before signing it.

As prepared by Swenson the statement was that Bertsch believed he had been defrauded by Lewis. As changed by Bertsch it read that he considered that he had been defrauded by Lewis, provided that conditions over which Lewis had no control had not changed after the investment was made.

On redirect examination Bertsch said he had confidence in Lewis' representations in the Woman's National Daily.

WIFE SCORNS HIM AFTER TWO-MONTHS HONEYMOON

Husband's Fine of $100 for Beating Her Stayed if He Will Not Annoy Her.

"It's the life of a tramp for me," said Chiles Luensmann, a contractor, living at 110 Le May Ferry road, after Judge Kimmel in Clark Avenue Police Court Tuesday morning had told him that he must cease to live with his two-month's bride.

"My honeymoon," Mrs. Christine Luensmann, 18 years old, testified, "has been a story of abuse and I will not live with my husband again."

Luensman was before Judge Kimmel charged with having beaten his wife Sunday afternoon when she came home from a picture show. He declared his wife and her sister, Mrs. Louise Noordmann, went to a picture show in the afternoon and returned home late at night in an automobile accompanied by two men. He says that he rebuked his wife, but did not strike her.

Judge Kimmel after attempting a reconciliation, which the young bride would not countenance fined Luensmann $100 and stayed it on the promise exacted from the defendant that he would not annoy his wife.

CROWDS VISIT BROADWAY

South Side Bargain Week Brings Out Record Throngs.

Officers of the United South Broadway Merchants, who began a bargain week Monday, say there never have been as many people on the street on a Monday or a Monday night as there were on the opening day and evening. A band wagon was driven back and forth from the 1000 to the 3000 block and music enlivened the people. The crowds were beyond all expectations.

STIX, BAER & FULLER D.G.Co GRAND-LEADER

Entire Block — Sixth, Washington, Seventh and Lucas.

Over the teacups all over St. Louis today, the conversation concerns this great store and these

Advance-Winter Sales

The store that "does things"—is a constant topic of interest, but it is particularly so these days for the Advance-Winter Sales have brought splendid economies in the Fall and Winter needs for the person and the home.

Thus, the store news concerns everyone—and particularly that which chronicles the happenings of the Annual Lace Curtain Sale, the sale of Women's Coats and Tailored Suits, and that unusual sale of Oriental Rugs. For instance:

at the right brings you the opportunity of securing a beautiful Tailored Suit from a collection of close to a thousand at a decided saving.

Bulletin No. 2—
concerns the continuation of that eventful sale of Printzess Coats for women, bringing really remarkable coat values.

Bulletin No. 3—
is of a brand-new sale of pretty, new Dresses, in the Basement, and such Dresses as this price has seldom brought you.

Indeed, this store-news is unusual as is the store itself, and just as tomorrow will be as a day of splendid economies.

Special—$1 Crepe de Chine, 48c Yd.

An express shipment of 4000 yards of this beautiful and wanted Crepe de Chine, in all the pretty shades just received; also black, white and cream. They are subject to a slight imperfection which is hardly noticeable—24 inches wide, 48c yard.

WILSON CHEERED BY REPUBLICANS IN PHILADELPHIA

Crowd of 6000 Greets Nominee and Later He Speaks to 19,000 Democrats.

SILENT ON ROOSEVELT

Denies He Would Send Everybody to Jail—Selected Trust Specimens Would Do.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 29.—Philadelphia crowds became wildly enthusiastic last night when Gov. Wilson expounded the doctrines of Democracy before an audience of 6000 Republican Wilson men in the Academy of Music, and later addressed 19,000 Democrats at a mass meeting in Convention Hall. Thousands in the streets acclaimed him as the next President of the United States.

At no time since his nomination for the presidency has the Governor presented the issues of the campaign in a more direct and specific manner than when he faced in the Academy of Music the thousands of men who have declared their determination of placing country above party by the organization of the Woodrow Wilson League of Independent Republican Voters. Henry C. Miles of York, Pa., one of the founders of the Keystone party in Pennsylvania, presided. Other speakers included Rudolph H. Spreckels of San Francisco, Gilbert E. Rose, former law partner of Senator Robert M. La Follette, and Dr. Stephen S. Wise of New York.

Longest Speech of Campaign.

In short, epigramatic sentences, full of "ginger and punch," the Governor talked for 72 minutes. It was the longest speech he has made in the campaign. There was not a period longer than two minutes in which he was not interrupted by applause. He discussed issues and not personalities.

The speech was a summing up of all vital issues of the campaign. He talked tariff, the trusts and other questions that he has discussed in his political addresses. His principal theme, however, was the regulation of competition.

Replying to a question from a man in the audience, the Governor declared that one way in which he intended to break the grip of illegal monopoly was to "direct the criminal law against the individuals responsible for existing conditions."

"Someone has suggested that he is opposed to me because I intend to send everybody to jail," said the Governor. "Is it really that bad?" he asked.

Answering his own question, he continued: "No, I do not propose to send everybody to jail. Selected specimens will do."

"The only question before the country," said the Governor, "is do you trust the men who are now leading the Democratic party. If you believe they are the enemies of legitimate business, don't vote for them. If you believe they are wild-eyed reformers, who don't know the courses of change in this country, don't vote for them. If you believe they are inexperienced tyros, who don't know right from wrong, don't vote for them; but vote as you believe and as you trust. And if you see any one promise the things which you think can be done, vote that way.

Declines to Discuss Roosevelt.

"I am not here as a partisan. If there is somebody else who can and will do the job—" Cries of "Wilson, Wilson!" interrupted the Governor's speech and when the demonstration subsided, a man called out "How about Roosevelt?"

"I have denied myself the pleasure of discussing Mr. Roosevelt this week," answered the Governor. "I am on the platform in this closing week of the campaign in all soberness to discuss the issues and not the persons."

After he had declared that the Democratic party is not suggesting radical changes, someone in the second balcony called to the Governor: "How about the referendum?"

"That," responded the Governor, "is something you can take care of in Pennsylvania. It is not a national question. I want to say to the gentleman, however, that for a generation no State has been more sorely in need of the referendum than has Pennsylvania."

An outburst of cheers greeted the Governor's remark, and he turned his speech to other topics.

The nominee again advocated a regulation of competition and the removal of favors which he said were bestowed by the protective tariff.

"We have entered the lists," he said, "to free the average man of enterprise in America and make ourselves masters of our own fortunes once again. The trusts lie like a great incubus on the productive part of American brains."

Addresses Overflow Crowd.

The Governor addressed a big overflow meeting outside the Academy of Music and then motored to Convention Hall in North Philadelphia, where a big Democratic rally brought out a great crowd that cheered him enthusiastically. The nominee argued in his speech that the wages of the country were not dependent upon the tariff.

"There is only one way for a panic to occur in the United States," said the Governor, "and that is by the small number of men who control industry deliberately creating one. We know the list of these men and we know who will be responsible. The Democrats do not want free trade. The only thing the Democrats are out to bag is those special private interests which lie hidden in the protective system and which the general body of American workingmen are not permitted to share.

"America pays higher wages than free [illegible] England; England pays just as [illegible] higher wages than Germany, [illegible] protected.

[illegible] has protection got to do [illegible] I suspect that something [illegible] protective tariff deter[illegible] wages. America has [illegible] wages than the rest [illegible] since before she was [illegible] England, and the Ameri[illegible] would earn more wages in proportion, as he was skillful. The cost of labor is a determination of the skill and capacity of the country and not of its economic disadvantages."

The Governor declared that corporations "such as the United States Steel corporation" had been the chief enemies of organized labor in keeping wages down.

Not a Personal Question.

"I don't want to use my mind to govern yours," added the Governor. "I want to use my mind to serve yours. Throughout this campaign I have insisted that there is no personal question involved. It is not a comparison of persons but of purposes, of conceptions and of program."

The Governor will speak at Newark, N. J., this evening.

Scratch These Candidates!

List of Nominees to Be Voted for in the Election Next Tuesday Who Should Be Defeated.

Take This With You to the Polls

HIRAM LLOYD, Republican candidate for Lieutenant-Governor.

Because, as floor leader of the Republican organization in the lower house of the State Legislature two years ago, he led the fight against the Municipal Courts bill for St. Louis. This measure was designed by the St. Louis Bar Association to eliminate graft and other evils of the present justice of the peace system, and to afford justice to poor litigants. It was proposed to establish a system of municipal courts to be elected by the voters at large which would remove the influence of petty political bosses.

Llyod engineered the trading of votes with country members on other propositions to insure the defeat of this judicial reform.

HOWARD SIDENER, Republican candidate for Circuit Attorney.

Because his dereliction in the office of Prosecuting Attorney was such as to call forth censure by grand jury in a special mid-term report, on May 8, 1912. In that report the jury declared that Sidener's office showed too much "leniency" in the prosecution of the notorious lid club owners. Many of these cases, the jury reported, were dismissed on payment of costs and arbitrarily "nolle prossed" by the Prosecuting Attorney, whereas convictions usually were obtained when the cases were tried.

One of the most flagrant instances was the freeing by Sidener of a political worker who had been arrested by the police on a charge of violating the dramshop laws in the operation of a lid club. Without consulting the police, who considered the evidence against the defendant conclusive, Sidener entered a nolle prosequi; the grand jury then returned an indictment on the evidence gathered by the police and again Sidener nolle prossed the case.

Sidener is receiving the support of the gang element in both parties.

BEN F. CLARK, Democratic condidate for Court of Criminal Correction.

Because his record, which defeated him overwhelmingly when he ran for Circuit Attorney in 1892, marks him as unfit for the important office of Judge of the Court of Criminal Correction. Clark was opposed in 1892 on the ground that while acting as City Attorney he showed partiality to defendant gamblers. It was revealed also that he had been fined $50 by Judge Henry D. Laughlin in the Court of Criminal Correction for unprofessional conduct as an attorney.

GEORGE P. WEINBRENNER, Republican candidate for Public Administrator.

Because his political affiliations with and obligations to Charles (Cap) Troll, brother of Public Administrator Troll, unfit him for this office. "Cap" Troll is Republican boss of the Ninth Ward, former lid club proprietor and former operator of handbooks in East St. Louis.

RICHARD BARTHOLDT, Republican candidate for Congress in Tenth District.

Because, throughout his 20 years' service in Congress he has worked and voted persistently to prevent a reduction of tariff duties for the purpose of reducing the high cost of living. In the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth and Sixty-first congresses, he stood shoulder to shoulder, with Cannon, the Czar-like Speaker of the House. Progressive Republicans revolted against Cannonism and its methods but Barthold's support never wavered.

THERON CATLIN, Republican candidate for Congress in Eleventh District.

Because, as a member of Congress he lined up with the stand-pat reactionary element of the Republican party in voting against tariff revision bills to reduce the cost of living and is now advocating a perpetuation of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law with its highly protective duties on the necessaries of life. While a member of the State Legislature in 1907, he voted against the public utilities bill to regulate the rates and service of public service corporations.

Two years ago he ran for Congress in the Eleventh District and was elected on the face of the returns over his Democratic opponent, Patrick F. Gill. Gill filed contest proceedings. In July last Congress unseated Catlin and seated Gill on the ground that the amount of money spent in promoting his candidacy exceeded the amount permitted by the corrupt practices act.

L. C. DYER, Republican candidate for Congress in Twelfth District.

Because he is seeking re-election as a member of Congress on the record of his allegiance to the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, with its highly protective duties on the necessaries of life. He voted with the other Republican Congressmen from St. Louis against all legislation designed to reduce the cost of living. More than 50 of Dyer's Republican associates in the House supported these measures.

FRANK WARNER, Republican candidate for State Senator, 29th District.

Because, as a member of the State Legislature, in 1907, he voted against the public utilities bill; at the 1911 session he voted "No" on the municipal courts bill.

He was indicted for counterfeiting city license tags, but the indictment was dismissed on a technicality.

ROBERT PAULUS, Republican candidate for State Senator, 30th District.

Because, as a member of the State Legislature two years ago, he followed the machine leadership of Hiram Lloyd in voting against the municipal courts bill.

ARTHUR KRAMER, Republican candidate for State Senator, 31st District.

Because, as a member of the State Legislature two years ago, he followed the machine leadership of Hiram Lloyd and voted against the municipal courts bill.

JOSEPH BROGAN, Democratic candidate for State Senator, 33rd District.

Because, as a State Senator, he voted two years ago against the municipal courts bill.

OLIVER T. REMMERS, Republican candidate for Legislature, First District.

Because, as a member of the State Legislature two years ago, he followed the machine leadership of Hiram Lloyd and voted against the Municipal Courts bill.

CHARLES ENYART, Republican candidate for Legislature, Third District.

Because, while known to the police as the "policy king" of St. Louis, he was convicted twice on charges of operating policy dens: has been arrested frequently on charges of disturbing the peace, selling liquor without a license, resisting arrest and once on suspicion of robbery.

ALFRED METZGER, Republican candidate for Legislature, Fourth District.

Because, as a member of the State Legislature two years ago, he followed the machine leadership of Hiram Lloyd and voted against the Municipal Courts bill.

JOHN MORONEY, Democratic candidate for the Legislature, Third District.

Because, as a member of the State Legislature in 1907, he voted against the bill empowering St. Louis to establish a Public Service Commission for the regulation of rates and service of public franchise corporations. Formerly a saloon keeper at Sixth and Walnut streets; he lost his license by keeping an alleged disorderly place.

HENRY C. ERMAN, Republican candidate for Legislature, First District.

Because, as a member of the State Legislature two years ago, he followed the machine leadership of Hiram Lloyd in voting against the Municipal Courts bill.

MANY SEE BANDIT SUSPECT

Witnesses Fail to Identify Bartender as Auto Robber.

Thomas Kelly, a bartender, 38 years old, of 817 North Seventh street, who was arrested Monday by Special Officers Scheller and Churchill on suspicion of being an auto bandit, has not been identified as such by any of the witnesses of the Thomas J. O'Meara hold-up at Twenty-first and Randolph streets, or the William Hufnagel killing at 4200 Kossuth avenue.

It was thought that he might be the "tall man" of the auto bandit crew, but all the witnesses who looked at him Tuesday said he was not the man. There remains one witness who has not seen him. Kelly fell under suspicion because he was a friend of James Lynch, who is locked up on the charge of being one of the bandits.

PANIC CRY IS '4-YEAR LOCUST,' SAYS WILLIAM J. BRYAN

Wall Street Raises It Every Presidential Election, He Tells East St. Louisans.

THEN TAKES UP RECORD

Shows That All Panics of Last 50 Years Have Virtually Been Under Republicans.

William Jennings Bryan made a 15-minute speech Monday night in the East St. Louis City Hall and Auditorium, which was overcrowded, and then made a five-minute talk to a crowd which jammed the street in front of the building.

"Has anybody said anything to you about the great panic that will follow should a Democrat be elected President?" Bryan asked his indoor audience. "If anybody does, just remind them that in the last 52 years there have been three panics, two while Republican Presidents were in power and the third just a few weeks after Grover Cleveland was elected President and before a single law had been passed under his administration."

Panic "4-Year Locust."

Bryan said he was an expert in dealing with the panic bug, which he called the "four-year" locust. It comes out every four years in the middle of October, grows very rapidly before election, assumes full proportion the day before election and dies the next day," he said.

Wall street is responsible for panics, he declared. He said President Taft would go out next spring with unanimous consent. Bryan charged Roosevelt with having found Taft, having him patented, guaranteed, nominated and elected, and then left him alone.

"Teddy should be sued for breach of promise," Bryan said while the audience roared.

Bryan said Roosevelt, on trust questions, is against the people, and would legalize monopoly. If Taft displeases the trusts, Bryan said, they immediately "go over and join Teddy's party. They know they can get consolation there."

Speaking of George W. Perkins, Bryan said that, if he should go into any court where a fair-minded Judge sat, and if this Judge was to squeeze Perkins' stock, the water that would run out would drown Perkins.

90,000,000 in Bondage.

"The Republican party has been running on the reputation gained by freeing a million slaves," Bryan said heatedly. "But since that time they have put into bondage 90,000,000 people whose children will not inherit trust stocks.

"Teddy should not have a third term, to do nothing, as he did in two terms, and as Taft has done in one term," Bryan concluded amid cheering. He then addressed the street crowd and hurried to St. Louis.

While the crowd awaited the arrival of Bryan they were entertained by speeches made by R. R. Conway, candidate for Trustee of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District; Barrett O'Hara of Chicago, candidate for Lieutenant-Governor; E. C. Kramer of East St. Louis, Charles Webb, candidate for State's Attorney in St. Clair County, and William N. Baltz, candidate for Congress in the Twenty-second District.

CLOCKS TIME U. S. CLERKS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Electrical clocks designed to prevent excuses on the part of tardy clerks have been installed in the Postoffice Department, over the elevators that run to the busy beehive above stairs. There are several hundred clerks in the big building and as most of them wait until the last moment before reporting, there is a congestion at 9 o'clock that the elevators cannot care for.

Hereafter no excuses will be taken, and the clerks will be accurately timed by electricity from the naval observatory.

BOURKE COCKRAN IS TO BE AT MOOSE RALLY

He and Nortoni Speakers at Closing Meeting of Campaign in Coliseum.

Bourke Cockran of New York and Judge Albert D. Nortoni, Progressive candidate for Governor, were billed Tuesday as the principal speakers for the Progressive campaign closing at the Coliseum, Saturday night.

A general arrangements committee comprised of Arthur N. Sager, National Committeeman William H. Walker and City Chairman Harry J. Cantwell was appointed Tuesday to take charge of the meeting. It was decided to have the Progressive workers concentrate at 10 different points in the city and parade in sections to the Coliseum. Each section will be headed by a band.

It was decided to throw open the doors of the Coliseum at 7 p. m., stage seats being the only seats reserved. Dr. Clarence B. Strauss of Virginia was scheduled by the National Committee to address the overflow meeting at the Coliseum.

Benjamin Fay Mills, a former evangelist, who has been touring the country speaking for Roosevelt and Johnson, spoke to a noonday crowd at Progressive headquarters, 517 Olive street, Tuesday. Bombs were discharged from the tops of buildings to attract crowds.

Mills will speak Tuesday night at Tower Grove Turnverein Hall, Grand avenue and Juniata street.

YOU CAN'T KEEP WELL WHEN YOU ARE CONSTIPATED

Constipation Is the Beginning of Nearly All Disease.

"Keep Your Bowels Open"—Doctors Estimate That 75 Per Cent of Sickness Is Due to a Torpid Liver.

All food eaten has some indigestible waste, which the liver clears away day by day. Now, a heavy or unusual diet, or a change in water, may cause the liver to leave a few particles, and the next day its cleansing work is more difficult. These particles press and clog, and more are left over; and so this waste accumulates, clogging stomach and intestinal canal and causing constipation.

This is not all. If this waste is not eliminated, it ferments and generates uric acid, a poison which gets into the blood stream and is carried along through the system to poison it and develop disease.

JACOBS' LIVER SALT dissolves the uric acid. It flushes and cleanses the stomach and intestinal canal and relieves the liver from the pressure of fermenting waste matter. The liver then resumes its normal activity.

JACOBS' LIVER SALT is much better than calomel. It causes no griping nausea or vomiting, because it acts mildly and without force. It is the mercurial force of calomel that nauseates and salivates. JACOBS' LIVER SALT is pleasant and bubbling, agreeable to everyone, and no other liver medicine acts so quickly and so gently. Don't take an inferior substitute. Some stores may offer other preparations upon which they make larger profits, perhaps similar in name, but very different in action to the genuine JACOBS' LIVER SALT. Large jar 25c (by mail, 16c extra). Made by Jacobs' Pharmacy, Atlanta, Ga. For sale by Wolff-Wilson Drug Co.—ADV.

HUNT DENIES CLAIMANT IS THE REAL KIMMEL

Former Associate of Banker Says "This Man" Refused to Talk to Him in Niles.

Andrew J. Hunt, formerly an employe of the Pacific Express Co. at Omaha, was the principal witness in rebuttal Tuesday forenoon for the plaintiff in the case of Mrs. Edna K. Bonslett against the New York Life Insurance Co. on a policy on the life of George Kimmel.

Hunt and Kimmel were friends when Kimmel was assistant cashier of a bank at Arkansas City, Kan. He told of going to Niles, Mich., after the release of the Kimmel claimant, to see him. He said the claimant would not speak to him and ran out of the house. He said he was convinced that the claimant was not Kimmel.

In connection with the statement of the claimant that he was imprisoned by several men in St. Louis in 18[illegible] and afterward attacked and beaten, Hunt testified that he had never detained the claimant or assaulted him and was not in St. Louis at the time the claimant said he had been detained and assaulted.

Attorney O'Brien, for the New York Life, cross-examined Hunt so savagely that Attorney Bacon for the plaintiff objected.

TAFT PLEADS FOR OHIO TO STAND BY HIM IN ELECTION

Writes That Wilson's Election Would Mean a Ruthless Cut in Import Levies.

SAYS HE PREVENTED PANIC

Vetoes of Tariff Bills Saved Business, He Thinks—Says Vote for T. R. Aids Democrats.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—"No man would care to have his State fail him, but wholly apart from selfish reasons, I want to see Ohio go Republican by a large majority," said President Taft in a letter to Fred A. Geier of Cincinnati, made public today at the White House.

The President attacked Gov. Wilson and the Democratic party on the tariff question and said that Ohio would suffer particularly if the present tariff protecting the steel, wool and pottery businesses were disturbed. The letter in part follows:

"My dear Mr. Geier.

"The injury which Ohio would suffer from a Democratic victory would probably exceed that inflicted on any other State in the union. That is clearly shown by the efforts which out Democratic friends have already made to rob Ohio industries of the protection which is so essential to their continuance, to say nothing of their prosperity.

"You, of course, realize how disastrous the steel bill which I was compelled to veto would have proved to our State. Ohio has 523,000 persons engaged in manufacturing and a capital of $1,300,000,000 invested in manufacturing plants.

Machine Tools on Free List.

"How large a proportion of all this is involved in the manufacture of machine tools you know better than I, but it is a fact that the Democrats, without rhyme or reason, put all machine tools on the free list. Then, too, they cut the duty of steam engines from 30 to 15 per cent, and throughout that bill they reduced duties until the average was 32.03 per cent, while even the Wilson bill imposed an average duty on the same products of 37.97 per cent—and you know the disaster which followed its enactment.

"In their wool bill the Democrats struck a vital blow at the wool industry. The report of the Tariff Board, the accuracy of which has never been challenged, shows that an average duty of 35 per cent is necessary to make the raising of wool profitable, but, absolutely heedless of that, the Democrats reduced the duty on raw wool to 29 per cent, and as for the manufacturers of woolens, the Democratic bill would have put them entirely out of business, leaving our farmers with no home market for their wool and throwing hundreds of thousands of employes out of work.

Says He Prevented Panic.

"Does it not strike you as supremely ridiculous for Gov. Wilson vaguely to intimate that if he is elected he will make such a gentle reduction of the duties that business will not be injured, when his party has so recently put itself on record as attempting such reckless changes of the tariff that had I not vetoed their measures we would even now be confronted with a panic?

"What, think you, could Mr. Wilson do in the White House were there Democratic majorities in both Houses of Congress, majorities made up in large part of the same men who passed the steel and wool and the cotton and free list bills which I was compelled to veto and the vetoes of which he has himself criticised. And especially, what could he do, however good his intentions, when he had been elected on a platform which declares all tariff imposed for purposes of protection unconstitutional?

Democratic Senate.

"During the present session of Congress the Democrats lack control of the Senate, and while they have been able to persuade a sufficient number of Republican Senators to vote for their tariff measures, those same Republicans have, in every case, effected some increase of the duties over the point fixed by the Democrats in the House. But if Gov. Wilson should be elected, it would mean also the election of a Democratic majority in the Senate, and then even the compromises effected by the insurgent Republicans would seem mild reductions as compared to what Democratic majorities in both houses would send to Mr. Wilson for his signature, and which he could not refuse to sign.

"Of course, these facts are clearly realized by the third party, so much so that some of their most prominent speakers have not hesitated to declare that the election of Gov. Wilson would mean financial disaster. And yet they are working for nothing other than the election of Mr. Wilson and a Democratic Congress.

"From absolutely dependable sources information comes to me that none of the leaders of the third party believes it has the slightest chance of success and that they realize that a vote for it means a vote for the Democrats. But they are, most of them, so filled with hatred for the Republican party because it refused to accept their dictation that they are willing to bring disaster upon the whole country simply to gratify their revenge.

"You probably saw the Republican estimate of the vote in New York. You may accept it as trustworthy. The great reserve force of the plain, practical common sense of the American people is asserting itself, and that means victory for the Republican ticket on Nov. 5. WM. H. TAFT."

Injury by Auto Keeps Pianiste From Musicale

Miss Josephine Carradine of 4362 Morgan street, who was unable to appear as a pianiste at Mrs. Harvey G. Mudd's musicale Monday afternoon, is recovering at St. Luke's Hospital from injuries she received in an automobile accident Sunday.

Miss Carradine was perturbed because she could not fill her part on the program. Mrs. Mudd had more than 200 guests in the hall at the Musical Arts Building, Boyle avenue and Olive street, to hear the concert she had arranged. Miss Carradine was to have played several solos, and to have been the accompanist to Mme. Hesselberg, the Russian violinist. Her place on the program was taken by Lawrence Doering.

The physicians at the hospital think Miss Carradine will be able to go home in a few days. She was hit by an electric coupe driven by Mrs. Flora L. Ford.

MRS. JUNETTA DICKEY RELEASED ON $1000 BOND

Is Brought Back From Detroit to Face Charge of Passing Worthless Check.

Mrs. Junetta Dickey, former proprietress of the Albemarle Hotel, 4101 Westminster place, was brought back to St. Louis Tuesday morning from Detroit, where she was arrested a few days ago on the charge of passing a worthless check for $62.50 on the Young-Silverberg Dry Goods Co. and Albert Wellman. She was released on $1000 bond and went to a hotel.

Mrs. Dickey sold the Albemarle Oct. 1 to Montague Scott for $9500. He discovered afterward, he says, that there was a mortgage for $4000 on the property. He paid that and $900 rent and $122 electric light bill, $30 for telephones and $125 to a range concern.

The Young-Silverberg company claimed 125 pairs of lace curtains, saying that when Mrs. Dickey bought them Sept. 30 she gave a check for $62.50 which the firm could not cash, because she had withdrawn all her funds from the bank.

KROGER DEEDS ARE FILED

Grocery Concern to Improve Tiffany-Vista-Frisco R. R. Block.

Deeds were filed Tuesday to the property recently purchased by the Kroger Grocery and Baking Co. of Cincinnati from the Frye Manufacturing Co., conveying the block of ground bounded by Tiffany, Vista and Rutger streets, and fronting the Frisco Railroad.

This property was purchased by the Kroger Grocery and Baking Co. for $110,000, the Alple & Hemmelmann Real Estate Co. negotiating the sale. The Kroger company is the corporation that recently purchased the business of the Maurer-Remley Grocery Co., and intends to make extensive alterations and improvements to the property purchased.

KILLING BIRDS COSTS $420,100,000 A YEAR

Conservation Committee Points Out Feathered Friends Should Be Left to Attack Insects.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Destruction of certain birds costs the United States in food lost approximately $420,100,000 a year, according to the Committee on Wild Life Protection of the National Conservation Congress, which has announced its intention of seeking national legislation to protect the feathered friends of man.

Farmers and fruit growers especially will be urged to consider the damage done to crops by insect pests that could be avoided by the protection of bird life. Likewise, those in the cities will be confronted with the alleged contribution to the "high cost of living" by the destruction of crops.

Three measures providing for the protection of certain birds are pending before Congress and these the committee intends to press at the coming session. Among the birds that should be protected for the good they do in keeping down the insect plagues, according to the committee, are all song birds, swallows, woodpeckers, blackbirds, quail, doves and night hawks.

MILLIONAIRE KILLED IN FALL IN ELEVATOR SHAFT

I. C. Stump, 60, Retired Mining Magnate, Plunges Into Opening in Apartment House.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—I. C. Stump, a retired mining millionaire, is dead here as the result of injuries received last night in a fall down an elevator shaft. He was 60 years old. Stump entered the lobby of the Broadway Apartment House, where he lived, and, walking hurriedly, plunged into the open shaft. The car had been raised to the second floor to permit repairs.

Stump came here from California 18 years ago. At one time he was mentioned for the United States Senate.

SPEAKS FOR HER MOTHER

North Carolina Lady Writes Interesting Letter Relating Her Mother's Experiences.

In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Stella M. Bowman writes as follows: "My mother was weak and run down, and was in bed for nine weeks. She was not able to do any of her work.

"Some lady told her about Cardui, the woman's tonic. She decided to try it, and after taking three bottles, was able to do all of her household work.

"You may publish this letter if you wish, as it would be a great pleasure for me to know that I have been of help to some suffering woman."—Taylorville, N. C.

The best way to relieve womanly troubles, pains, headache, backache, etc., is to help nature by taking Cardui.

Cardui has not only been found of great assistance in relieving the most serious cases of womanly trouble, but has also proven itself an ideal strength-building tonic, for weak, tired, nervous women.

Cardui is successful, because it is composed of ingredients that act effectively on the womanly constitution, and build up health and strength in a natural manner. It is strictly a woman's medicine—prepared exclusively for women.

Fifty years' success in relieving aches and pains of other weak and ailing women, is a good reason to believe that Cardui should help you, too.

AUTO HITS BOY AND WAGON AT ROADSIDE

Machine, Driven by Youth, Demolishes Vehicle and Woman Promises to Pay Damage.

Harry Miller, 17 years old, was injured and a wagon belonging to A. C. Brinkman, an Olive street road grocer, was knocked into a ditch and wrecked when it was struck Monday afternoon by an automobile on the Olive street road at Strattmann, six miles west of St. Louis. The machine bore the number 15011, and the records show this was issued to Edward Hidden, 4929 McPherson avenue, St. Louis.

The Miller boy says he heard the automobile coming east at high speed and he drove to the north side of the road and stopped to let it pass. It was driven by a boy, who seemed to have lost control of it. About the time that it crashed into the wagon one of the tires blew out.

Young Miller was taken from the wreckage of the wagon with numerous cuts and bruises and carried to the Brinkman home, where he is under the care of Dr. R. D. Moore.

A woman was in the automobile. She inquired anxiously about the boy's condition and said she would be responsible for all the damage done. She said the collision was caused by the blowout.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 29.—Announcement of an endowment gift of $25,000 for the Joseph E. Shoenberg Memorial Hospital Building, dedicated as a part of the National Jewish Hospital for consumptives, has been made. Col. M. Shoenberg of St. Louis was one of those at the dedication.

COLLISION KILLS SOLDIERS

Two Dead, 39 Hurt in a Canadian Wreck.

TORONTO, Oct. 29.—Two soldiers of the Toronto garrison were killed, two probably fatally injured and 37 others badly hurt, when a train on which the troops were returning from sham battles at Milton, was wrecked near Streetsville Junction, 22 miles west of this city.

The special troop train crashed into the engine of the Canadian Pacific Express bound for Detroit, which was just moving from Streetsville Junction after taking water. The impact lifted the baggage car of the troop train from its trucks and it shot back into the first of six passenger coaches in which the soldiers were crowded.

Burned Steamer in Dock.

CAR SAVES HIM FROM 2 NEGRO HIGHWAYMEN

Man's Cries Heard by Conductor Who Stops Coach and Takes Him on Board.

John Hulen Jr., 22 years old, of 3143 Clifton place, was saved from negro highwayman about 11:45 Monday night, when the crew of a Hodiamont car, heeding his cries for help, stopped, and he boarded the coach. The two highwaymen fled.

Hulen was standing at Pendleton avenue and the Hodiamont right-of-way when the negroes approached him. They called to him to stand still when he sought to edge away. Hulen did not wait to parley. A car had just passed him. He set out after it, yelling for help.

The negroes pursued, calling on him to halt. Hulen continued his cries, and the conductor, realizing the situation, gave the emergency signal, and the car was stopped.

OFFICER WHO TOOK OWN LIFE PLANNED TO KIDNAP CZAR

Emperor, Nervous, Fled on Royal Yacht—Admiral Later Shot Self.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1912, by Press Publishing Co. (New York World.)

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 29.—News of a daring, but frustrated, plot to arrest the Czar and force him to abdicate the Russian throne and fuller details of the alleged attempt to kill the 8-year-old Czarevitch heir to the crown—both stories naming the recently self-slain Admiral Chagin as the chief conspirator—have stirred Russia.

It is said that the Admiral, the Czar's favorite, and commander of the imperial yacht, the Standart, killed himself when told by telephone that the police were about to search his quarters.

Note to Grand Duke.

When they arrived they found a pile of burnt papers in the kitchen and the Admiral, shot through the heart, in his dressing room. Further search revealed a blotting pad impressed with a letter written by the Admiral to Grand Duke Michael, saying he could "be counted on to drive straight home when morning came."

Though the plot was hatched at St. [illegible]tersburg, [illegible] execution was planned for Jalta, where the fleet was disaffected seriously.

The plan was to have the officers and crew of the Standart put the royal party under arrest and force the Czar to abdicate and waive [illegible]'s rights in favor of Michael.

The scheme failed, because the Czar got nervous and fled. The reasons given for the plot [illegible]re the general disgust with the hypnotic Rasputin's court influence and the belief that the Czarevitch is not a genuine Romanoff.

Mystics Dominate Czar.

A third reason given is that the Czar is no longer fit to reign, being dominated by "ignorant mystics." Grand Duke Michael has not been on speaking terms with the Czar for two years, since Michael tried to elope with his mother's maid of honor.

As for the supposed attack on the Czarevitch, it is now said that a nihilist, employed as a gardener at Spala, shot or stabbed Alexis during the momentary absence of the governess.

The condition of the Crown Prince continues to improve, according to information from Spala. His temperature and pulse are only slightly above normal.

WOMEN RAISE MONEY FOR BULGARIAN RED CROSS

Ask Contributions From St. Louisans—Bulgarians Return Home to Fight.

Mrs. T. S. Bagranoff of Madison and Mrs. Vasil Stephanoff of Granite City have addressed an appeal to the women of St. Louis on behalf of the Bulgarian Red Cross Society. They are asking for contributions for hospital work on the battle fields of the Balkan war.

Hundreds of Bulgarians have quit the factories and mills of the tri-cities to go back to their native country to fight. It is said that every unmarried man of Bulgarian nativity there either has started for his country or is preparing to start. Many married men have left their wives and children to heed the call of patriotism.

Bulgarian women themselves subscribed $128 for the Red Cross fund at Granite City Sunday. Bulgarian men contributed $4000, of which $3000 was donated to the Red Cross and $1000 to pay traveling expenses to Bulgaria of volunteer soldiers who hadn't quite enough money to pay their own way. The Red Cross contributions will be sent to Queen Eleanora, head of the Bulgarian society.

SMOKE FROM BURNING CAFE AWAKENS WOMAN

Her Screams Arouse Other Sleepers, All Flee From Building in Night Clothes.

Occupants of three apartments above a restaurant at 726 North Taylor avenue went downstairs in their night clothes, two and three steps at a time, after smoke awoke them at 1 a. m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Prior was the first to be awakened. Her first impression was that she heard someone ascending the stairs. Then she awoke fully, smelled the smoke and shouted to Dr. Bertha Smith, a dentist, who lives in the adjoining two-room apartment. She also shouted from her window to a man in a passing automobile, asking him to turn in a fire alarm.

William Costello, who lives in the third of the apartments, was awakened by the women's calls to each other, and followed them downstairs.

By the firemen's work, the fire was confined to the restaurant of which Mrs. Pauline Melton is owner. It is supposed to have started in the kitchen, where there are two large gas stoves. The loss was $400.

ST. LOUIS BAR GIVES JUDGE ADAMS LOVING CUP

Address Also Is Presented to Jurist on His Seventieth Birthday.

A silver loving cup was presented to Judge Elmer B. Adams of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at his Westmoreland place home Sunday, his seventieth birthday, by members of the St. Louis bar. There were many contributions to the fund for the purchase of the cup, no one being permitted to contribute more than $1.

Accompanying the token was an address in which the Judge's friends praised him for his fairness and courtesy on the bench. He replied by declaring his esteem for the members of the legal profession in St. Louis, and declared he would cherish the gift for the rest of his life.

"As long as I am permitted to continue the discharge of judicial functions," he said, "my daily prayer shall be that I may perform them with the same acceptability which partiality has prompted you to accord to my past work."

WEST ST. LOUIS TRUST COMPANY'S TROUBLES END

Both Sides Say Litigation Was Outgrowth of Mutual Misapprehension.

The suit brought recently by the West St. Louis Trust Co. and Ben E. W. Ruler against Conway Elder, Jacob Maurer, Charles G. Venz and Dennis O'Leary, was dismissed Tuesday. It was found to be the outgrowth of mutual misapprehension, according to Ruler. The defendants in the suit have sold their stock in the trust company to the plaintiffs, and have withdrawn as directors, while Elder and Maurer have tendered their resignations as president and vice-president, respectively, and their resignations have been accepted. Ben E. W. Ruler has been elected president to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Elder, while William Gilker succeeds Maurer as first vice-president.

"The parties to the litigation desire it to become known that whatever statements have been made by them, or any of them, reflecting disparagingly on any of the others, were wholly unfounded," says a statement of both sides. "The affairs of the West St. Louis Trust Co. are in a sound condition, and the new administration has the best wishes of all parties concerned."

STRIKERS USE RED PEPPER

Strike - Breaking Washington Waiters Get Eyes "Burned."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Red pepper as a weapon to discourage competition has been adopted by the striking waiters of the Capital. A score of striker-breakers have been the victims of the pepper throwers. One man today is in the hospital, as a result of being severely beaten by strike pickets.

The strikers declare their confidence in winning the strike, basing their conviction on the fact that election night will prove conclusively the impossibility of the hotel managers handling a crowd without experienced men. The managers are equally positive that the strikers will not be taken back.

NEGROES SEEN STEALING

Woman Couldn't Stop Thieves Who Take Auto Tires.

The telephone did not work fast enough to prevent two negroes from stealing two automobile tires worth $30, from the garage of Charles Graves, 1387 Union boulevard, Monday afternoon. Miss Nettie Coni of 5322 Ridge avenue saw the two negroes, about 2 p. m sneaking the tires out of the Graves garage. She telephoned Mrs. Graves.

The message was rather late in reaching Mrs. Graves, but when she ran out of the house in response to it she was able to see the negroes going west in the alley. She pursued as far as Arlington avenue where the thieves disappeared.

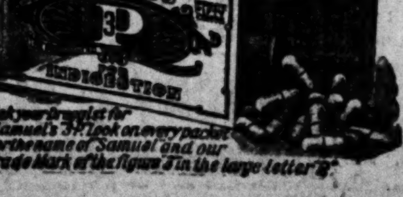
INDIGESTION? NERVES TIRED? THERE'S REAL HELP IN SAMUEL'S "3-P"

You'll Quickly Enjoy All the Pleasures of a Good Stomach and Strong Nerves.

Mr. or Mrs. Nervous Dyspeptic, did you ever stop to think that nervous indigestion makes a different person of you? It just turns your whole world upside down, makes you feel blue, downcast and unfit for pleasure or business. If you eat what you crave, you have a sour stomach and a sourer face; you often have sleepless nights, are nervous and irritable, lack interest in the things in which you formerly took pleasure—all due to impaired digestion and weakened nerves.

Now, this very day stop dieting and starving your already weakened system—join the thousands with good stomachs and strong nerves by getting of your druggist a 50-cent packet of these truly wonder-working little capsules. Take them after meals regularly for a few weeks—your stomach distress will go and with it all that belching of sour, undigested food, and your nerves will tingle with renewed vitality; you'll sleep good and feel good.

A postal addressed today to The Samuel Chemical Company, Cincinnati, Ohio, will bring YOU a free sample box by return mail.



Ask your druggist for Samuel's "3-P." Look on every packet for the name of Samuel and our Trade Mark of the figure 3 in the large letter P.

Quickest, Simplest gh Cure

ly and Cheaply Made at Home. aves You $2.

This recipe makes a pint of cough syrup—enough to last a family a long time. You couldn't buy as much or as good cough syrup for $2.50.

Simple as it is, it gives almost instant relief and usually stops the most obstinate cough in 24 hours. It is pleasant to take—children like it. An excellent remedy, too, for whooping cough, croup, sore lungs, asthma, throat troubles, etc.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly.

Pine is one of the oldest and best known remedial agents for the throat membranes. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and all the other natural healing elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The prompt results from this recipe have endeared it to thousands of housewives in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—ADV.

PAROLED GIRL IS TO BE AIDED BY TUESDAY CLUB

Women's Committee to Help Leola Young, 18, to Get New Start—Just Out of Workhouse

Leola Young, 18 years old, was sent to the city hospital for treatment Tuesday, following her release on parole from the workhouse. When she is able to leave the hospital, she will be taken in charge by Mrs. Frank Steeg, chairman of the Tuesday Club's Committee on Philanthropy and Civics, who has promised to help the girl get a new start in life.

The girl was sent to the workhouse on a three months' sentence for the theft of $66 from a man. The Tuesday Club interested itself in her case, and through Chief Probation Officer Fullerton, Mrs. Steeg asked that she be notified when the Court should be ready to take up the question of her parole.

Fullerton later told Mrs. Steeg that Judge Falkenhainer had promised to send notice to him when the paroles should be considered, and he in turn promised to notify Mrs. Steeg.

It happened that Judge Falkenhainer took up the application without notifying Fullerton, but the girl reminded the Judge that the clubwomen were interested in her case, and he thereupon sent word to Fullerton, so that the matter worked out as the clubwomen had intended.

Mrs. Steeg told a Post-Dispatch reporter that she knew nothing of any effort on the part of anyone else to get the girl paroled, and said she believed the Judge's failure to notify her in the first place was due merely to an oversight. Judge Falkenhainer denied printed charges that some sinister secret influence was at work in the case.

The Tuesday Club, Mrs. Steeg said, has in the past few months aided three young women in somewhat similar circumstances to Leola Young's. The club is advocating a measure for a parole board. Mrs. T. L. Harkness is president of the club and Mrs. George Potee vice-president.

REPUBLICANS SEEK TRADES TO SAVE THEIR CITY TICKET

Leaders Willing to Sacrifice State and National Candidates to Win Locally.

CITY JOBS ARE OFFERED

Progressives Draw Largely on G. O. P.—25,000 From Taft Vote of 1908 Means Democrats Win.

Fearing the defeat of their entire city ticket, the Republican organization leaders have resorted to offers to trade votes upon the State and national candidates for votes for their city candidates. The Democratic and Progressive leaders declare that the Republicans are also offering city and police jobs to their workers to try to induce them to vote for the Republican city candidates.

Republican City Chairman John Schmoll, at a meeting in the Twenty-fifth Ward Monday night, urged the Republican workers to go out among the Progressives and try to persuade them to vote for the Republican city ticket.

In recent years the Republicans have been electing their city tickets by majorities of 10,000 to 25,000. The growth of the Progressive party in St. Louis, which the Republican leaders confess they have been unable to check, will draw, according to Progressive leaders, not less than 25,000 and probably 35,000 votes from the Republican party.

Depends on Progressives.

Republican leaders admit that 80 to 90 per cent of the Progressive vote will be drawn from the Republican party. If the Progressives draw 10,000 votes from the Republicans it will endanger the entire city ticket, and if it draws as much as 20,000, the Democrats assert, not a Republican city candidate will be elected.

David Charles Baker, Progressive City Committeeman from the Twenty-fifth Ward, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that the Republicans had been offering jobs as policemen to his precinct workers to induce them to desert his organization and vote the Republican city ticket. Democratic City Committeeman M. J. Mulvihill is authority for the statement that numerous Democrats in his ward have been offered city hall jobs to vote the Republican ticket.

Progressive Pledges Made.

To forestall the Republican trades, the Progressive City Committee has requested all signers of its rolls to sign a pledge to vote the entire Progressive ticket, national, State and city. Bulletins posted by the Progressive committees Tuesday stated that 31,500 persons had signed the rolls and taken the pledge to support their tickets.

Henry W. Kiel, Republican candidate for Sheriff, is making the hardest fight of any of the Republican candidates. Kiel has men at work for him in every ward, and he has distributed much literature in his own behalf.

The Progressives, since Roosevelt was shot in Milwaukee, have been working like crusaders. Their headquarters have been filled daily by people who have volunteered their services in the campaign. Several business men who requested that no publicity be given to their efforts have gone to headquarters and asked for speaking assignments in any part of the State outside of St. Louis.

Organizations Switch.

In several counties the entire Republican organization went over to the Progressive party, making it necessary for the Republicans to form new organizations. Harrison County was one of the counties where the Republican organization became the Progressive organization.

Chairman Beazell of the Progressive Speaker's Bureau said Tuesday that he had received a poll of one Harrison County precinct from the chairman of the county committee. This precinct four years ago gave Taft 95 and Bryan 91, but the poll just taken, Beazell said, gave Taft 6, Wilson 55 and Roosevelt 113.

Beazell said he had received several polls from St. Joseph, showing Roosevelt leading the other candidates. A poll of a block on Felix street, he said, gave Roosevelt 71, Wilson 10, Taft 6, Debs 1, with 10 refusing to commit themselves. A poll of the employes of the Batreall Shoe Co. gave 48 out of 62 votes for Roosevelt, of the office of the Armour Packing Co., gave 34 out of 38 votes to Roosevelt, of the plant of the Armour Co., 61 out of 100 for Roosevelt, and of the C. D. Smith Drug Co., 42 out of 51 for Roosevelt.

Mine Watchmen Captured.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 29.—Four watchmen were captured by miners, according to a report, and the men have been taken to Mossy. It was also reported that Sherman Cook, a white miner, was shot when asleep at his home in Raleigh County.

ARMY TO TRY SOLDIERS

Philippine Authorities Ordered to Turn Over Prisoners.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Newton W. Gilb, acting Governor-General of the Philippines, has ordered the municipal and police authorities of the Island to turn over to the military at once soldiers arrested on any charge. In his pronunciamento the Governor quotes the army regulations.

There have been many abuses and many of the enlisted men, in the opinion of the authorities have been unduly punished under the penalties of the civil courts.

The Gadder Is on the Job

Travelers Don't Fear Strange Dishes—Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Enable the Stomach to Stand Anything.

A Box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Is Your Best Traveling Companion.

"Railroads tell you about the wonders of Nature along their lines; hotels describe their modern accommodations; but they never fail to ring in their 'cuisine unexcelled.' The wise traveler knows he is taking 'pot' luck when he leaves home, hence a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is quite as essential as many of the other traveling requisites."

Thus commented a philosophical traveling man, speaking of hotel life, restaurants, grills and junction lunch counters. "The agitations in this world," he continued, "are the result of one set of men trying to compel the other set to think and act against their own inclinations. It is the same in religion, politics, and eats. I have learned from experience to eat what they serve; to forget the food experts, read the current news and jokes and leave the stomach to the best expert in the world—Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets."

And Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets actually do the work assigned them. They relieve weak and overburdened stomachs of a great portion of digestive action. Their component parts assist the digestive fluids and secretions of the stomach and they simply take up the grind and carry on the work just the same as a good, strong, healthy stomach would do it.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box, and they are the one article that the druggist does not try to sell something in the place of it that's "just as good." Their unqualified merit and success and the universal demand for them has placed them within the reach of everyone.

JUDGE REYNOLDS SUED AS AN HEIR OF J. W. REYNOLDS

Wife, Son and Daughter Also Named in Action to Recover Realty Worth $7000.

TITLE TO IT ATTACKED

Contention Is J. W. Reynolds Took Property to Borrow Money on It for Owner.

Judge George D. Reynolds of the St. Louis Court of Appeals and his son, Attorney George V. Reynolds, were made defendants in a suit filed in the Circuit Court Monday by the Calumet Co., an Indiana corporation, on a claim for $7000 against the estate of another son of Judge Reynolds, James W. Reynolds, who died in September, 1911.

According to the petition the plaintiff was the owner of realty in East Chicago, Ind., which it transferred to James Reynolds in July, 1910, for the purpose of borrowing $3500. It is set forth that for certain reasons, the company could not borrow the money in its own name and got Reynolds to consent to accept title to the realty and then borrow the sum in his name. This transaction, it is recited, was carried out, Reynolds turning over the money to the company, but still retaining title to the real estate at the time of his death, although he had agreed to reconvey it to the plaintiff.

Subsequently, George V. Reynolds, as administrator of his brother's estate, took charge of the East Chicago property, and sold it for a sum in excess of $7000 above the mortgage, it is alleged. He retains this money as assets of the estate and has refused to surrender it to the company, it is averred. According to the petition James Reynolds had no claim to the realty and acted in the matter without compensation and by reason of friendship for the president of the corporation.

George V. Reynolds, administrator of his brother's property, is the principal defendant in the suit. When a Post-Dispatch reporter asked him for a statement, Tuesday, he declined to discuss the case. His mother and sister as heirs also are named as defendants in the litigation.

WOMAN FIGHTS BURGLARS AND PREVENTS ROBBERY

Men, Unable to Wrest Phonograph From Housewife, Choke Her.

Mrs. William Merges struggled for 10 minutes in her home at 1411 North Park place Monday night with two burglars who were trying to get away with a phonograph. They choked her into unconsciousness, but she held on to the talking machine.

Mrs. Merges and her two small children up to bed she heard noises rest of the family went to a moving picture show. After taking her children up to bed she again heard noises in the cellar and went down to investigate. As she opened the cellar door two men rushed out.

One seized the phonograph and tried to get out of the house with it. Mrs. Merges confronted him and was about to scream when the other clapped a hand over her mouth and clutched her throat. She struggled and then sank unconscious to the floor. When her husband found her, lying on the floor, she had the talking machine under her arm.

Mrs. Merges said Tuesday that when she fought the men she feared they might harm the children.

Her husband, Joseph Howard, is at her bedside.

RHEUMATISM CANNOT EXIST

In the human body if you will use Trunk's Prescription for Rheumatism and Gout. It is ridiculous, absurd and preposterous; in fact, it is a pity and a shame to talk about Rheumatism and Gout, much less suffer with it, either inflammatory, muscular, sciatic or any other form of Rheumatism.

Trunk's Prescription for Rheumatism and Gout sells for $1.50, or six for $7.50. This Prescription does not ruin the stomach, it does not depress the heart. Eat all the meat and good food you wish while taking Trunk's Prescription. It does not contain any Mercury, Salicylate of Soda, Oil of Wintergreen or narcotics of any kind, but it absolutely and positively overcomes any kind of Rheumatism or Gout on earth. What more do you want? There is nothing just as good, and it is impossible to get something better. It is also an excellent Liver Medicine.

SOME WORKING GIRLS LOSE TOO MUCH TIME

Two Girls Tell How to Avoid It.

There is nothing that teaches more than experience. We therefore quote from the letters of two girls who suffered and were restored to health. The same remedy is within reach of all.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"Prior to taking the first bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I suffered agony at intervals, but after your wonderful medicine had been taken a while I felt a little better, and that I can truly say I have no more pain or inconvenience.

"As I am out in the business world as a stenographer, I come in contact with many girls, and when the opportune moment arrives I tell them about the Vegetable Compound and I know that quite a few are taking it."—Helen Canet, 556 Dean St.

Another Girl's Experience.

Tishomingo, Okla.—"I am a stenographer and bookkeeper, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved my life. I am enjoying the best of health now, but I was suffering from female troubles and would have backache, headache and fainting spells. If any woman would like to write to me I will gladly answer her letter and tell her what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Mrs. Mattie Copenhaver, Tishomingo, Okla.

BRIDGE ARBITRARY AGAIN IS UP TO SUPREME COURT

Judges to Interpret Own Decision and Say Whether They Meant to Abolish Toll.

TRIEBER DECREE HELD OFF

Crow's Motion to File Petition for Writ of Prohibition to Be Argued Dec. 2.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The United States Supreme Court has granted the motion of Attorney-General Wickersham and Edward C. Crow, in the Terminal case, to file a petition for a writ of prohibition restraining Judge Jacob Trieber from entering a decree which fails to abolish the bridge arbitrary at St. Louis.

Arguments on the motion will be heard Dec 2. The Supreme Court, in passing upon this motion, will construe its own decision and determine whether it really intended to abolish the bridge arbitrary at St. Louis, or whether it meant to recognize it and leave its regulation to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Judge Trieber of Little Rock was assigned by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals to prepare a decree to conform to the ideas of the Supreme Court. He held that the Court's original decree did not abolish the arbitrary, and accepted a decree prepared by the attorneys for the Terminal Railroad Association.

The fight of the Attorney-General and Attorney Crow is to prevent Judge Trieber from entering as final the interlocutory decree which he accepted as satisfactory.

Crow determined, after the refusal of Judge Trieber to order a decree abolishing the arbitrary, to bring the case back to the Supreme Court. This he has succeeded in doing, after a fight of more than two months.

The effect of the Supreme Court's action will be to prevent Judge Trieber from handing down a final decree until the Supreme Court takes final action on the case.

HUSBAND FIRST WHIPPED AND THEN IS ARRESTED

Brother-in-Law Says Man Sister Sues for Divorce Was "Prowling Around."

William J. Valentine of 4001 California avenue, after being beaten Monday for the seventh time in a year by one or the other of his brothers-in-law, was arrested about 5 a. m. Tuesday, charged with tresspassing on the premises where his wife, Elizabeth, lives.

The Valentines were separated a year ago and the wife recently filed a suit for divorce, which came up Oct. 4 and was continued to the December term. Mrs Valentine and three children live with her brother, Theodore Degenhardt, at 3916 California avenue.

About daybreak Mrs. Valentine was awakened by a noise on the porch. She aroused her brother, who found Valentine on the porch trying windows, he said.

Degenhardt called the police. Valentine, who had hidden in the rear part of the house, was arrested and locked up.

Monday Valentine went to see the children and is alleged to have annoyed his wife. Clemens Degenhardt of 5004 South Grand avenue, a brother of Mrs. Valentine, arrived while Valentine was present. Degenhardt says he gave his brother-in-law a thrashing and told him never to come around again.

BURIES BABY IN OWN YARD, 3 ARE ARRESTED

Laborer Digs Up Coffin Under Police Orders—Body Taken to Morgue.

After being locked up in Central Station for several hours Monday night John Adams, 46 years old, a laborer, went with the police to his home at 632 South Seventh street and in the yard dug up a small coffin containing the body of a baby born to his wife, Kate Adams, Oct. 2. The wife was also arrested and then the police took into custody Mrs. Annie Fitzmorris, 39 years old. Mrs. Adams gave her age as 33 years and said she lived at 804 South Eighth street.

Patrolman Anton Saake of Central District received information at 9 Monday night that a child had been buried in the yard of the Seventh street address. The women said a lifeless child had been born to the Adams woman. Adams declared at first he paid a man to bury the body, but early Tuesday informed Lieut. Seth Singleton where it was interred and went with him. The body was taken to the morgue.

The matter was submitted to the Prosecuting Attorney, it being a misdemeanor to bury a body without permit.

EMPLOYE AND $93 GONE

Theater Owner Sends Him to Bank and He Vanishes.

George Angelich, proprietor of the Rainbow Theater, 107 North Broadway, trusted a man employed by him for 18 months with $93 to take to the bank Monday afternoon and both employe and money have disappeared.

Angelich told the police the man had handled sums of money for him previously. He believes the sight of so much money at one time caused him to run away with it. His arrest has been ordered.

The A B C of High-Cost Living

THOMAS W. LAWSON SAYS:

"Today, when prices are made up for the American people, there is added to the raw material, labor, incidentals, and profit charges, another charge, 3,000 millions of dollars.

"The owners of sixty billions of stocks and bonds take each year, through the cost of the people's living, 3,000 millions.

"Now keep your finger on this:

"The problem of high-cost living centers in this sixty billion dollars of capital stocks and bonds.

"If the sixty billions is real capital, the people should pay to its owners the 3,000 millions each year, for that is what the use of sixty billions of real capital is worth in the world's markets.

"But if any part of it is counterfeit capital, the people are being robbed of all they pay for the use of the counterfeit part.

"Keep your finger on this, too:

"Over forty billions of the sixty billions of stocks and bonds capital is counterfeit. It represented, when issued, no accumulated labor. It represented nothing but a trick."

This trick of counterfeiting capital is worked through the gambling end of the Stock Exchange.

BULGARS WITHIN ONE VICTORY OF CONSTANTINOPLE

If Flank Movement Succeeds Invaders Will Have Sultan at Mercy.

WAR MINISTER IN FIELD

Nazim Pasha to Either Check Perilous Advance or Perish in the Attempt.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—Exclaiming that he will stem the on-rush of the victorious Bulgarian army or perish in the fight, Nazim Pasha, Turkish Minister of War, today hurled himself and four army corps across the path of King Ferdinand's exultant troops.

His is a perilous position. Although he still holds the line from Tchorlu to Lule Burgas, the Bulgarian invaders on his right at Eski-Baba have cut him off from the main army at Adrianople. The destruction of a bridge over the Tchodrlu River prevents his obtaining supplies and reinforcements from Constantinople.

Should the great turning movement now being attempted by the Bulgarians be as successful as they plan, Nazim Pasha would be driven to the westward, and Constantinople less than 80 miles away, left at the mercy of the invaders.

Allies Plans Work Well.

Meantime the plan of campaign of the allies appears to be working with almost perfect sympathy. This is due according to military critics to some extent to the unpreparedness of the Turkish army. The Sultan's enemies now possess a large portion of the Turkish railroad system and the wagon roads, while threatening those lines and roads they do not actually command.

Greek, Servian and Bulgarian columns are moving upon Saloniki. The Greeks already are within striking distance of the Turkish town of Verria, only 50 miles from Saloniki on the railroad from Monastir. The possession of Verria by the Greeks would not only threaten Saloniki, but cut off the Turkish army u[illegible] Zekki Pasha, which was defeated [illegible] the Servians at Uskup and is now [illegible]centrating at Monastir. The Greek[illegible] could effect a junction with the Bu[illegible]arian army, coming down from Novrokop and Drama through the Struma Valley and concentrating at Serres with the Servians, who are advancing upon Veles.

All the passes through the Rhodope Mountains leading to the Saloniki and Adrianople railroad are also in Bulgarians' hands.

The unofficial report from Constantinople that the Turkish town of Servia has been recaptured from the Greeks is not credited here.

Active diplomatic negotiations are going on among the powers. The British Minister at Cettinje, in company with the Montenegrin Foreign Minister, visited King Nicholas yesterday at Rieka. his is regarded as undoubtedly in connection with the conversations held ith the Ambassadors of the powers in ondon by Sir Edward Grey, the Brit- h Foreign Minister. The diplomats e still hopeful of averting any comlications between the powers.

A well-informed correspondent in Vi- na telegraphs that Austria does not ntemplate any active intervention and at there exists in the Austrian cap- l a well-founded hope of an improve- nt in Austro-Servian relations. I is is so, the dangers always expected arise in Europe from a Balkan war y be avoided.

Replying to a request made by several ulgarian legations for more informa- o as to the progress of events in e eastern part of the theater of war, remier Guechoff replied that no other ews than that supplied by the general aff would be communicated.

he Porte Hears Turks Recapture Town From Greeks.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 29.—The rkish town of Servia recently captured by the Greek Army is reported to have been reoccupied by Ottoman troops, according to telegrams from Saloniki published in the newspapers here.

LUCILE CAMERON WILL TELL ALL ABOUT JOHNSON

She Decides to Go Where Her Mother Wants Her To—Believes She Was Drugged.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Though Lucile Cameron, 19-year-old white girl whom Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, is alleged to have abducted, was prepared to go before the Federal grand jury today to tell the complete story of her acquaintance with Johnson, the jury held no session because of the absence of the District Attorney.

"I am going with mother," said the Cameron girl, "and I am glad to be back in civilization again."

Then she seated herself at a typewriter and rattled off two letters. She is continually in the custody of a deputy marshal.

"I see the light now," continued Miss Cameron, "and I will go wherever mother wants me to go. I want to leave this horrible city. It has been a nightmare to me. As I see it now; I believe I was under the influence of drugs most of the time. I have only a dim recollection of many things, and time seems to have passed by the week without my noticing it."

Mrs. Falconnet said her daughter had given over entirely her former resolve to "stick to Johnson," and now was convinced she should return to her mother and aid in prosecuting the pugilist.

Mrs. Grant, keeper of a boarding house on Grand boulevard, where Lucile Cameron had a room, told the jury that she ordered the girl from the house when it was discovered that she was taking automobile rides with Johnson.

Ada Banks Davis, a singer in Johnson's establishment, who is accused of shooting him in the foot, was another witness. She told of Johnson's infatuation for the Cameron girl and his attitude toward white women who entered the cafe. Mrs. Davis' husband has sued Johnson for $25,000 for alienation of his wife's affections.

The abduction case gainst Johnson was postponed by Judge Hopkins today. A hearing in Municipal Court was scheduled at which the closing of Johnson's saloon was the point at issue. Hearing of charges of disorderly conduct against Lucile today was postponed until Nov. 14.

WOMAN AND MAN HELD AS SLAYERS OF HER HUSBAND

She Collapses When Warrant Is Read and Has to Be Carried to Kirksville (Mo.) Jail.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., Oct. 29.—Mrs. J. W. Davis and Ed Ilgenfritz were arrested today on a joint charge of murdering J. W. Davis, whose body was found Sunday morning in the back yard of the home occupied by his wife in the southwest part of Kirksville. Mrs. Davis, who is 43 years old, collapsed when the warrant was read to her, and had to be carried to a cab by two deputy sheriffs and then carried into the county jail.

The attention of neighbors was attracted to the Davis back yard Sunday morning by a violent squawking of geese, and investigation revealed the body of Davis, with a bullet hole through the skull, ranging from a point back of the ear forward and upward to the other side.

Could Not Raise Arm High.

A Coroner's jury began work on the theory of suicide, but it was learned that Davis had injured his arm in such a way that he could not raise his right hand higher than his face.

Ed Ilgenfritz, on account of whom Davis and his wife had been estranged for a month, was held during the inquest. He testified he did not see Mrs. Davis Saturday night and that he went to bed at 8 o'clock. Other witnesses testified they saw him meet Mrs. Davis Saturday night and others saw him coming from the direction of the Davis home after two shots were heard there. Mrs. Davis testified she had not seen Ilgenfritz Saturday night. She said her husband called at the house about 9:30 p. m. Saturday and told her he was going to kill her and himself.

Body Outside All Night.

She said she refused to go to the door and a moment later heard two shots. She was afraid to look out of the window and the body lay outside all night, she declared. Her husband had been living with a married daughter.

Prosecuting Attorney Weatherby charges that Mrs. Davis knew her husband was going to call Saturday night and that she met Ilgenfritz to tell him of it. The suicide theory is supported by the finding near Davis' body of a revolver he had borrowed Saturday afternoon. Two of the chambers were empty.

LIFE IN BALANCE FOLLOWING FIGHT ABOUT SHOES

Ante-Mortem Statement of Alton Man, Shot, Tells of Borrowing and Quarrel.

A dispute about half the price of a pair of shoes caused the fight Sunday in which Thomas Rawl shot and probably fatally wounded his former chum, George Hassan, according to Hassan's ante-mortem statement at Alton Tuesday.

After he had heard Hassan's story, Deputy State's Attorney Wilson filed an information charging Rawl with assault to kill. Hassan is in St. Joseph's Hospital in Alton with a bullet hole through his abdomen and is sinking rapidly.

He told Wilson that he borrowed $4 from Rawl several weeks ago with which to buy a pair of shoes. He had paid half of it back, he added, when he heard that Rawl had been talking about him. They met and Hassan blacked Rawl's eyes.

Sunday evening as Hassan was leaving his boarding house he met Rawl in front. He declares Rawl said to him:

"How do you like the black eye you gave me? Come out into the street and let's fight it out."

Hassan said he refused to fight again. As he turned away, he declares, Rawl fired at him. The bullet perforated his digestive organs in seven places.

After the shooting Rawl telephoned to the hospital to find out how badly Hassan was hurt. The call was traced and he was arrested.

HEAD OF BOTTOMS GANG, TONY FOLEY, OUT ON A PAROLE

Man Who Terrorized Police, Wins Freedom 4 Days in Advance, by Work on Roads.

PROMISES TO REFORM

Followers Scattered After He Was Sentenced to 5 Years for Beating Policeman.

Tony Foley, leader of the Bottoms Gang, which the St. Louis police broke up, after a long war, four years ago, has been paroled by Gov. Hadley, a few days in advance of the time when he regularly would have been released.

Foley's five-year term, under the three-fourths good behavior rule, would have expired in November, but he volunteered recently to work on the Cole County roads, and was an efficient worker, the prison officials say. His parole is said to be a reward for this work.

He has returned to St. Louis, and will be among his old friends at election time, although he may not be permitted to vote. He has declared to the Governor and others that he has reformed, and intends to look after his family and lead a sober, industrious life.

Wins Parole by Work.

A Jefferson City dispatch states that Foley would have been released next Friday, Nov. 1, according to the prison records. When he volunteered for road service, the Governor promised him and others in the squad one-third off, instead of one-fourth off, for every day they worked on the roads. Foley worked a sufficient number of days to gain four days on his sentence, and the Governor, therefore, released him that much sooner.

Foley, who has many times been arrested on peace disturbance charges, was sent to the penitentiary for his attack on Patrolman Stapleton with the policeman's revolver. His conviction broke the backbone of the Bottoms Gang, which for a time held a reign of terror in the district to the east of Jefferson avenue from Franklin avenue to Olive street.

First Arrest Was in 1904.

The first arrest of Foley of which there is court record, was Feb. 16, 1904. He was convicted of disturbing the peace, and was fined $5 and costs.

May 14, 1904, he was convicted of disturbing the peace, and fined $5.

Nov. 4, 1905, he was arrested for petit larceny, and was fined $25.

March 20, 1906, he was arrested on the charge of disturbing the peace, but the case was dismissed for want of prosecution.

May 7, 1906, he was arrested on the charge of disturbing the peace, but was released without prosecution.

Aug. 6, 1906, he was charged with petit larceny, but the case was nolle prossed.

Dec. 17, 1906, he was fined $100 in the Court of Criminal Correction for carrying a concealed weapon.

May 20, 1907, he was fined $25 for assault and battery.

Oct. 29, 1907, he was fined $10 in the First District Police Court for disturbing the peace, but appealed to the Court of Criminal Correction and was acquitted there.

Nov. 6, 1907, three charges of disturbing the peace were continued generally in the First District Police Court.

March 5, 1908, he was fined $25 in Police Court for disturbing the peace. He appealed to the Court of Criminal Correction, but had to pay.

Sentenced for Attacking Policeman.

In April, 1906, he was charged with assault to do great bodily harm on a man in a bootblack parlor. Sept. 12, 1906, he was convicted and fined $100 and sentenced to three months in the workhouse. He appealed and was out on bond when he attempted to kill Policeman Stapleton. This was Feb. 10, 1907.

He and other members of the Bottoms gang attacked Stapleton at Twenty-third street and Franklin avenue and knocked him down. Stapleton fired two shots. Foley twisted Stapleton's revolver away from him and fired at Stapleton. Foley was convicted of assault to kill March 28, 1907, and his sentence was five years in the penitentiary. He appealed and the verdict was affirmed Feb. 13, 1909. In the meantime Foley's workhouse sentence on the other charge had been affirmed Dec. 5, 1908, and he was in the workhouse when the penitentiary sentence was affirmed. He was paroled March 19, 1909, to go to the penitentiary.

Just before going to the workhouse he was arrested on the charge of selling liquor without a license, but the case was continued generally.

The police records show that Foley was arrested many times on suspicion and was not sent into court. He was connected with the West End Physical Culture Club.

Tuberculosis Medicine Saved This Man's Life
Pneumonia is a serious disease, and often lays the foundation for chronic lung troubles—sometimes Tuberculosis results. After Pneumonia, or any serious or stubborn cold, it is wise to take Eckman's Alterative. Don't wait to find out whether the trouble is getting worse, but take Eckman's Alterative in time and avoid the dangers of disease. Read of the recovery in this case:
336 No. 41st St., Phila., Pa.
"Gentlemen: I am getting along very nicely and gaining strength all the time. I now weigh 154 pounds, a gain since Sept. 16, 1907, of 28 pounds more than when I first started to take the Alterative. I wish I had known of it two years before, as it would have saved me much misery and distress. I was suffering from a very serious abscessed lung, which followed a bad attack of pneumonia. My physician and a specialist declared my case hopeless. I cannot but be thankful to you and the Almighty God for the great blessing and change of health it has brought me."
(Sworn Affidavit) THOS. REILLY.
(Five years later, reports good health.)
Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. For sale by Raboteau Drug Co., Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., Judge & Dolph Drug Co. and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

Red Ribbon Thursday---Autos Will Call

REMBRANDT PORTRAIT----

MRS. WILLIAM DEE BECKER

Anti-Tuberculosis Society to Sell Offerings and Assist Patients—Scarlet Streamer on Window Means Donation Package Is at Door, to Be Taken Away.

Fifty automobiles are to start out Thursday morning to gather up old papers and magazines to be sold for the benefit of the St. Louis Society for the Relief and Prevention of Tuberculosis. They will be sent out under the direction of Mrs. William Dee Becker of 4043 Lindell boulevard.

Most of the machines will be driven by members of the Chauffeurs' Club, who have volunteered to do the work without pay. The machines will be kept going all day. Society women in them will keep a sharp lookout for red ribbons fluttering from window shutters and door knobs. The red ribbons will be the sign that bundles of papers and magazines are at the door to be carried away.

The bundles will be taken in the small machines to a rendezvous, where auto trucks will be waiting to carry them to the delivery point, where an agent of a paper mill will receive and pay for them.

The money realized from the sale of the papers and magazines will be used in the care of the more than 500 tuberculosis patients that on the lists of the society.

WOMEN BEHAVE BETTER THAN MEN AFTER MARRIAGE

Court Statistics Show Mothers-in-Law Break Up One-Fourth of the Homes.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—A card index kept by Judge William Gemmell of the Court of Domestic Relations has been tabulated by the Judge and shows that men are far less reliable than women in the married state and that illness and mother-in-law are equal in responsibility for wrecked marriages, causing half of them.

Following Judge Gemmill's tabulation of the causes of broken marriages: Young and hasty marriages, 15 per cent; illness, 25 per cent; interference of mothers-in-law, 25; interference of children in second marriages, 10 per cent; ungovernable temper, 7 per cent; whisky and drugs, 15 per cent; miscellaneous, 3 per cent.

"It is a surprising fact," said Judge Gemmill, "but the statistics of this court show that an incredible number of men have little compunction in abandoning their families to chance. Almost no women desert their families under pressure of want. They are far superior to men as stickers."

Injunction Denied.

News was received in St. Louis Tuesday that the Supreme Court of Montana has sustained the decision of the lower court in denying an injunction to J. C. Somerville, William Mayger and others, who applied for an order restraining the Board of Directors of the St. Louis Mining and Milling Co. of Montana from collecting an assessment levied by the board to pay off its indebtedness and erecting a cyanide plant for extracting gold from the tailings accumulated under the old process. This decision will be gratifying to the stockholders, a number of whom are residents of St. Louis.

April 10, 1907. JOSEPH PULITZER.

DIXON'S MATHEMATICAL PROPHECY.

No other campaign manager has ever issued as remarkable and explicit a line of political prophecy as Bull Moose Chairman Dixon.

He takes the 6,409,000 votes cast for Bryan in 1908, and by magical methods that ought to attract the attention of the Society for Psychical Research, ascertains that precisely 1,000,000 of them were foreign born. By the same methods he obtains the confidential information that 800,000 of the 1,000,000 foreign-born will not vote for Wilson; also that 500,000 workingmen, and 408,000 of other Democrats—the common or garden variety presumably—all of whom voted for Bryan, will not vote for Wilson. Bryan voters of 1908 who will be Wilson voters in 1912 are pretty well whittled down by the time all these have been subtracted, but he graciously adds 769,900 from Taft's 1908 vote and 180,000 of this year's first voters and gives Wilson a total of 5,649,000. Knowing the exact number of votes Wilson, Taft, Debs and Chafin will not get, it is the simplest thing in the world for Mr. Dixon to add them all up and credit the total 6,117,000 to the Bull Moose.

He figures 411,000 popular plurality for Roosevelt but only 21 more than a majority in the Electoral College. But with only 600,000 popular plurality McKinley got 47 more than a majority in the Electoral College. Harrison, who lacked 98,000 of a popular plurality, got 31 more than a majority in the Electoral College. Mr. Dixon is not as happy in distributing majorities among the states as he is rolling up the vote before the election.

New York State alone would wipe out the 21 majority in the Electoral body. The Colonel will not carry New York. Any one of a number of other states he is claiming but will not get would wipe the 21 out.

BREAKING THE ICE.

The first of the Titanic widows to marry necessarily causes a to-do. Her late husband's irate father alleges that her remarriage so soon after the tragedy proves her unfit to have the custody of her child by the deceased who chivalrously sank with the ship. Something of the kind was to have been expected.

How unsympathetic, unreasonable, fault-finding, and how like a father-in-law. The remarriage of Titanic widows had to begin some time, and one of them had to be the first. The ice had to be broken. The critics, scolds and fathers-in-law had to be faced and the great brunt of censure borne by the leader. It required the courage of the pioneer; it took sheer bravery above that with which gallant late husbands welcomed the embrace of Neptune; it was the supreme test of fortitude to be the first to doff weeds and brave society in a wedding gown.

In his essay upon criticism the immortal epigrammatist laid down the rule of good taste:

Be not the first by whom the new is tried
Nor yet the last to cast the old aside.

But we are disposed to waive the fussy niceties of the case in our larger appreciation of the heroism, and we feel sure that other widows will be similarly disposed towards the woman who blazed the way. She has made it easier for all of her bereaved sisters who may be taking notice. Hereafter the marriage of a Titanic widow will be a commonplace scarcely provoking a raised eyebrow, much less a cruel slur.

REAL FIGHT ON RODENBERG.

One of the interesting congressional fights in the Mississippi Valley is the fight in the Twenty-second Illinois District, composed of St. Clair, Madison, Bond, Monroe and Washington counties, opposite St. Louis. The Republican nominee, W. A. Rodenberg of East St. Louis, is now serving his sixth term. He is one of the few typical Cannon stand-patters who survived the storm of 1910, though his majority over Bruce Campbell, 4237, showed a sharp decline from previous majorities, for instance, the 7767 he got four years before.

Conditions this year are different from any Mr. Rodenberg has previously faced. William N. Baltz of Millstadt, nominated unanimously by the Democrats, is as representative a farmer and progressive Democrat as Mr. Rodenberg is a lawyer and stand-pat Republican. Mr. Baltz declined to accept corporate contributions to his campaign fund and is making his canvass on the inequitable, unjust, trust-fostering features of the tariff, to which subject he has devoted much study. As a Supervisor of St. Clair County he led the movement a few years for the clean-up at the county seat, resulting in the recovery of $25,000 in public funds, and his personal platform pledges him to fight graft and money domination in higher places.

TAFT SHOULD BE ASHAMED.

The one conspicuous conclusion to be drawn from Mr. Taft's ridiculous claim that prosperity depends upon the excessive protection of the Payne-Aldrich law is that if he be re-elected, the present carnival of plunder under high tariffs will be continued four years more.

His statement that the certainty of tariff reform will be followed by the closing of mills is the usual threat of the political agents of protected interests to stop industry and throw the country into depression unless they are permitted to enjoy robber privileges which oppress the people and which the people demand shall be taken away from them. The threat has been made so often that it is worn out as a political bugaboo.

How little industry is now affected by the certainty of tariff reform is proved by the fact that in the face of a Democratic majority in the House of Representatives, the expected election of Woodrow Wilson and the certainty that the House will again be Democratic and that the Senate, if not Democratic, will contain enough Democrats and insurgent Republicans to vote a radical reduction of excessive protective duties, business is flourishing.

There is far more ground for claiming that the revival of business is due to the certainty of Democratic success than that it is due to any policies that Mr. Taft has maintained. It follows Democratic success in the congressional elections, after a Republican panic, and persists in increasing degree when the whole country confidently looks forward to the election of a Democratic President.

The 1907 panic came in Roosevelt's administration. Business depression continued during three years of the Taft administration and is disappearing with the country's conviction that he and his party are doomed to overwhelming defeat in all the November elections.

The people recognize the gross injustice of the Republican privilege system. If Mr. Taft's threat that this wrong cannot be righted without disaster and his argument that, therefore, it must not be righted is accepted, then the American people admit they are slaves of wrong. They admit that they dare not execute their will, but must submit to the will of masters who are more powerful than they.

Have the American people fallen to this level?

But nothing could exceed the falsity of Mr. Taft's intimation that Democratic success with the promise of tariff reform is the cause of panics. Mr. Taft should be ashamed to so twist facts to his political purpose. With the exception of the two Cleveland terms the Republican party has been in power since the war. Every panic during that period has originated under Republican rule. The panic of 1873—the worst of all, when the country passed through an agony of disaster—was wholly Republican.

Under Cleveland's first term the country was prosperous and there was a handsome surplus in the treasury. The Harrison administration left a deficiency and a money panic for Cleveland's second administration to deal with. The wildest imagination would not class the tariff reform accomplished by Mr. Cleveland as radical.

Mr. Taft's statement of the cause of the 1893 panic is refuted by convincing evidence from Republican sources. Herbert Croly who, with the assistance of James B. Morrow, editor of the Cleveland Leader, published the only authorized life of Mark Hanna, ascribes the panic to Republican policies. The McKinley tariff law was enacted in Harrison's administration and Mr. Croly says:

> By a few reductions in the existing schedules they might have quieted the anti-tariff agitation for a long time without doing any injury to the protection system, but the beneficiaries of the tariff were in the saddle, and they pursued the opposite course. Rates were raised all along the line. The surplus was abolished largely by the simple device of spending it. The revenue was reduced by making duties which were almost prohibitory entirely so, and by abandoning the large income from the duty on raw sugar, which, at that time, was produced only in small quantities in this country. * * * THE EFFECT OF THE BILL WAS TO RAISE PRICES ALL ALONG THE LINE. * * * The Treasury was embarrassed by a deficit resulting from a combination of industrial depression and the Republican tariff and appropriation acts of 1890.

Mr. Cleveland had to maintain gold payments and Mr. Croly adds, "the administration was made responsible for the disasters which it had worked heroically to avert."

Here is Republican testimony that it was not systematic tariff reform or the fear of it, but Republican tariff excesses and extravagances that caused the panic of 1893.

The recent panic was wholly Republican. The Republican party cannot escape responsibility for the disasters of its long tenure of power.

The truth is the artificial conditions created by excessive Republican tariffs breed panics. They enable the Lords of Privilege to control markets, industry and commerce and to use their power alternately to coerce and plunder the people.

"The system by which the public interests—financial, industrial, commercial—are dominated and controlled by masters for their own benefit, must be broken. It is evident that neither Taft nor Roosevelt intends to break the power of the masters.

The only candidate who is pledged to do it, intends to do it and will do it is Woodrow Wilson. In doing it he does not propose to injure legitimate business or to adopt revolutionary remedies, but he does propose to destroy plunder privileges and to stop illegitimate business practices. He proposes to free the Government and the people from all masterships.

THE BEST PULITZER MEMORIAL.

On this first anniversary of Joseph Pulitzer's death the best memorial of his great work for American journalism as the most potent factor in the progress of democratic civilization is the Post-Dispatch platform which stands at the head of our editorial page.

This utterance of Mr. Pulitzer on his retirement in April, 1907, embodies in brief space his own ideals which made him the foremost journalist of his time and his newspapers powerful influences for the public welfare. They continue to be the ideals of the staffs of his newspapers and living forces in the progress of journalism toward the highest public service. These ideals are standards by which all newspaper men may guide their labors and test the value of their work.

The Post-Dispatch has learned by experience how profoundly the Pulitzer platform influences the public mind. It is a standard of criticism which is frequently applied, with rigid fidelity, to the Post-Dispatch by its readers.

If he must dwell on the painful subject of panics why does Mr. Taft hark all the way back to 1893 when 1907 is so handy?

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Candidate Erman Explains Vote.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The attached clipping (urging voters to scratch Henry C. Erman) was taken from Sunday's Post-Dispatch.

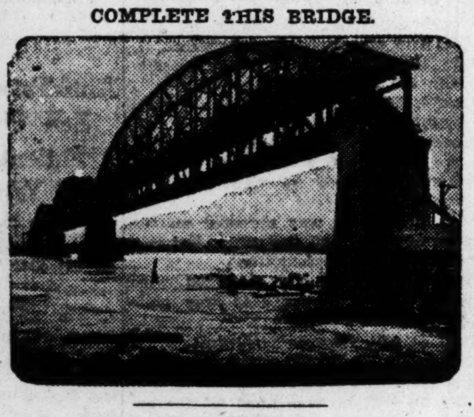
I have no apologies to make for voting against the Municipal Courts bill, and I should vote against it again if it was presented in the same form. I have a practical conception of what kind of laws the people of St. Louis require to govern our city and I will say that Hiram Lloyd had no influence whatever on me to vote against this bill as I voted on my own conviction.

The 16 representatives from St. Louis who were in the Legislature, canvassed the various districts which they represented, and found that 85 per cent of the people were opposed to this bill in the form in which it was introduced. There were a good many broad-minded Democrats from the rural districts that saw some of the bad features of this bill and also voted against the bill.

I have lived in St. Louis all my life and if this Municipal Courts bill was formed and gotten up in the right shape, I should vote for the bill. I am drafting a Municipal Courts bill, which I will introduce if I am elected, which, I believe, will meet the approval of all the people of St. Louis, with the exception of a few.

HENRY C. ERMAN.

COMPLETE THIS BRIDGE.



IN MEMORIAM.

Joseph Pulitzer died Oct. 29, 1911.

Atoms from the aeons of time fall swift away,
Unto the aeons speedeth the atom, today;
Yesterday hath harbor upon the sea of time,
Yesteryear hath wharfage then in port sublime;
Eternity hath script upon her granite scroll:
"No atom from the ages lost—today is but toll
God lays on time." He who hath the battle fought, Stands record thro' the ages, all his hand hath wrought!

Brave voyageur who bent his sail from earth's decay,
Anchorage hath found beyond hazard of today—
No thrall, no bounds, forever free—
Farewell! Godspeed! Farewell to thee.

Vandal to idols, he tore with hand of iconoclast
The fetish robes from truth, with trappings of the past.
Thrown far the line o' type where ancient pens have lied,
In highways the Printer trod hoary myths have died!
Wreckers of ageworn phrensys, bigotries of creed, Knight of humanity, his lance met the hour and need—
Untarnished lies his sword and shield
Beside his mail, on honor's field!

Insensate orbs shall perish in aeonic night,
Mind of man knows not decay thro' aeons flight,
Mind that was, forever is, death is but the gate
Of progress to the God-like planes of mind's estate—
Bring lillies here today and bring the rose in bloom,
Majestic flowers of faith and love to deck this tomb:
"O God of man, we bow to thee," so shalt thou pray—
"Let us depart in peace, as friend of yesterday."

Yesterday from carnate now, sped from the gross is free—
O'er the sands and o'er the tide of dim eternity
The sailor's call floats back again:
"Farewell; Godspeed!" Hope's glad refrain!

And we who wreathe his tomb, or stand in pensive mood
May say in truth of Pulitzer: "All he wrought was good."
Time shall score for history upon her granite page:
"Better the earth this man hath lived his hour and age!"
O captain with the yesteryears! O genius ever bright!
Who treads the pillared aisles of time to mind's delight
And knows the architect of space
Who coined the soul and gave it place!

THE WOLF'S WHELPS.

COST OF REAL ESTATE LOANS.

From the Real Estate Bulletin.

There is not a real estate agent of our acquaintance—and we know nearly all of them—who does the things imputed by the author of the letter (signed "Lewis T. Bell," which appeared in the Post-Dispatch recently.) The Rules and Regulations of the Real Estate Exchange forbid it! The exchange should not be held accountable for the unfair act of some one agent, especially when unaware of that act, if committed. Let us get down to the facts in the case:

First deeds of trust on city real estate bring in interest, 4, 4½, 5, 5½ and 6 per cent. The interest is based entirely on the amount of the loan, the duration of the loan and the security. An agent charges a commission according to the amount of the loan, the highest commission being 2½ per cent for a loan for three years; that amount of commission is the regular charge for small loans. Renewals of loans rarely bring over 1 and 1¼ per cent. There are some who charge even less. Now, a loan at the rate of 6 per cent and a charge of 2½ per cent commission for negotiating the loan, will cost the borrower just 6.83 per cent, no more and no less. Should the borrower desire a renewal of the loan for three years more at the termination of the other loan, the interest will average for the six years just 6.63.

The above rate of interest is the maximum rate charged by all agents who are members of the exchange, and we believe it to be true that all agents charge the same, whether members of the exchange or not.

IS THE WHOLE STORY TOLD?

From the Indianapolis News.

It has now been shown that the Roosevelt preconvention fund amounted to $935,445, which is a considerable "raise" over the modest two or three hundred thousand dollars, the amount originally said to be the correct one. Of this almost a million dollars, Flinn, Perkins, Munsey and Hanna gave more than one-half, or $561,000. We do not for a moment imagine that the whole story has yet been told. A few days ago only about $400,000 had been uncovered. In the light of the fuller information we can all now see that it would have been foolish to believe that no more than $400,000 had been given. It would be quite as foolish to believe that we have even yet reached the ultimate truth. Perkins, Flinn, Munsey and Hanna alone contributed several hundred thousans dollars in excess of what the total fund was at first said to be.

JUST A MINUTE.

Written for the Post-Dispatch by Clark McAdams.

REPUBLICAN SPEECH.

NOW, friends, I do not want to appear to be in any way desperate, but this is the last time I shall address you in behalf of the Republican party, and I must therefore develop as much horsepower as possible. The enemy is everywhere very active, the battle rushes to its close, and it is no time for birdshot.

I want to warn you finally against having too many ex-Presidents. They are a great care, it is almost impossible to keep them in bounds, and too many of them could very soon ruin the country. Let us consider, for instance, what we would have done these last six months with twice the hubbub occasioned by one ex-President. You may well blanch. It would have been terrible.

Now, friends, a great many people consider it highly disgraceful to have even one ex-President going around with nothing more to do than to try in some way to be President again. They think it is utterly beneath our national dignity to have that sort of thing going on, and the most of us, I am sure, will agree that it is. Let us consider, then, what it would be like to have two ex-Presidents always at large, how much of our national dignity would survive the scandal, whether we would not cheapen the presidency itself, and what a campaign would be like with the two regular parties opposed in the field by the third party of one ex-President and the fourth party of another ex-President still.

Now, friends, unlike poets, ex-Presidents are made. If you reject Mr. Taft, you make an ex-President of him. Whatever his qualifications for the office he holds, he is far better there than he would be at large. That is all, friends. Even a bad President is sometimes preferable to too many ex-Presidents. You have been very kind throughout the campaign. No one could have been sweeter. I thank you from the bottom of my heart. Adieu and farewell.

REMEMBER.

When you're sitting by the firelight deeply troubled
And you're wondering what's the matter with the times;
When the cost of what you buy has nearly doubled
And has brought your hordes of dollars down to dimes;
And you feel that you are losing all your ginger
When you see misfortune hitting fore and aft,
And life's one vain regret, don't let yourself forget,
That you voted once for Taft,
Old head,
Just remember that you voted once
for Taft.

When you try to figure out a way
And you wonder now just what's the best to do;
When you see that day by day you're losing ground
And life for you has lost its golden hue;
And your summer clothes are far too thin for winter,
When the chilly winds are blowing
fore and aft,
And life's one vain regret, don't let yourself forget
That you voted once for Taft,
Old scout,
Just remember that you voted once
for Taft.

THE EIGHTH WONDER.

"I don't know. If Col. Roosevelt isn't a good Mormon, it is very strange. He is a good everything else."

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

MRS. M. B.—Lice on canaries: Wash in a bath strongly impregnated with alum. In dry weather let bird bathe in a weak solution of alum. Keep perches and cage always clean and dry. Scald the perches thoroughly.

A. C.—Cider: Apples are first reduced to pulp in a mill, and the pulp afterwards subjected to pressure. The apple juice is placed in casks in a cool place. When fermentation begins, part of the sugar is converted into alcohol, and a clear liquid is obtained which can easily be racked off from sedimentary matter. Only soundest fruit should be used. An Illinoisan says: For several years I have served deliciously pure sweet cider which I made by grating winter apples on my lemon grater and then putting the pulp through the jelly bag. This is not the tedious process it might seem, as it only required a short time to prepare enough for a gallon of juice.

J. L.—To keep apples: An Iowan says: "Take apples as soon as gathered. Get good, tight barrels or boxes, line the bottoms and sides with paper, then with a vessel of water by your side and a pile of paper take the sound apples without worms or bruises, dip each apple in the water and wrap it in a piece of paper, and place in the box or barrel, laying a sheet of paper between each layer of fruit. When the box or barrel is full head or nail up tight. They can be kept almost anywhere except in a warm place. I usually place them against the north side of the house, throw some old trash or carpets over them and let them go. If one rots it will not affect the rest, and the flavor grows better to the end. I have kept them in this manner for the last 10 years, and they keep until May or June."

HOME LAUNDRESS. — Tailored waists and skirts: Dissolve as much starch as you think you will require in cold water until you have a mixture of the consistency of cream. Pour upon this boiling water from the kettle, stirring thoroughly until it is smooth and clear and of the right thickness. Boil for one minute, keeping the spoon going constantly; put in a bit of paraffin—a piece as large as a walnut for a gallon of starch—and take from fire. Dip the washed waists into the warm starch; shake hard and clap between the hands to make sure the starch is evenly distributed throughout the garment. Dry quickly and dampen down for some hours, using hot water to sprinkle them. To "put a gloss" upon the waists, iron hard; throw the whole weight of the upper part of the body upon the iron; press firmly, but do not thump; iron both sides if you would do the work in the very best style. A garment will keep clean longer if this is done.

LAW POINTS.

C. T. W.—Your home being in Missouri, you cannot vote in Texas.

ANXIOUS.—We cannot advise you in reference to the bill for repairs against the estate as the answer depends upon the circumstances and certain facts as to the estate itself. See an attorney.

POLITICAL.—A candidate for President may have a majority of the popular vote and yet not be elected. Every vote more than enough to elect a State's electors, who choose the President, is lost.

A. Z. R.—The principal note will be outlawed 5 years after its maturity; in other words, being payable 5 years after its date the limitation would set in 15 years "after its date" in your case the year 1920. As long as the note is good the deed of trust will be also.

G. C. M.—Only 10 per cent of husband's wages may be garnished at any time, no matter how many proceed against him. Actions of this kind generally result in loss to the creditors, as each time they try to get the 10 per cent a new action must be brought. Harassing employer is what hurts most.

X. Y. Z.—We have extradition treaties with all countries save Bulgaria, China, Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, Egypt, Greece, Honduras, Korea, Morocco, Paraguay, Persia, Portugal, Roumania, Siam, Uruguay and Venezuela; and for different offenses in different treaties, but for murder, arson, robbery, counterfeiting and forgery in all; for burglary, embezzlement, abduction, obstruction of railroads and for crimes at sea in a majority of all, and for larceny, fraud, bigamy, perjury and others in a few more.

MISCELLANEOUS.

W. B.—Phone Election Commissioners, city hall phone.

LYONS.—"Palmer and Buckner" was the Democratic gold ticket in 1896.

HAUGHT.—There are clinics at Jefferson and Lucas and Grand and Caroline.

C. H. — Either is correct — fresh pickled pigs' feet or fresh pickled pig feet.

KELLEY.—Fireman must be citizen of St. Louis and resident here two years. Age 21 to 35. Need not be registered voter. File application at Fire Department Headquarters, city hall.

READER.—In mail order business, manufacturer sells directly to the individual. For full information try writing Mail Order Journal, Chicago, Ill.; Mail Order World, Lockport, N. Y.; Mail Order Man, Philadelphia, Pa.

WARD.—The word homoeleramy means "a process of dividing into equal allotments;" from the Greek words "omoios," equal, and "kleroma," an allotment. No such Greek compound is given in Liddell and Scott's Lexicon, or in the Century Standard or Webster dictionaries.

GEORGE.—Missouri State Senators 34, Representatives 142. Members of each house, $5 a day first 70 days of regular session, and for 120 days of revising session; after that, $1 a day. Senatorial term 4 years, Representative 2. New Legislature will be elected Nov. 5. For 1911-12 see State Manual, Public Library.

CONSTANT.—Governors of Missouri: Benjamin Howard was Governor of the Upper Louisiana Territory in 1812-13; William Clark Governor of Missouri Territory from 1813 to 1820, appointed by President Madison; Alexander McNair was next, then came Frederick Bates, Abraham J. Williams, John Miller, Daniel Dunklin, Lilburn W. Boggs, Thomas Reynolds, M. M. Marmaduke, John C. Edwards, Austin A. King, Sterling Price, Trusten Polk, Hancock Jackson, Robert M. Stewart, Claiborne F. Jackson, Hamilton R. Gamble, Willard P. Hall, Thomas C. Fletcher, Joseph W. McClurg, B. Gratz Brown, Silas Woodson, Charles H. Hardin, John S. Phelps, Thomas T. Crittenden, John S. Marmaduke, Albert P. Morehouse, David R. Francis, William Stone, Lon V. Stephens, Alexand M. Dockery, Joseph W. Folk, Herbe S. Hadley. Of these all were Dem crats except Fletcher, McClur Brown and Hadley.

GAMES FOR CHILDREN. — Halloween games are childish. apple race makes fun. It is ways with partners, each walki rapidly with a tablespoon stretched in one hand and balanci a good sized apple in the bowl. or he who carries the apple to appointed goal will wed happily; woe to the person whose fruit bies from the spoon. This is the third story from the "Red Cross Girl" book, by Richard Harding Davis, which Col. Roosevelt read while in the Chicago hospital.

LESTER FORD, London correspondent of the New York Republic, while dining with his friend, Maj. Bellew, proposes that fellow guests dress as German soldiers, appear on the Norfolk coast, as a sensational novel, "The Riddle of the Sands," says the Germans may, and see what will happen. They show themselves at Cromer as golf enthusiasts, go away in an auto and appear at Stiffkey as German soldiers, ordering villagers about and announcing the invasion.

HERBERT BELLEW, nephew of the Major and a student at Oxford, agrees to go with Ford on the lark to show his uncle that Oxford students have as much life in them as ever.

PHIL. BERRELL, friend of Herbert's, joins the fake German expedition to Norfolk.

PART III.

TWO miles further along the road to Cromer, young Bradshaw, the jobmaster's son at Blakeney, was leading his bicycle up the hill. Ahead of him something heavy flopped from the bank into the road, and in the light of his acetylene lamp he saw a soldier. The soldier dodged across the road and scrambled through the hedge on the bank opposite. He was followed by another soldier, and then by a third. The last man halted.

"Put out that light," he commanded. "Go to your home and tell no one what you have seen. If you attempt to give an alarm you will be shot. Our sentries are placed every 50 yards along this road."

The soldier disappeared from in front of the ray of light and followed his comrades, and an instant later young Bradshaw heard them sliding over the cliff's edge and the pebbles clattering to the beach below. Young Bradshaw stood quite still. In his heart was much fear—fear of laughter, of ridicule, of failure. But of no other kind of fear. Softly, silently he turned his bicycle so that it faced down the long hill he had just climbed. Then he snapped off the light. He had been reliably informed that in ambush at every 50 yards along the road to Blakeney, sentries were waiting to fire on him. And he proposed to run the gauntlet. He saw that it was for this moment that, first as a volunteer and later as a Territorial, he had drilled in the town hall, practiced on the rifle range, and in mixed maneuvers slept in six inches of mud. As he threw his leg across his bicycle, Herbert, from the motor-car farther up the hill, fired two shots over his head. These, he explained to Ford, were intended to give "verisimilitude to an otherwise bald and unconvincing narrative." And the sighing of the bullets gave young Bradshaw exactly what he wanted—the assurance that he was not the victim of a practical joke. He threw his weight forward and, lifting his feet, coasted downhill at 40 miles an hour into the main street of Blakeney. Ten minutes later, when the car followed, a mob of men so completely blocked the water-front that Ford was forced to stop. His head-lights illuminated hundreds of faces, anxious, sceptical, eager. A gentleman with a white mustache and a look of a retired army officer pushed his way toward Ford, the crowd making room for him, and then closing in his wake.

"Have you seen any—any soldiers?" he demanded.

"German soldiers!" Ford answered. "They tried to catch us, but when I saw who they were, I ran through them to warn you. They fired and——"

"How many—and where?"

"A half-company at Stiffkey and a half-mile farther on a regiment. We didn't know then they were Germans, not until they stopped us. You'd better telephone the garrison, and——"

"Thank you!" snapped the elderly gentleman. "I happen to be in command of this district. What are your names?"

Ford pushed the car forward, parting the crowd.

"I've no time for that!" he called. "We've got to warn every coast town in Norfolk. You take my tip and get London on the long distance!"

As they ran through the night Ford spoke over his shoulder.

"We've got them guessing," he said. "Now, what we want is a live wire, someone with imagination, someone with authority who will wake the countryside."

"Looks ahead there," said Birrell, "as though it hadn't gone to bed."

BEFORE them, as on a Mafeking night, every window in Cley shone with lights. In the main street were fishermen, shopkeepers, "trippers" in flannels, summer residents. The women had turned out as though to witness a display of fireworks. Girls were clinging to the arms of their escorts, shivering in delighted terror. The proprietor of the Red Lion sprang in front of the car and waved his arms.

"What's this tale about Germans?" he demanded jocularly.

"You can see their lights from the beach," said Ford. "They've landed two regiments between here and Wells. Stiffkey is taken, and they've cut all the wires south."

The proprietor refused to be "had."

"Let 'em all come!" he mocked.

"All right," returned Ford. "Let 'em come, but don't take it lying down! Get those women off the streets, and go down to the beach, and drive the Germans back! Gangway," he shouted, and the car shot forward. "We warned you," he called, "and it's up to you to——"

His words were lost in the distance. But behind him a man's voice rose with a roar like a rocket and was met with a savage, deep-throated cheer.

Outside the village Ford brought the car to a halt and swung in his seat.

"This thing is going to fail!" he cried petulantly. "They don't believe us. We've got to show ourselves—many times—in a dozen places."

"The British mind moves slowly," said Birrell, the Irishman. "Now, if this had happened in my native land"——

He was interrupted by the screech of a siren, and a demon car that spurned the road, that splattered them with pebbles, tore past and disappeared in the darkness. As it fled down the lane of their headlights, they saw that men in khaki clung to its sides, were packed in its tonneau, were swaying from its running boards. Before they could find their voices a motorcycle, driven as though the angel of death were at the wheel, shaved their mud-guard and, in its turn, vanished into the night.

"Things are looking up!" said Ford. "Where is our next stop? As I said before, what we want is a live one."

Herbert pressed his electric torch against his road map.

"We are next billed to appear," he said, "about a quarter of a mile from here, at the signal tower of the Great Eastern Railroad, where we visit the night telegraph operator and give him the surpise party of his life."

THE three men had mounted the steps of the signal tower so quietly that, when the operator heard them, they already had surrounded him. He saw three German soldiers with fierce upturned mustaches, with flat, squat helmets, with long brown rifles. They saw an anemic, pale-faced youth without a coat or collar, for the night was warm, who sank back limply in his chair and gazed speechless with wide-bulging eyes.

In harsh, guttural tones Ford addressed him.

"You are a prisoner," he said. "We take over this office in the name of the German Emperor. Get out!"

As though instinctively seeking his only weapon of defence, the hand of the boy operator moved across the table to the key of his instrument. Ford flung his rifle upon it.

"No, you don't!" he growled. "Get out!"

With eyes still bulging, the boy lifted himself to a sitting posture.

"My pay—my month's pay?" he stammered. "Can I take it?"

The expression on the face of the conqueror relaxed.

"Take it and get out," Ford commanded.

With eyes still fixed in fascinated terror upon the invader, the boy pulled open the drawer of the table before him and fumbled with the papers inside.

"Quick!" cried Ford.

The boy was very quick. His hand leaped from the drawer like a snake, and Ford found himself looking into a revolver of the largest caliber issued by a civilized people. Birrell fell upon the boy's shoulders, Herbert twisted the gun from his fingers and hurled it through the window, and almost as quickly hurled himself down the steps of the tower. Birrell leaped after him. Ford remained only long enough to shout: "Don't touch that instrument! If you attempt to send a message through, we will shoot. We go to cut the wires!"

For a minute, the boy in the tower sat rigid, his ears strained, his heart beating in sharp, suffocating stabs. Then, with his left arm raised to guard his face, he sank to his knees and, leaning forward across the table, inviting as he believed his death, he opened the circuit and through the night flashed out a warning to his people.

When they had taken their places in the car, Herbert touched Ford on the shoulder.

"Your last remark," he said, "was that what we wanted was a live one."

"Don't mention it!" said Ford. "He jammed that gun half way down my throat. I can taste it still. Where do we go from here?"

"According to the route we mapped out this afternoon," said Herbert, "we are now scheduled to give exhibitions at the coast towns of Salthouse and Weybourne, but——"

"Not with me!" exclaimed Birrell fiercely. "Those towns have been tipped off by now by Blakeney and Cley, and the Boy Scouts would club us to death. I vote we take the back roads to Morston, and drop in on a lonely coast guard. If a coast guard sees us, the authorities will have to believe him, and they'll call out the navy."

Herbert consulted his map.

"THERE is a coast guard," he said, "stationed just the other side of Morston. And," he added fervently, "let us hope he's lonely."

They lost their way in the back roads and when they again reached the coast an hour had passed. It was now quite dark. There were no stars, nor moon, but after they had left the car in a side lane and had stepped out upon the cliff they saw for miles along the coast great beacon fires burning fiercely.

Herbert came to an abrupt halt.

"Since seeing those fires," he explained, "I feel a strange reluctance about showing myself in this uniform to a coast guard."

"Coast guards don't shoot!" mocked Birrell. "They only look at the clouds through a telescope. Three Germans with rifles ought to be able to frighten one coast guard with a telescope."

The whitewashed cabin of the coast guard was perched on the edge of the cliff. Behind it the downs ran back to meet the road. The door of the cabin was open and from it a shaft of light cut across a tiny garden and showed the white fence and the walk of shells.

"We must pass in single file in front of that light," whispered Ford, "and then, after we are sure he has seen us, we must run like the devil!"

"I'm on in that last scene," growled Herbert.

"Only," repeated Ford with emphasis, "we must be sure he has seen us."

Not 20 feet from them came a bursting roar, a flash, many roars, many flashes, many bullets.

Map Showing the Sources of the World's Diamond Supply.

Another source of supply discovered in the Belgian Congo will add enormously to the $47,000,000 annual production of precious stones, says this writer for the Post-Dispatch.

By THOMAS McVEIGH JR.

"NEW Diamond Field," flashed a few days ago, the cables around the world from a little spot of blue ground in the Belgian Congo.

"New Diamond Field!" joined commerce in the cry through its men of Maiden Lane and their brother gem experts in every capital.

"New Diamond Field!" echoed adventure, tragedy, romance, keen as ever to take advantage of the find. For mystery and blood have followed the costly crystal from the days in dim antiquity when it glittered its way through Indian mysticism to rest on a gleaming breast or in the hilt of a king's rapier.

The diamond!

It sparkled first in the rich soil of India and rajahs over and over again fought battles and shed blood for it. It has glistened in the eyes of idols and been pried from them by looters' bayonets. For centuries it could be owned only by a king. "It exceeds in value all human things," said Pliny 100 years after the Redeemer had shed on earth the radiance of His personality. "The sin of Judah," said Jeremiah, "is written with a pen of iron and the point of a diamond." And once you find it in Exodus and once in Ezekiel, and that closes its record in the Bible.

The Greeks, three centuries before Christ, called it the "unsubduable stone."

The wise of the middle ages called it "Peacemaker between wife and husband."

A cable of yesterday gave the world the latest news of it.

That news trailed from the Kasai River District in the Belgian Congo, more familiarly known by its former name of the Congo Free State, leads under seas, over continents, across New York, through Liberty street to a doorway marked 32. It keeps on to the elevator, ascends 11 floors, takes you to another door, 1109, enters and finishes its journey at the desk of Fortune—Thomas Fortune Ryan.

It's official and confirmed, it announces, and here it is: In 1906 Mr. Ryan and a group of Belgian capitalists took over under the name of the International Society of Forestry and Mining of the Congo, as a mining concession, 370,000 square miles in the Belgian Congo. Prospectors at work at Mai Munene, on the Kasai River and at the mouth of Kabambaie Creek, 55 miles northwest of Mai Munene, have found diamonds beautifully clear. In two weeks one man found 240 stones. Approximately 600 stones have been found to date for about 75 miles along the Kasai River. The more northerly of the finds are but 15 miles from the head of navigation on the lower Kasai, on which stern-wheelers ply. The largest of the stones weighed about one carat. Further reports, continued "the news" naively, are awaited with interest.

> The Cullinan, found in the Transvaal in 1905, weighed 3025¾ karats and was the greatest ever discovered. Two of the 105 stones cut from it, 516½ and 309 3-16 karats, are the largest in existence.
> The Tiffany diamond, 125⅜ karats, is the largest in the United States.

IT has been 45 years, which takes us back to 1867, since the last diamond discovery news of importance, and that came from a point in Africa, now known as Kimberley, about 1600 miles south of the Kasai River district. Since then, because of that discovery, $600,000,000 has been added to the world's wealth.

It came about in this way:

Burgher Jacobs, to escape British rule in Cape Colony, had settled on a Dutch farm near Hopetown on the Orange River. His children used to play in the sand with bright pebbles for marbles. Neighbor Schalk Van Neikirk noticed one of these pebbles, remarked that it might be valuable, and showed it to one Mr. John O'Reilly, a traveling trader. He in turn took it to Colesberg, cut his initials with it on the window of a hotel and announced that it was a diamond. It found its way to Cape Town, where M. Heriette, French Consul, declaring it genuine, sent it to the Paris Universal Exhibition, where it was bought, a magnificent 21-karat stone, for $2500.

Two years later Mr. Schalk Van Neikirk, still somewhat interested in bright pebbles, picked out of the mud plaster of Neighbor Du Toit's hut an 83-karat diamond, which sold for $50,000. That stone is now famous as the "Star of South Africa."

That was the beginning of the De Beers group of mines, which, with others in the South African Union in the immediate vicinity, furnish the world today with 95 per cent of its diamonds.

The De Beers group in Griqua Land West, South Africa, embracing an area little more than three miles in diameter, consists of five mines, and is by far the greatest producer, as indicated in the returns for 1911 of the South African Union, as follows:

De Beers. 1,924,225 karats, valued at $24,690,430.
Premier. 1,774,206 karats, valued at $7,169,850.
Jagersfontein. 338,831 karats, valued at $4,968,895.
Koffyfontein. 123,933 karats, valued at $1,473,165.

Others, including the Voorspoed, will bring the product of the Union mines to 4,891,998 carats, valued at $43,743,620.

The total output to 1911 of the De Beers group, the mines in the South African Union and others in German Southwest Africa may be placed in value at $600,000,000, and this amount may be doubled again by the cost of cutting and other expenses.

In the De Beers group the greatest depth, 3601 feet, has been reached in the main rock shaft of the Kimberley mine. This highest level, 468 feet, is in the Du Toit.

From 1889 to June 30, 1910, 89,676,316 loads of material have been taken from the De Beers group alone. This would make a mass 500 feet square and 5736 feet high. Yet the diamonds taken from this blue ground could be packed in a case five feet square and four feet high. They would weigh 26,967 pounds troy and would be valued at $405,000,000.

It may be said in this connection that a brilliant cut diamond weighing one carat is worth 1000 times its weight in gold, and this value increases with size.

The mines in German Southwest Africa produced in 1911 798,866 carats, valued at $5,325,000.

Other tabulated returns for 1911 include 2300 carats from the diggings on Gwyder River near Inverell, Australia, and 3025 carats from British Guiana.

No official returns have been published of the yields from Borneo or from the Brazilian mines at Minas Geraes and Bahia, but they have been thrown in the shade by the South African production, just as the Indian mines, so far as the world's supply is concerned, may be said to be extinct.

As to other parts of the world, diamond occurrences have been merely reported in the Ural Mountains, in Lapland, in Siberia and in China where a few black diamonds have been found. Europe has produced very few of the brilliant stones.

DEPOSITS FOUND IN NORTH AMERICA.

IN North America small stones have been found in alluvial deposits, mostly auriferous, in Georgia, North and South Carolina, Kentucky, Virginia, Tennessee, Wisconsin, California, Oregon, Indiana and Arkansas.

Localities have been determined in Arkansas which in 1911 yielded 28 carats per 100 loads of 16 cubic feet output. This production, according to the form adopted in the African reports (0.28 carat per load), is the same as that of the Kimberley mine, but the diamonds are small. One, however, was found which weighed 8⅛ carats, a fine stone and others have been reported found which weighed 2 carats.

In Jefferson County, Ill., near Ashley, several stones have been found, the largest of which weighed 4 carats.

Particular interest has been evinced by American experts in the diamonds found in Wisconsin, Michigan and Ohio near the Great Lakes, for in each case they were found in the glacial drift along the line of the terminal moraine supposed to have spread southward from the region of Hudson Bay.

Generally speaking, however, outside of the mines in South Africa, Brazil, India and Borneo, diamonds may be said so far to merely occasionally occur in the rest of the world. Hence the interest in the recent discoveries in the Belgian Congo.

Of the great diamonds, the Cullinan, picked up in the Transvaal in 1905, was the wonder of the world. It weighed 3025½ carats, was bought by the Transvaal Government for $1,000,000 and presented to King Edward VII. It was cut in 1908 into nine stones and 96 smaller brilliants. The two largest stones thus created are the largest in existence. They weigh respectivly in carats 516½ and 309 3-16.

Others are the Nizam of Hyderabad 279 carats, owned by the Rajah of Wattab and valued at $1,500,000.

The Orloff, 194 carats, valued at $1,500,000 and serving as an adornment in the sceptre of the Russian Emperor.

The Dorya-i-nur and Taj-e-mah, 186 and 146 carats respectively are the property of the Shah of Persia.

Reflections of A Bachelor Girl

By HELEN ROWLAND

NOVELISTS are sighing that romantic love is dying out. Well, if by "romantic love" they mean that monster of vanity, born of imagination, nurtured on curiosity, and covered with a sugar-coating of sentiment, which has ruined so many lives, let it die quickly; it has nothing to do with real love.

Real love is the thing that makes it possible for a woman to kiss a man when his face is covered with shaving lather, and for a man to look at a woman when her hair is in curl papers, and see nothing but a halo.

A man can usually discover everything about a woman but the perfectly obvious; he invariably overlooks that, in trying to find her "hidden meaning."

Of course, every girl wants to be loved for her "real self;" but, somehow, when a man dwells too long on the beauties of her soul, she can't help glancing in the mirror to see what is the matter with her.

A self-made man may boast of his maker; but a self-made beauty keeps her origin dark.

All gall is divided into three parts: cheek, nerve and audacity.

Modern life is just a game of hide and seek, with half the women hunting for husbands, and the other half dodging them.

Canary birds were not made for pot pies, race horses for the plow—nor geniuses for marriage.

One way of being "born for trouble" is to come into the world with a Scotch conscience sticking like a thistle in the side of an Irish temperament.

Husbands appear to come in just two classes; the kind that work so hard that they have no time to be sentimental, and the kind that are so sentimental that they have no time to work.

A man never learns to propose gracefully until he has practised once or twice; and, alas, by that time he is usually married!

ENGLISH TO MAKE WELTER LIMIT IN GO WITH BRONSON

If Omaha Boxer Wins Bout at Coliseum Tonight, He'll Claim the Title.

KILBANE TO PERFORM HERE

Bob Douglas Has Arranged for Featherweight Champion to Box Oliver Kirk.

By CLARENCE F. LLOYD.

As Ray Bronson and Clarence English are to make 142 pounds, the welterweight limit, for their bout before members of the St. Louis Athletic Club at the Coliseum Tuesday evening, the winner will lay claim to the welterweight championship of the world. Bronson claims that honor, although it is disputed by several boxers who are unable to make the legal welter limit.

English has no trouble in getting down to 142 pounds, however, and he figures that inasmuch as Bronson has the best claim to the title, a victory over the Hoosier boxer will see the honors shift.

Bronson and English claim to be in good form for the show tonight. They have met before, and although Bronson scored a victory over the Omaha boy, it was by a narrow margin, and he regards English as too dangerous a man not to be fit for a hard struggle.

Daniels Will Meet Foley.

Next in importance to the main bout is that between Freddie Daniels of St. Joseph and Jimmy Foley, a Canuck, who has been making his home in St. Louis for a year. They are to mix at 133 pounds and those who have seen the boys in action, promise a lively bout. Daniels is the boy who stayed six rounds with Ad Wolgast, the lightweight champion, in Quincy, Ill., last Friday night. He lost the bout but held the title holder pretty close.

The curtain-raiser should also produce a good scrap. It is between "Chick" Hayes, a protege of Ray Bronson, and "Peanuts" Schreibel, a Quincy product. They are bantys. Hayes has been seen here before, his last outing being against Harry Wade, the local performer, whom he defeated.

Kilbane Sure to Show.

Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion of the world, meets Oliver Kirk, the local boxer, in the main event of the show for members of the Business Men's Athletic Club in the Jai Alai Building next Monday evening. It will mark Kilbane's first appearance in St. Louis.

Inasmuch as a good showing against Kilbane will put Kirk in line for a string of good matches, the former M. A. C. amateur has been training faithfully for the scrap and will be on feather edge Monday night for the champion.

Some boxing fans contend that Kirk has more than an outside chance to outpoint Kilbane. The latter is considered a lucky boxer in having met and defeated Abe Attell, the former champion, at a time when the little Yiddisher was going back. Kilbane isn't considered nearly so good as Attell when the latter was at his best.

Secretary Douglas of the B. M. A. C. announces that memberships and reserved seats for the Kilbane-Kirk show may be obtained at the downtown office of the club, 712 Rialto Building. The new phone number is Olive 2129.

Best Local Kicker Will Receive Big Loving Cup

Trophy for College Man Doing Good Work on Gridiron to Be Awarded After Fashion of Chalmers Car.

By W. J. O'CONNOR.

A beautiful silver loving cup, to be awarded after the fashion of the Chalmers Trophy to baseball players, has been offered by the Busch Brewing Co. to the best local football player. A commission of newspaper men has been selected to determine who shall receive the cup and a system of scoring points, worked out by Lyman Donlin, has been agreed on.

The trophy was offered at the suggestion of Nat Klein, father of Eddie and Archie, two well-known local kickers. Mr. Klein takes a lively interest in the college game and believes the players will work harder if there is an incentive such as his employers propose in the way of a big cup.

For a player to win this trophy he must show excellence in all departments of the game and also in conduct on and off the field. Points will be scored as follows:

Offensive play	15
Defensive play	15
Aid to team	7
Aggressiveness	5
Quick thinking	5
Deportment	2
Respect for discipline	1

How the commission ever will determine whether a player is a quick thinker is one phase of the question which Mr. Donlin has not fully explained. Just the same, the points are scored in such a way that a lineman who never makes a touchdown has an equal chance with the scintillating halfback.

Arrangements have been made for the St. Louis U. squad to depart Thursday evening for Omaha, where it tackles the Creighton eleven on Saturday. Coach Dennie INTENDS TO take a squad of 20 men, including the manager and a faculty representative. As yet he has not selected his squad and much will depend on the individual efforts put forth this week.

Jack McCarthy who sustained a bruised hip in Saturday's game with Miami, probably will be taken along as a reward for his past services, but it is certain that he will not play. McCarthy may be in harness for the later games, however.

With the Billikens in Omaha, Washington U. will divide the field with C. B. C. Saturday afternoon. However, in as much as the Pikers have the banner attraction of their schedule—Drake—the Stadium should house the biggest turn out of the year.

While it is not generally considered good college ethics to send scouts out to watch the other teams perform, it is certain that Dennie will have a few wiseacres take a peek at Notre Dame in its game with Pittsburg U. at Smoketown Saturday. Pittsburg has a rattling good team and should give Notre Dame a taste of Ilan life.

Tiger Coaches Fear Ends Will Prove Weak Spot

Princeton Wing Men Have Not Pleased Experts in Their Games So Far.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 29.—The Tiger coaches have planned a week of comparatively light work for the varsity in preparation for the game with Harvard at Cambridge this Saturday. Last week the stiffest week of practice this season for the Princeton team ended in a very hard game. So the coaches decided to give the men an easier week in which to freshen up before the big game. Next week in all probability the team will be worked to the limit and then given another partial rest before the final game with Yale. A minor game with New York University comes on the Saturday between the Harvard and Yale games.

The Tigers will have heavy practice this afternoon and perhaps tomorrow. Thursday will be light, and on Friday they will travel to Auburndale, Mass., where the finishing touches will be put on for the game the next day.

The most trying problem Coach Cunningham will have to solve in these few days is that of the ends. None of the five ends played Saturday were brilliant, though Dunlap showed up better than he has heretofore. He is a little slow yet, he seems to be now the best man for right end.

Andrews is a star at making forward passes but as an end he does not cover the ground he should. He and Fred Trenkman both are easily boxed. Wight bids fair for securing a berth on one wing as he played a pretty game Saturday. His near-sightedness is a handicap to him. Ralph Davis, '94, is here especially to coach the ends. Davis was on John R. De Witt's championship team in 1903.

Saturday's game showed that Princeton's defense is where the coaching emphasis must be laid during the next two weeks. The policy of having the back field stand some distance behind the line, while safest in spoiling a forward pass, allows bigger gains through the lines. This policy was carried out against Dartmouth and the secondary defense always was slow in coming into action.

Capt. Kafer, '03, and Steve McClave, '03, are down here coaching the halfbacks. It seems likely now that the Tiger back field is fixed. Pendleton has not been tried at quarter for some time. Steve Baker is now a reliable general and a safe man to entrust the ball to "Tol" Pendleton, "Hobey" Baker and "Tub" Waller can spell each other at half, while De Witt is able to fill the fullback position without any competition.

Baker and Pendleton will be matched against Brickley at Cambridge Saturday in place kicking and a great deal of attention is being paid to this method of scoring. The two Tiger halfbacks spent much time yesterday in booting the ball over the bar.

Audience Uses Up $3.20 Worth of Time Cheering When Napoleon Boosts Outfielder.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—John J. McGraw, "the little Napoleon of baseball," made his vaudeville debut yesterday, according to the printed program of the Colonial Theater.

If you'd asked one of the hundreds of frantic fans who scrambled for a seat or stood up to see how their hero looked behind the footlights, the information would probably have been vouchsafed you that "Muggsy" McGraw broke into big time for the biggest weekly bundle that a vaudeville manager ever signed up a brush or major Leaguer for, and that he got away with it great."

The manager of the Giants had never showed any enthusiasm when the vaudeville magnates flirted with him before, but the Keith people made him such a tempting proposition this year that even a Napoleon couldn't resist. The exact percentages are not given out, but it is understood that when the gate money has been divided each week McGraw's share will be something like $2500.

Muggsy Is in Bryan's Class.

Mr. McGraw's talk yesterday afternoon consumed about 10 minutes and as he will appear 12 times a week he will be paid about $20 a minute for his time. He spoke probably 500 words, which brings his rate per word to about 41 cents, which puts him in W. J. Bryan's class.

Mr. McGraw was arrayed in a dinner coat and braided trousers of self-figured black, a pleated shirt with French cuffs, a vest of alternate black and white stripes and a huge diamond ring.

Mr. McGraw stepped forward firmly, grasped his manuscript as he might a bat, and while the audience cheered and whistled and made a noise for all the world like a Polo Ground crowd with two out, two strikes and three balls, with the home team one behind, the speaker waited while his salary taxi-metered on at $20 per minute.

He "Boosts" Only One.

As calmly as he has stood beside the bench and signalled his pitcher what ball to throw, when a miscalculation might mean a championship lost, he told some of his experiences as a player and impresario of players. Only once did the spitball of his conversation fail him, and that was when he mentioned the name "Boston."

"B-o-o-o-Boston," he quavered till finally it was out. Several times the audience broke in on his conversation, drowning out $1.30, $2.60 or $3.20 worth of his conversation. One of these periods was when he paid a tribute to Fred Snodgrass, saying he valued him highly as a player and did not hold him responsible for the loss of the series, and another was when he refered to Mathewson as "the greatest pitcher yet developed or who would ever be seen."

At the same time his boss was making his debut, "Rube" Marquard was appearing at Hammerstein's Victoria in a musical sketch with Blossom Seeley, entitled "Breaking the Record, or the Nineteen Straight." As an actor, it is no violation of confidence to say that Mr. Marquard is unquestionably one of the greatest living left-handed pitchers. But a baseball hero is a baseball hero, on the stage or on the diamond, and the audience cheered "Rube's" winning smile heartily.

MORGAN MAKES O'KEEFE LOOK LIKE A NOVICE

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Eddie Morgan of England made Eddie O'Keefe of Philadelphia look like a novice in their 10-round bout, which went the limit, at the Garden A. C. last night. Morgan outpointed O'Keefe in seven rounds, two were even and O'Keefe gained the honors in one chapter. Morgan weighed 120 pounds and O'Keefe 122.

Bill Fleming of Oldtown, Me., and Jack Goodman of the West Side fought 10 rounds. Goodman had the better of the milling. Young Shugrue of Jersey City outpointed Louis de Ponthieu of France in a 10-round bout.

MAJOR LEAGUERS FINED FOR PLAYING ON SUNDAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Hal Chase, Cy Seymour, Louis Drucke, Josh Devore, Nick Altrock, "Germany" Schaefer and eight other stars of the baseball diamond were fined $5 each yesterday in police court for playing professional ball Sunday. The ballplayers told the Court that they did not know they were violating the law. They were arrested while playing.

SHEVLIN READY TO TAKE CHARGE OF OLD ELI LINE

Foster Sanford and Peffelfinger Also Rally to Blue's Aid Before Big Games.

ENDS SOURCE OF WORRY

With Bomeisler's Return Still in Doubt, Avery Fails to Impress Mentors.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 29.—Pudge Peffelfinger, Howard Jones and Foster Sanford, who arrived at Yale field yesterday, plan to develop for Yale a line that cannot be broken through by any of the Harvard or Princeton backs and this work will start at once. The coaches all will be at the field this afternoon and while the force will not be complete until Shevlin comes, the work is going on just the same. The linemen look forward to a severe gruelling in the game with the scrubs this afternoon. Sanford is a hard task master, once he takes charge. There was no scrimmage yesterday.

The expected arrival of Tom L. Shevlin from his western home, is awaited with a great deal of interest here. His work with that of Sanford already here, which has so long been successful at Yale will be thoroughly appreciated. Together the two can probably do more with a line than any two coaches that come to Yale field. But it is not because of fear of Harvard or Princeton that these men are coming this year. It is their annual rounding out of the Yale men.

Some Confidence, Even Now.

The Yale team wouldn't be as good without Shevlin or Sanford, but on its showing so far this year the Yale coaches who have seen Harvard and Princeton play look upon Capt Spalding's team as the equal of either of the other two.

When Shevlin arrives it will probably be for the remainder of the season. Foster Sanford will keep his headquarters in New York, but will be here for nearly all the rest of the season. Shevlin will have general charge of the ends with Harry Vaughan and the other end coaches who come, while Sanford will work with McDevitt and Scully with the rest of the line.

Shevlin's work is certainly cut out for him with the Yale ends. With Bomeisler's return to the game doubtful and question as to how long he will stay after he once is in the game, one position is practically vacant. Avery tries hard and is developing into a good end. He isn't tall enough to reach a forward pass and the other team can generally intercept them.

Gallauer's Playing Disappoints.

Something seems to be the matter with Gallauer that no one can understand. It is true that in the recent games the opposing teams have sent several men against him and boxed him, but even in practice he doesn't seem nearly as good as last year. He plays as if he was fine and overtrained.

Sanford will have to develop another guard right away to fill the place made vacant by the injuries to York and Harbison. The latter has some torn ligaments and the former a sprained ankle. Both would be able to play against Princeton and Harbison probably against Brown. But Yale must be ready with a strong line against Colgate and the chances are that Dutch Arnold will be chosen for the position if he is strong enough. He just returned to the squad after an illness, but has been playing a good game on the second team.

Stovall and His Boss Will Make Bid for Players

Browns' Owner and Leader Will Get Heads Together in California to Arrange Trades.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 29.—Manager George Stovall of the Browns has reached his winter home here and is to be joined tomorrow by Robert L. Hedges, owner of the St. Louis Americans. They are to hold a conference, at which it is said they will prepare to make an offer for several Coast League players.

One is Outfielder Pete Daley of the local (Coast League) team, who is a pal of Stovall's and who wants to join a big league club. It is said he will not consent to his sale to any other big league team but the Browns. Stovall and Hedges are prepared to offer several Brownies, including Shortstop Eddie Hallinan, for the slugging outfielder.

Since his return here, Stovall has heard many nice things about the Coast League players already obtained by the Browns. Three are to graduate to the St. Louis club in the spring. One, Pitcher Leverenz of the Los Angeles club, is rated as the star left-hander of the coast, while Catcher Agnew of the Vernon team is expected to make good in the big show by local fans.

The other Coast Leaguer drafted by the Browns is Outfielder Patterson of the Oakland club. He hit well over .300 all season and is reputed fast enough to rub elbows with the big leaguers.

Harvard Man Predicts a Princeton Victory

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 29.

PAUL WITHINGTON, center coach at Harvard, and an official of the University Athletic Association, does not believe that Harvard will beat Princeton next Saturday. In a statement made in Boston, he says:

"Last year Princeton surprised Harvard, and won 8 to 6. This year the task of defeating the Tigers seems to be doubly hard, and although Harvard is very eager to square accounts, the chances are all in favor of Princeton. Princeton has one of the fastest teams in its history."

Harvard Stars "Marked Men" in Princeton Game

Football Fans Look Forward to Gruelling Battle at Cambridge Saturday.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 29.—With both Harvard and Princeton determined to play their very best game, and under the great strain of keeping keyed up to the pitch under all conditions, the contest Saturday may develop into a duel to see which team can do the other the most deadly harm and do it in such a manner that it will go unnoticed by the officials. The Crimson team last Saturday played very aggressive ball against Brown.

Princeton has a greater record for injuring its opponents, probably more than any other team in the country. This recalls the Tiger game of last year, when three of the Harvard men went out in the first half—Gardiner, Potter and Bud Smith. That game finished Gardiner's football days for all time, and Potter was just able to play in the Yale contest. Yale has always suffered notably from injuries after the Princeton games.

The Crimson will lay for Baker and Pendleton, while the Orange and Black stalwarts will be ever on the alert when Wendell or Brickley come their way.

You smoke a jimmy pipe!

Prince Albert is always the same identical smoke—today, tomorrow—and everywhere! Natural thing, isn't it, for men to call it the national joy smoke.

You buy P. A. in any part of your town or your county—or anywhere in the United States. It's always just as fresh, just as delicious, in Maine or California.

P. A. smokers don't ruin their taste for a bully smoke by being forced to buy unknown, untried, untrue brands! No, sir, right down at the corner they get the goods.

Some fine day you'll smoke a pipe. Then it will dawn upon you that P. A. won't burn your tongue, because the sting's removed by a patented process. Other men—millions of 'em—smoke P. A. to their heart's content and so will you—sure thing!

PRINCE ALBERT

the national joy smoke

Here's tobacco that makes a wonder of a cigarette. Just as good rolled up as packed brimful in a jimmy pipe.

You jump at this red-hot tip, invest in one package of P. A. and get a cigarette smoke like you never did know before.

None of the "running" chaff-brands or fire-brands for you after you get acquainted with P. A.—all sweet and fragrant. Rolls up, easy like, because it's fresh and crimp cut. And it tickles your grouch generator!

Buy P. A. everywhere. In the tidy 10c red tins; 5c cloth bags and handsome pound and half-pound humidors. Go to it!

Smoky Joe and Tris Pay Brief Visit to St. L.

Heroes of Boston Team Stop Over on Way to Texas, Home of Famed Outfiielder.

Among the distinguished baseball callers in St. Louis Monday were Tris Speaker and Joe (Smoky) Wood, heroes of the world's championship Boston club. Tris and Joe are migrating southward and after a brief visit to Tris' home town—Hubbard City, Tex.—they will return and make a fishing trip to Reelfoot Lake, in the night-riders' district.

Neither Speaker nor Wood had much to say about the big series. "It's all over and we're glad we won," was the way Tris dismissed the subject. Besides his fat season's salary and a $4000 bit from the world's series jackpot, Tris received a Chalmers car, boosting his net earnings for the year to approximately $15,000. That's pretty good for a farmer's son.

Art Fletcher, who, with Fred Snodgrass, aided and abetted the Red Sox in beating the minions of McGraw, has returned to his home in Collinsville, Ill. Art arrived Monday and there wasn't a brass band at the station, either.

A morning paper quotes Owner Charles Spink of the Sporting News as saying: "Baseball men say Bresnahan's contract is too one-sided and they intend to starve him out. None of the magnates want him. Baseball men are wondering what he will do while the case against the St. Louis club is pending." If this is true it's important.

Mr. Spink has just returned from Charley Comiskey's hunting camp in the Wisconsin woods. He has his information first hand, but here's a tip. The powers of baseball won't starve Bresnahan out. Not if the legal courts haven't lost their grip.

TIPS AND CUES.

Tonight's Schedule.

At the Rex—Dr. Moore vs. H. Wright, three cushions.

At the Odeon—Casey vs. Lower, three cushions.

At the Hauser—Wolf vs. Burdick, three cushions.

At the Grand—Weckherlin vs. Cornell, three cushions.

At Peterson's—Owen vs. Frerichs, three cushions.

At the Royal—Russell vs. Boice, three cushions; Duffy vs. Chott, pocket billiards.

Maupome trimmed Renaldo, 50—38, in the all-comers' try-out three-cushion tournament at Peterson's. In the class B tournament Morrell easily defeated Fleming, 30—15, in the afternoon match, while Wolff won from Zeuschell, 30—24, in the evening.

Force won from Dalton, 40—33, in the class A tournament at the Rex. The winner averaged .52.

Palmer and Crockwell engaged in a tight tussle in their Class B three-cushion match at the Hauser. The former nosed out, 25—23.

McMahill scored a 25-18 victory over Brittain in the Bell Telephone tournament at the Grand.

Wilson won from Holmes by the narrowest of margins in the Class B event at the Grand, 30—29.

Burdick was a 30-24 victor over James in the three-cushion tournament at the Royal.

Atchison defeated Schlotte in a hair-raising match, 75—74, in the Washington avenue pocket billiard tournament.

Beers met his first reverse in the pocket billiard tournament at the Royal, at the hands of Lombard, 75—73.

CAPT. BUTLER IS BACK IN CORNELL LINEUP

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 29.—The Cornell team had its usual light workout yesterday, consisting of a blackboard talk in Rockefeller Hall in the afternoon and signal practice on the Armory floor at night. Three teams lined up in the Armory and ran through signals. About the same men were in the varsity as played in Saturday's game, except that Capt. Butler was in at quarterback and seemed to be well. Also Champaign, who was injured in the Penn State game, was back at his position as guard.

Lahr and Williams were used at right tackle. Underhill is still out on account of his shoulder, which is dislocated, and it will be some time before he can play. Now that Butler is back in the game, it is a question what will be done with Taber. He proved himself a very valuable man during Butler's absence and there is a possibility that he will be used at halfback hereafter unless he is needed again at quarter.

DE ORO WILL GIVE AN EXHIBITION OF NEW BREAK

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Alfredo de Oro, who is to defend his championship pool honors against Frank Sherman election week at Doyle's, will give some exhibitions at the new style of break, which will be seen in New York for the first time when this match is played.

De Oro has been doing nearly all of his preliminary work down at Tim Flynn.'s Sherman will arrive from Washington Wednesday and top off his training with exhibition bouts at Doyle's. "Ivory Jack" will dig up the sparring partners.

Robidou Is Easy Winner.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 29.—Bobbie Robidou, the former St. Louis boxer, defeated Ernest Lucien of this place in a six-round bout here last night. Robidou apparently could have knocked out his opponent at any stage of the bout.

PIKERS' BATTLE WITH DRAKE MAY INVOLVE TITLE

Des Moines Eleven's Victory Over Kansas Makes It Militant Contender.

By RALPH BRYAN.

With the Rolla game out of the way, the stage is all set for Washington's first big home battle, that with Drake University of Des Moines. This will take place at Francis Field Saturday

The Drake contest is a big one for Cayou's team for several reasons. First it is the only conference game that W. U. is scheduled to play at home and consequently, the only chance St. Louis fans will get to see another Missouri Valley Conference eleven in action. A victory over the visitors would put Washington in a fair line for the conference title.

Then Drake's record in games played so far this season shows the Iowa team to be a formidable one, their chief accomplishment being a 6-0 victory over Kansas. They also have several other victories, with topheavy scores to their credit. They have not been beaten so far this year.

Friendly (?) Rivalry Exists.

There has always been a friendly spirit of rivalry between the two institutions, as they are the sister schools of the Missouri Valley Conference. Both have a small student body to pick from, the strict eligibility rulings and the strained financial conditions, to labor under.

That Cayou expects the hardest game of the season is shown by his remarks Monday. He stated emphatically that the coming week would be one of hard manual labor for each member of his squad, as the program would be stiff scrimmage practice nightly. He also said that any man who was irregular in his attendance would stand a mighty poor chance of getting in the Drake contest.

This week the members of the squad will not have the excuse they had last week for their absences from the nightly practice, as the quarterly exams, the hoodoo of every Pikeway player, are over. Before the Rolla game, the vacancies in the regular lineup were numerous at the daily workout, all being justly attributed to the pressure of studies. McCarthy, Scherer and Hardaway were the main offenders being able to get in only two or three sessions during the week. But a regular attendance is certain this week, with the exams over and the strain removed for a while.

May Be a Few "Cons."

It will not be known for a few days just how the different members of the squad fared with the examinations. Some of them were rather close to the danger line and a few conditions from the faculty would be likely to result rather seriously.

Cayou's boys came through the mixup with Rolla with no more serious damage than a few bruises, which is a good thing as the scrimmaging promised by the coach for the week, will be no place for cripples

Cayou will direct a great deal of attention to the drilling of his ends in preparation for Drake, as their style of play is the open variety, with lots of end runs In Drake, the Washington coach expects to meet a foe with every hit of the scrap that the Rolla eleven showed, aided by a heavier line and a faster and more experienced set of backs. Here is the record of the teams to date:

Washington 48, Shurtleff 7; Washington 0, Illinois 13; Washington 54, Westminster 0; Washington 13, Rolla 6; Drake 96, Parsons 0; Drake 13, Drake Alumni 0; Drake 6, Kansas 0; Drake 28, Simpson 0.

TEAM IS NOT LIKELY TO MAKE LONG TRIP

An English amateur lacrosse team that contemplated a trip to Australia demanded the following: "First-class pasages to and from Australia for 1 players and one manager, all travelling and hotel expenses while the team is in Australia, and an allowance of 3 shillings per day per man from the day the team leaves England until its return." The team is not likely to make the trip.

BAUMGARDNER BUYS HOME FOR HIS MOTHER

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Oct. 29.—With part of the money he received for his services as a pitcher for the St. Louis American League club this season, George Baumgardner of Barbourville purchased a home for his mother on Main street in that place. The home was deeded to her during life, after which it reverts to Baumgardner.

WIRE PENETRATES SCALP OF MAN KNOCKED DOWN

Lockjaw Threatens Victim of Unusual Injury Received in Fist Fight.

A small piece of wire which penetrated the scalp of Louis Reins, 29 years old, when he was knocked down by Charles Inge several days ago, has endangered his life and the police Tuesday began a search for Inge. The wire brought on an infection and lockjaw threatens.

Reins lives at 2205 Dickson street. The police were informed Inge resided at 3419 Market street, but inquiry there failed to find anyone who knew him.

The men quarreled at Twentieth street and Clark avenue last Sunday and the police say Inge knocked Reins down. Later he felt something sticking in his hair. He had his wife feel it. She called in Dr. F. W. Klocke of 2309 Cass avenue, who found that a piece of rusted wire several inches long had run under the scalp and scraped along the skull. He removed the wire, but fears tetanus. Reins says he must have fallen on the wire when his head struck the sidewalk.

Miss Veda Steele to Lecture.

Miss Veda Steele, a former St. Louis girl now playing in "Putting It Over," at the Century Theater, will deliver a lecture in the theater Wednesday afternoon, following the matinee performance, on the subject of "Physical Culture and the Care of the Body." Miss Steele has made a study of this subject for some years, and extends an invitation to St. Louis women to attend. Admission will be free.

BOSTON POLICEMAN IS OUT FOR RING HONORS

BOSTON, Oct. 29.—Angus V. McEachern, who is known as the strongest man in Boston and the mightiest on the police force, is in training as a championship aspirant. He boxes daily with his partners at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. On one occasion he knocked out in 20 rounds three heavyweights who had appeared at local professional contests.

McEachern is to become a professional himself and his eyes are on the championship. He has surpassed Sandow in many feats of strength. He weighs 192 pounds and is 6 feet tall. He is a master of wrestling and jiu-jitsu and boxes cleverly.

McEachern is the partner of John Y. Smith, who was considered the strongest man in Boston before McEachern came into prominence. Smith thinks that the newcomer will make a good heavyweight prizefighter.

Tinker Pinched for Speeding.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Joe Tinker, shortstop of the Chicago Cubs, was arrested and fined $5 for speeding today, while passing through Evanston, a suburb.

PRUSSIAN KING WINS $185,975 ON TURF

The Royal Graditz stud of the King of Prussia has won this season $185,975, which is about $500 less than the German record achieved by the horses of Herren von Weinberg when they were trained by George Walker. The Kaiser's best winner has been Gulliver II, who took the Grand Prize of Hamburg and the North German Derby.

KULAGE'S PARK WILL BE KNOWN AS PASTIME PARK

Pastime Park is the new name of the athletic field formerly known as Kulage's Park. Phil Kavanaugh, the former soccer and baseball star, is in charge of the park, and decided to change its name. Games by teams of the St. Louis Football Association will be played at Pastime Park each Sunday. The opening round of games Sunday follows: Dempseys vs. O'Briens, Ben Millers vs. Yawits team. Winton E. Barker is president, John O'Leary vice-president, and Dave Barrett secretary-treasurer of the new league.

In Memoriam.

In loving remembrance of Frank Henry Intfeld, who crossed the Great Divide Oct. 28, 1910.

In the graveyard, softly sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one I love so dearly
In his lonely, silent grave.
You will never be forgotten,
Never shall your memory fade,
Loving thoughts will always linger
Around the grave where you are laid.

THE BEREAVED WIFE.

Girl Is Collinsville's Prize-Winning Baby

MARGARET HELEN FULENWIDER.

Five-Months-Old Daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Fulenwider Wins Yeomen's Prize.

Margaret Helen Fulenwider does not know it, but she is the prize winning baby of Collinsville. Miss Margaret is not yet five months old so her distinction has not turned her head.

The Brotherhood of American Yeomen held a children's festival Oct. 9 at which the committee named to select the prettiest baby inspected several candidates but kept their decision a secret until Monday evening when the prizes were awarded.

The prize winner is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Fulenwider. The second prize went to Selina Bailey, daughter of City Clerk and Mrs. James Bailey. Prizes for older children were awarded to Bernadine Gehl, LaRue Bowker, Ida Elvis and Fred Dietz.

MEXICO ARRESTS BELGIAN CONSUL; PROTEST CERTAIN

International Complication Thought Likely to Follow—Rebels Active.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—International complications may follow the action of the Mexican Government in arresting the Belgian Consul at Marida, Yucatan, which was today reported to the State Department. There is no explanation of the arrest.

Unless he is released speedily the Belgian Government is reasonably certain to cause an inquiry. Officials here expect the State Department may be requested by the Belgian Government to look into the affair through the agency of the American Consul at Marida.

The collapse of the Diaz rebellion has not exerted any deterrent effect on the activity of the rebels in Southern and Central Mexico.

Reports to the State Department are that they are active in the states of Mexico and Morelos, and even have reappeared in the Federal District, which includes the capital.

Conditions in Northern Mexico are reported to be unusually quiet.

SCRUGGS' ANNEXES CENTURY BUILDING

Another indication of progress in the neighborhood of Tenth and Olive streets as a rapidly growing business center for large retail merchants was demonstrated Monday when the Scruggs-Vandervoort-Barney Dry Goods Co., formally opened the ground floor of its annex in the Century Building. The opening of this annex by the Scruggs firm is its second step toward occupying the entire block bounded by Ninth, Tenth, Locust and Olive streets. In the same neighborhood are the Steinberg store, the Swope, E. H. Powers Co., and the Walk-Over shoe stores, the F. A. Steer Furnishing Goods Co. store, which is being rapidly pushed to completion, and the Whelan-Aehle-Hutchinson Jewelry Co. at Tenth and Locust streets.

For months the Scruggs-Vandervoort-Barney Co. has been rushing work on the new annex and its rapid completion is illustrative of the pushing powers of Melville L. Wilkinson, president of the company. Ever since Mr. Wilkinson took hold of the company he has been spreading out, expanding every department and planning to make the Scruggs store second to none in the West. These additions to the Scruggs concern gives it 15 additional windows for the display of its goods, five on Olive street, five on Locust street and five on Ninth street, and 15,000 square feet of additional space for the display of their merchandise. By a special ordinance passed by the city the company acquired title to the alley that was between the Century and the Syndicate and on this ground has erected a four-story building that now connects its main store with the Century building. In two years the store will take over the entire first four floors of the Century Building, and then the Century Theater will be simply a chapter in the history of St. Louis and the Scruggs concern will have the entire block for four stories.

Mr. Wilkinson has added two new departments to the store, men's shoes and men's hats, and the men's furnishing goods department has been materially increased. In the new annex it is exclusive and contains a full line of all that the title of the department implies.

The boys' furnishings and hat department, formerly on the third floor of the main building, has its own quarters now on the ground floor of the annex. Office furniture will now be handled exclusively on the fourth floor of the main floor.

A feature of the opening of the annex is the many entrances from the main store. In a short time the trunk and bag department of the store will occupy the ground floor of the annex on the Locust street side.

This enterprise on the part of the Scruggs-Vandervoort-Barney Co., it is generally conceded, will do much toward increasing the value of Olive street as a retail business center.

Higher Foreign Money Markets Indicate Advance in Rates.

BERLIN, Oct. 29.—The rise of money rates in Paris and London caused apprehension here of another general advance in the bank rates of England, France and Germany, owing to the troubled political horizon.

Exchange here on London is rising sharply and is already above the gold export point, due chiefly to America financing cotton bills.

There was heavy liquidation on the Bourse. Several provincial failures were reported, and some other concerns are understood to be holding out only by means of the support given them by the big banks. It is feared that a number of firms not thus supported will be unable to meet their obligations at the settlement at the end of the month. The fall since the October settlement has been heavier in many cases than during the time of the Russo-Japanese war.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review, today says:

"It was possibly the reported telegram of the Russian Czar to the King of Servia, congratulating him on his victories, and hinting, according to the newspaper versions of the message, that those successes rendered unnecessary 'outside help' which might otherwise have been asked for.

"This mysterious communication suggested on its face the German Emperor's celebrated wire to Kruger, after the Jameson raid in 1896. It did not, so far as today's dispatches indicate, cause any great commotion in the European foreign office; but it upset the Continent's financial markets and caused renewal of the European liquidation here.

"The Berlin Stock Exchange was particularly depressed; the German open money market rose, and there was talk of a higher Berlin bank rate.

"At Paris Government 3 per cents declined ⅝ of a point and prices of other securities fell—not a wholly favorable turn in events on the eve of Thursday's monthly settlement on the bourse. Consols at London yielded slightly, and the general list of securities declined, Russian 4 per cents falling ¼ point.

Market Is Weak.

"The European perturbation was reflected here even at the opening of business. On the New York Stock Exchange, first prices of stocks with an international market such as Steel Common, Union Pacific, Reading and St. Paul, were nearly a full point under yesterday.

"The forenoon movement, starting from this lower level, was irregular; but Europe continued to sell dirctly on this market, and after the foreign Stock Exchanges had closed business for the day the weakness on Wall street was emphasized, and active shares were 1 to 3 points off from the earlier quotations.

"Taking the day as a whole, the market was not active, but the amount of business done increased considerably on the afternoon decline.

"Neither the money market nor the foreign exchange market was appreciably affected, but the stock market generally closed around the lowest.

"There was no important home financial news to divert attention from the European situation.

"The United States Steel corporation's annual report, which was due for publication late in the afternoon, came in for some prediction and discussion. Estimates on the net earnings for the September quarter ran from $28,000,000 to $32,000,000.

Money in Demand.

"Borrowings by corporations reflected the preliminary demand for accommodation over the Nov. 1 settlement period. This inquiry was insistent, and while it did not cause any sharp advance in rates it had a good deal of influence in the loan market.

"It is clear that the necessity to provide for other November payments in the West was forcing large banks in Chicago and St. Louis to call loans here. There was a great deal of shifting throughout the day, and the offerings of out-of-town money in this market were not important.

"The outgo of cash continued, but the drain to the interior banks through the subtreasury since Friday was less than that sustained on the same days of last week.

"There were indications that Germany would be asked to pay off the few outstanding loans, which the Berlin banks secured here several months ago, and which have been renewed once or twice.

"The volume of this indebtedness is not large, but with the demand for money here as broad as it is, the New York lenders find it more advantageous to employ their funds at home than on the other side.

"The foreign exchange market was a trifle lower. The movement was more or less unsettled by the operations connected with the payment for securities returned by Europe, and the drawing of bills against short-term loans maturing on the other side."

Traders on the Merchants' Exchange Bet on Election.

About $500 was wagered by traders on the Merchants' Exchange, Tuesday, that Roosevelt would receive more votes in the electoral college than Taft. John O. Ballard and George Harsh took the Roosevelt end of the wager for over $300, while Herman Duing and several other traders took the Taft side of the wager. Several bets also were made that Roosevelt would carry more individual states than Taft under the popular vote. All the wagers were made at even money. There was no betting on Wilson.

COTTON MARKET OPENS STEADY, THEN ADVANCES

Forcast for Frost Causes Activity and Strength.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The cotton market opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 4 points. Cables were a shade lower than due and the weather map showed favorable conditions in the South overnight, but there was a continued good demand here from prominent spot brokers and following the Western belt forecast for fair, but colder weather with frost, the market developed increasing activity and strength, with prices making new high ground for the movement.

Realizing by recent buyers and some Wall street selling tended to hold the advance in check, but prices during the middle of the morning were about 12 to 14 points net higher.

There was a continued active demand from the large spot houses, and Wall street sources, later in the forenoon, and while there was a good deal of realizing and some Southern selling, prices made new high ground for the movement, with active months selling about 16 to 19 points net higher, or $3 per bale above the recent low level.

Profit-taking checked the advance around 11.12c for March, and caused slight reactions from the best, but the market was steady at midday and within 3 or 4 points of the top on reports that domestic mills had become urgent buyers of white cotton in the South, owing to the talk of a low grade crop.

Fluctuations were irregular during the early afternoon, and while there was a lot of buying on the dips offerings averaged considerably heavier after prices had shown a net advance of 20 to 21 points, and the market was 6 to 7 points off from the best early in the last hour. Big trade interests were said to have been free sellers on the midday advance. The closing was irregular.

Wool Market Active.

BOSTON, Oct. 29.—Domestic wool buying by the manufacturers continued, with values remaining unchanged. Sales of Ohio fleeces have been somewhat curtailed, although a fair amount of washed delaine has changed hands at 34c. The demand for Michigan fleeces is narrowing but a fair inquiry is reported in Kentucky and Missouri. Territory wools sell freely, with original Montana bringing 23c to 25c, and other territory stock a trifle less. In graded Montanas fine staples sell for 24c. Rather more Texas wool has changed hands lately, with 12 months bringing 21c to 24c. Other products are dull.

Sugar Market Easy.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Raw sugar easy; muscovado, 89 test, 3.55c; centrifugal, 96 test, 4.05c; molasses, 89 test, 3.30c; refined quiet.

Hogs Are Weak.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Hog trade was again demoralized today. Values dropped 10@20c. The top was $8. Cattle—Trade was steady. Fat sheep and lambs are quoted about steady.

TRADING STILL IS QUIET ON LOCAL MARKET

Railways Preferred Sells at $40.75; Bank of Commerce Is Unchanged at $154.

ST. LOUIS CLEARING HOUSE STATEMENT.

	Clearings.	Balances.
Today	$13,663,777	$955,971
Increase	$1,732,768	$108,803

Trade was professional at the early market on the Stock Exchange Tuesday, with the price range on the issues mentioned showing irregular changes. The demand centered in a few securities.

United Railways preferred was fractionally lower on small transfers at $40.75, but closed with that figure bid and offers at $41. The common stock was unchanged at $12.25 offers and no bids, and the bonds steady on a trade at $75.12½.

In the bank and trust list prices were about steady, with odd lots of National Bank of Commerce at $154, the only seller. At the close $153 was bid for this issue and offers at $154. Other stocks showed no important changes on the call.

Commerce sold at $154 at the second session, Brewery bonds at $100 and St. Louis & Suburban 5s at $87.50. Other issues were neglected.

Local Money Market.

St. Louis banks have drawn considerable money away from the metropolitan reserve centers during October and it is probable that bankers' balances at New York have been reduced not less than $12,000,000 this month. However, this condition is entirely seasonable and not to be wondered at, considering the exigencies of crop-moving season.

Rates have been very firm during the first two days of the week at 5½ to 6 per cent and some outside commercial paper, which has commanded a slightly higher figure, has also enabled lending institutions to strike a fair average rate for their funds. Collections have been reasonably satisfactory thus far this week.

Wheat traders Tuesday ignored lower cables, a heavy run of wheat to market in the Northwest, an increase in the European visible for the week of 3,624,000 bu, and more favorable crop reports from Australia, and bought futures at a small advance. Much of the demand was in sympathy with Chicago prices, which were influenced by reports of Armour buying. In the late trade, however, selling wiped out the earlier advance, and closing figures showed small losses.

In Liverpool the wheat market opened steady and unchanged to ⅛d higher. The fact that America displays steadiness in the face of very heavy receipts caused nervousness among the shorts. Later heavy profit taking developed and foreign prices declined ⅜d to ⅞d, with December leading. The very favorable weather and crop news from Argentine, together with an expected liberal increase in the visible, and private forecast of continued large world's shipments led to a poor demand for forward shipments. Liverpool spot markets were easy, with Paris opening weak, and private reports of general pressure in Continental markets.

Liverpool corn opened steady and unchanged, but later declined ¼d to ⅜d in sympathy with wheat and less inquiry for cargoes. The decline was checked by firmness in Buenos Ayres and steadier American cables.

Liverpool wheat futures closed ½d to 1⅛d lower, corn ¼d to ⅜d lower. Paris wheat ⅜c to 1c lower, flour 2c to 7c lower. Antwerp wheat ⅝c lower and Berlin ⅛c lower.

Receipts of wheat at Minneapolis were 431 cars, against 632 last week and 497 last year. Duluth got 549, against 483 and 306, and Winnipeg 961, against 958 and 945. Minneapolis wheat stocks increased 625,000 bu for 3 days.

Local wheat receipts were heavy, totaling 134,400 bu, or 85 cars local and 27 through; last year 59,400 bu, or 52 cars local, 2 through. Corn receipts were 22,800 bu, or 11 cars local, 8 through; last year 45,650 bu, or 20 sacks, 29 cars local, 9 through. Oats receipts were 78,200 bu, or 35 cars local, 11 through; last year 68,000 bu, or 31 cars local, 9 through.

Corn futures were lower on small offers. Cables were easier and the cash demand slack, and the fine weather indicates an unusually early movement to market. Oats were easy in sympathy.

B. W. Snow wired: "As husking progresses my returns of rate of corn yield per acre are coming higher, and it is evident now that the final rate of yield will be very much above anything indicated by previous conditional figures, and well above anything ever before secured."

Minneapolis wired: "Cash market firm, with a general milling and elevator demand. No. 1 Northern blue stem, 1c to 1½c over December; velvet chaff December price to ½c under December; nothing new on flour, demand moderate; all mills running."

Chicago wheat stocks increased 51,000 bu for the week to 5,738,000 bu. Corn decreased 78,000 bu to 1,227,000 bu; oats increased 13,000 bu to 1,633,000 bu. Contract wheat stocks there are 1,787,000 bu; corn, 485,000.

Chicago wheat cars were 168; corn, 204; oats, 664. Estimated Wednesday: Wheat, 29; corn, 178; oats, 499.

American Stocks Are Irregular on the London Market.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—American securities opened irregular and declined on realizing. At noon the market was dull, with prices ranging from ⅛ higher to ¼ lower than yesterday's New York closing. Canadian Pacific was weak and active, but the trading was limited in other shares. The closing was dull. Money was scarce and dearer and discount rates were firm.

LEGAL NOTICE.

Re Frederick Ingle, Deceased.

WHEREAS, Frederick Ingle, late of 24 Queen Anne's Gate, Westminster, in the County of London of Station street, Nottingham, and of Middlefield Colsterworth, near Grantham, in the County of Lincoln, England, contractor, deceased, who died on the 30th day of May, 1912, and whose will was proved in the Principal Registry of the Probate Division of His Majesty's High Court of Justice in England, on the 10th day of June, 1912, by George Neat, of 24 Queen Anne's Gate, Westminster, the surviving executor therein named by his said will, bequeathed the following pecuniary legacies (inter alia), to each son and daughter and to each granddaughter, but not grandson (and not including among these legatees those otherwise benefited by his said will) of each and every brother and sister of his father and of each and every brother and sister of his mother who should be living at his death, £100, and declared that no legatee should be entitled to be paid who did not send a claim for his or her legacy to his executors within 12 calendar months of the appearance of this advertisement and also satisfy his executors of the validity of the claim.

Now this is to give notice that all persons claiming to be entitled to a legacy of £100 bequeathed by the will of the said Frederick Ingle to each son and daughter and each granddaughter (but not grandson) of each and every brother and sister of his father, Edward Ingle, late of Colsterworth, aforesaid, farmer (who died on 4th November, 1867), and to each son and daughter and each granddaughter (but not grandson) of each and every brother and sister of his mother, Eleanor Ingle (nee Butterfield) who died in the year 1886, are hereby required to send full particulars in writing of their claims, together with evidence (e. g. certificates of birth and marriage of claimant and parents) in support thereof to us, the undersigned, the solicitors for the said George Neat, on or before the 30th day of October, 1913, after which date they will be peremptorily excluded from the benefit of the said will and the said executor will proceed to distribute the assets of the said deceased amongst the persons entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which he shall then have had notice.

Dated this 27th day of August, 1912.

W. W. BOX & CO.,
28, Gt. James street, Bedford Row, London, England, solicitors for the above named executor.

LIVESTOCK.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., Oct. 29.—Comparative receipts table:

	Today.	Week Ago.	Year Ago.
Cattle	7,000	8,000	5,884
Hogs	11,000	8,000	13,781
Sheep	5,500	7,500	4,704
Horses and mules	900	900	750

NATIVE CATTLE—In this division the supply totaled 4000 head. Steers were on a steady basis. Heifers sold 10c to 15c higher and cows were up a dime. Canners also sold a little better. Bulls were strong and calves steady. There was an easier trend to the stock cattle trade.

SOUTHERN CATTLE—The market supply in the quarantine division amounted to 3000 head. The supply was mainly Arkansas and Mississippi stock on the canner order. Very few Oklahoma steers were offered. Trade was active and on a steady basis.

HOGS—A good liberal supply was received and the market continued its downward course, prices being from 25@40c lower than the best time yesterday morning and the lowest for several weeks. The top was down to $8 and the bulk went at $6.65@6.95. It was a draggy trade most of the day and it took a good class of hogs around 100 lbs. and over to bring $7.80@8, while the mixed and plain grade offerings sold largely at $7.35@7.75. Packers were bearish and hammered the market for all they were worth. Best lights under 160 lbs. brought $7@7.50, fair grades $6.50@7.25, best grade of pigs 120 lbs. and lighter $6.50@7, fair $6@6.40, common kinds under $6 and rough heavy cull packers $7.25@7.50.

SHEEP—With a good moderate supply on sale the market was active and prices on a steady basis. Best fat lambs brought $6.50@6.90, medium grades $5.50@6.25, mutton sheep $3.90@4, stockers $2.50@3.25 and bucks $3.

HORSES AND MULES—The horse market today presented a fairly active appearance, with all classes that were offered going at prices which were fairly satisfactory and about steady with yesterday. Common kinds were just fair sellers, but this variety found prices which were slightly higher than last week.

The mule trade today was just fairly active and there was a slow and inaggressive demand for all classes of horses with the exception of big work mules. These found a fair sale, with prices ranging fully steady with yesterday.

Express Dividend Passed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The United States Express Co. today passed its semi-annual dividend of $3 a share. The establishment of the parcels post and a decrease in the company's earnings during the last fiscal year were among the reasons given by directors for the failure to declare the dividend.

The company has paid dividends continuously since 1896. The annual rate of 6 per cent was established in 1910. The following statement was issued by the company:

"The directors of the United States Express Co. decided not to declare the semi-annual dividend usually paid in November. For the year ended June 30, 1912, gross revenue from operation increased $709,181. The increase of expense was $1,149,484 and net earnings for the year from all sources applicable to dividends was $233,228.

"In view of these results, of the establishment of the parcels post and other problems confronting the company, and the uncertainty arising therefrom as to future earnings, the directors do not feel justified in declaring the dividend at this time."

SWEET POTATOES—Home-grown Bermuda at 50@55c; queen at 60c; yellow and red nansemond at 70@75c per bushel box loose. Virginia yellow at $1.75 per barrel delivered.

PASSING through the East End of London, a tourist observed a great crowd of costers watching a young couple entering a church, obviously with the intention of committing matrimony.

Feeling inquisitive and wondering who the couple were to command the presence of so many of their clan, says London Opinion, the countryman turned to an urchin nearby.

"Sonny," said he, "who is it being married?"

The small boy solemnly scratched his head for a full minute, as though contemplating his reply.

"Well, guv'nor," he remarked at length, "I ain't puffectly sure, but I fink it's the bloke and the gal wot's dressed up like 'am bones!"

"Why did you nickname your wife 'Circumstances?'"

"She's 'something over which I have no control.'"

WE owe a lot to accident. Here are one or two of the thousand accidents that led to great discoveries or inventions.

Lucky "Accidents."

A party of Phoenicians carrying a cargo of soda once landed on the seashore and built a fire on the sand They used lumps of soda to prop up their kettles. The soda and the sand blended under the intense heat into glass. And thus, according to the old tale, glass was discovered. A band of pioneers lit a campfire one night in the wilderness. The ground caught fire and glowed redly. They had built their blaze on an outcropping vein of coal and learned thus of its presence and its burning qualities. An apple dropped on the head of a philosopher who was dozing in an orchard. The philosopher was Isaac Newton, and the dropping apple started him to working out the theory of 'gravitation." Galileo in a Pisa church chanced to notice that the long bar of a chandelier swayed a little to one side. And from that he got his first clew to the knowledge that the earth revolved instead of standing still as people had always believed.

"They say he is full of truthfulness."

"He must be, if he ever was, I never heard him hand out any of it."

THE JARR FAMILY

By ROY L. McCARDELL.

The fable of the horses and cows, related by Mr. Slavinsky.

"YOU see, it was like this," began Mr. Slavinsky. "I'm thirsty."

"Yes, yes, you are always [illegible]irsty," ventured Gus.

"I'm in a dusty business," replied Mr. [illegible]vinsky. "You never see a glazier yet what he ain't all dusty."

"[illegible]ll treat. I'll lay the dust," remarked [illegible]r. Jarr. "Go on with the story [illegible]ere going to tell about the ancient King who proved by horses [illegible] that man was a vassal to his [illegible]

"[illegible]lking about tassels and help[illegible]" disclaimed Mr. Slavinsky, "[illegible]about who is boss in a [illegible]r the woman, and how the old King of Germany showed it."

"I'm a business man," said Muller, the grocer. "I ain't got no time to listen to foolishness. If anything you got to say, say it."

"If I was a theater actor in the moving pictures, like my eldest boy Shidney, who is home from an arm being broken from falling off the moving pictures, I couldn't tell it any faster,' Mr. Slavinsky complained.

"How did he fall off the moving pictures?" asked Mr. Jarr.

"He was a cowboy on a horse, and he is shot by a robber feller mit Indians."

"Speaking of cowboys and horses—never mind your boy Shidney, who ain't no good—go on with what you was going to tell," advised Gus.

"Vat! My Shidney ain't no good?" cried Mr. Slavinsky. "Don't he get $40 a week in the moving pictures because he can make a sigarette sitting on a horseback mit one hand? He gives his mommer $10 a week, and he is going to learn little Izzy to swim and ride horses and dance and climb ropes as a sailor, and a lot of things to be a moving picture play actor too."

"We'll never hear the story at this rate," said Mr. Jarr. "Never mind your family and the moving pictures. How about the German King and the horses and cows?"

"Well," said Mr. Slavinsky, "Gus ain't got no right to roast my boy Shidney. He's found out it ain't no good to play the piano any more."

"Why ain't it? I was going to buy one mit a stool and cover and piano lessons free for my wife for $1 a week," said Muller the grocer.

"Well, Shidney says it used to be all the wimmen was crazy for a feller what could play on the piano mit ragtime, but now they only care for a feller what can have an oitermobile and take 'em out on it. A piano ain't as expensive as an oitermobile and you anyway"——

"Great Scott!" said Mr. Jarr impatiently. "You start to tell us about a German king doing something or another, but first you take us to the moving pictures and then you play the piano and now you are riding us in an automobile. It's no wonder you are thirsty. You talk so much you make your throat dry."

Thus admonished, and with Gus growling assent to Mr. Jarr's criticism, Mr. Slavinsky prepared to charm those present in the popular cafe on the corner—when they should have been attending to their various businesses—by recounting a folklore tale.

"It was in them times in Germany before the Franco-Prussian War," began Slavinsky. "When there was a king what was boss of everything except his own house, which was a Schloss—you know Gus, up on the Rhine River, oh, as far up the Rhine as Alton would be if Alton was there.

"Cut the detail," said Mr. Jarr, "and eschew the Oriental imagery."

"I ain't going to say anything like that. And don't you, either!" remonstrated Mr. Slavinsky. "What I was going to say, to get down to business, was that this King in Germany in the old times, said he would give a horse to every man what bossed his own wife and a cow to every man what didn't. The King didn't care. He had swiped all them cows and horses from the Poles or the Hungarians or the Suabians or somebody, and, anyway, they eats so much"——

"Well, who got the horses and who got the cows?" interrupted Gus. "I ain't got no place to keep a cow. Tony, the bootblack, had a goat in the cellar. But the Board of Health took it."

"Well," Mr. Slavinsky resumed, when Gus had had his say, "the King finds it that there ain't nobody in Germany can boss his wife and get a horse except one who is a blacksmith, so the King come with a million horses and says, 'Take whichever you want, Mike.'

"And Mike, who was the blacksmith that bossed his wife, said, 'I'll take the big white one.' And his wife said, 'No, Mike, take a black one. The white one will get all dirty around the shop.' So Mike says, 'Sure's you're right, kid. I'll take the big black one.'

"'You big boob, you get a cow-' said the King. 'You ain't no more boss in your flat than I am in my big Schloss. Getap!' And that's the way with everybody!"

"Sure," said Gus, "and just for that I always use condensed milk."

DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS" IS BEST IF HEADACHY, CONSTIPATED, BILIOUS.

This wonderful fruit laxative acts as a liver and bowel cleanser—tonic—not as an irritant. The results are natural and gentle—no griping. It is delicious—no dreading. It is positive and prompt.

If your stomach is sour and filled with gases, your head aches, or you are bilious, nervous, dizzy, half sick, your tongue coated—don't wait. Surely take a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs tonight, and in the morning all bile, gases and poisons will move out of the system, gently but thoroughly—no griping—no nausea—no weakness. In the old days people let these matters run until they needed a large dose of physic, then they took something severe, like castor oil, salts or cathartics. These are the days of the gentle and natural—the days of Syrup of Figs. This way you are not drugging yourself Syrup of Figs being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics can not cause injury

Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," and look for the name, California Fig Syrup Company on the label. This is the genuine—old reliable. Any other so-called Fig Syrup is an imitation often meant to deceive you. Refuse such with contempt.—ADV.

Rather an Advantage.

"Don't you find your short arms a disadvantage in life?"

"Not altogether. I can reach vigorously for a dinner check, yet let the other fellow beat me to it every time."

Woof!

"That man has to work overtime every day in the year," said the Cheerful Idiot.

"Is that so," responded the Boob. "What does he do?"

"He is a watchmaker," replied the Cheerful Idiot.

Reversing the Case.

"I got a letter from my son at college yesterday."

"Writing for money, eh?"

"I should say not. He's working his way through college as a waiter and sends me his tips. I've paid off the mortgage and now I'm starting a fund to buy a new barn."

A Year or Two Later.

The Stranger: They tell me the famous baseball player who won the automobile lives in this town.

The native: Yep, that's Hank over there with th' trunk on his shoulder. He runs th' hack between th' hotel an' th' deepo. He traded th' automobile fer it.

Cutting Down the Free List.

"New York hotels are now charging for bread and butter."

"And theaters for programs."

"Things are tightening up all along the line. Thousands of dollars have gone to pot giving away blotters, matches, almanacs, calendars, toothpicks and icewater."

A Born Salesman.

"You are wasting your time writing poetry."

"But I sell my poetry," protested the other.

"And that convinces me that you can sell anything. Such being the case, why not take up high-class bonds, or steel bridges, or something big?"

A Sure Sign.

"It's going to be a hard winter."

"How can you tell?"

"By the size of the salary I'm getting."—Boston Transcript.

OUR GRANDMOTHERS USED SAGE TEA TO RESTORE COLOR TO GRAY AND FADED HAIR

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy hair, long after middle life, was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair and are fast following suit.

The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready-to-use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. As a scalp tonic and color restorer this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers.

The growth and beauty of the hair depends on a healthy condition of the scalp. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy quickly kills the dandruff germs which robs the hair of its life, color and lustre, makes the scalp clean and healthy, gives the hair strength, color and beauty, and makes it grow.

Get a 50-cent bottle from your druggist today. He will give your money back if you are not satisfied after a fair trial.—ADV.
